MELCHER MEISHTER (MELCHIOR MESCHTER) [E 66]
and his DESCENDANTS

[66] MELCHER MEISHTER (MELCHIOR MESCHTER) [E 66], b 1695, was a brother of Gregorius Meishter [E 43]. As a widower he m June 26, 1732, in Berthelsdorf, Saxony, REGINA ANDERS [E 174], youngest dau of George Anders of Berthelsdorf, formerly of O. Hdrf. Regina Anders was baptized Nov. 23, 1705; sponsors were George Schönwalder, Maria Scholtzin, Anna Meschterin.

In the Berthelsdorf Church Book is found the following: "Nov. 16, 1731, starb früh um 3, Frau Anna, geb. Krause, Melchior Möschter's Häusler's all hier Ehefrau; aet. 28 Jahre; ward den 18 begraben mit einer collecte."

["At about three o'clock in the morning of Nov. 16, 1731, Anna Meschter, née Krause, wife of Melchior Meschter, died; her age was 28 years. She was buried on the 18th with a Collect."]

Another entry shows that on Oct. 17, 1729, Melchior Möschter, a "Häusler" in Berthelsdorf, m Anna Krause, sister of Maria, wife of Gregorius Meschter [E 43], and the eldest dau of Melchior Krause, a "Häusler" in Langneundorf, Silesia. [Berthelsdorf Ch. Bk. 1729; nuptii no. 13] This evidently refers to the above Melchior and indicates that the two brothers, Melchior and Gregorius, married sisters.

Melchior and his wife came to Pa. in 1734, and buried one child at sea, the others having been born after their arrival. They lived on a farm near West Point, Pa., owned in 1920 by Enoch Heebner.

Melchior Meschter settled in Towamencin Twp. In 1745 he bought a tract of land of Christopher Wiegner, who had previously bought it from John Stephen Benezet. In 1774 Melchior sold his son, George, one tract of 30 acres and one of 4 acres for 130 pounds. The larger tract was curious in shape, being no less than 180 perches long and only 27 perches wide. [Plate F XVI.] [Matthews.]

In the list of refugees who came to Berthelsdorf from Harpersdorf in 1726, given by Kadelbach, is the name of "Melchior Meschter, shoemaker, with wife and three children."

William Yeakel Meschter was born on his father's farm at Palm, Pa. In addition to attending the public schools in the vicinity he attended a private academy for a few terms, after which he spent several years in the school room as a teacher. Mr. Meschter began his business career as a clerk in the Perkiomen Valley Bank, which he left to become a clerk in a Philadelphia business house.

In 1883 he entered the J. O. Schimmel Preserving Company as bookkeeper, and a short time afterwards became a director and treasurer of the company. In 1890 the company was incorporated under the heading of the American Preservers' Company with Mr. Meschter as treasurer and overseer of the office force. Seven years later, Mr. L. J. Link and W. Y. Meschter bought out the American Preservers' Company and incorporated it under the title of the American Preserve Company, with Mr. Meschter continuing as treasurer and director until his death. The business is now owned and operated by his nephew, Wayne C. Meschter.

William Y. Meschter always retained an interest in the place of his birth as well as in religious work. He was one of the main factors in founding the Mission Church of the Schwenkfelders in Philadelphia. As a matter of fact, the existence of the Philadelphia Church today is due to the loyalty of the late William Y. Meschter and Dr. James M. Anders, the present Moderator of the Church. Both of these men were prominent members of the Oxford Presbyterian Church, but when this mission was established they left their church and gave of their time and money in order to foster this institution.

Throughout his entire business career Mr. Meschter retained a deep interest in various charitable, benevolent, educational and religious enterprises. His will shows a remarkable variety and scope of charitable interests. It is stated that Mr. Meschter's will was the most liberal and magnanimous of any among the Schwenkfelders since the days of Dr. Abraham Wagner, who died in 1763, and who bequeathed a large part of his estate to charity. His bequests to the various church organizations made it possible to carry on enterprises that otherwise could not have been started or continued. That he did not restrict his bequests to purely Schwenkfelder interests portrays the broadminded liberality of the man. The bequest of a thousand dollars to the Mission Board of the Schwenkfelder Church was the first that the board had ever received, and with this money the "William Y. Meschter Memorial Home for Teachers" in Shansi, China, was built. Perhaps the most remarkable feature of the many bequests is that they were made without any solicitation on the part of those concerned.

Jacob Meschter was elected a minister of the Schwenkfelder Society on May 13, 1854, and served his people faithfully until his death, a period of thirty-seven years. Being a farmer, it was said of him that he "prepared his sermons behind the plow." He was a fluent speaker and preached eloquent sermons. He lived on the farm now occupied by his grandson, Harvey C. Meschter, at Palm, Pa. (1920.)

George Meschter was born March 28, 1808, on his father's large farm in the extreme northern part of Towamencin Twp., Montg. Co., Pa., near the Salford Meeting House. Because rural schools were virtually not in existence in his youth, he was largely a self-educated man. He became noted in his locality for his excellency in mathematics. When the first superintendent of public schools in Montg. Co., Dr. Ephraim Acker, had a mathematical problem which he could not solve, and having heard of the ability of George Meschter in mathematics, the superintendent submitted it to him and was surprised to find that he could solve it. Mr. Meschter became the owner of his father's large farm and lived on it until late in life when he moved to an adjoining smaller one, where he lived until his death. About 1845 Mr. Meschter was elected by the Schwenkfelders as one of their ministers, and he continued to preach for them until they released him one year before his death. He consequently occupied the pulpit half his life. In the controversy of the Schwenkfelder Church regarding the introduction of Baptism and the Lord's Supper into its services, Rev. Meschter advocated their adoption. In his life-work he was a conscientious, firm, and worthy man. He died on June 27, 1887, and is buried in Salford Schwenkfelder Grave-yard. [C. K. M.]

Daniel Y. Meschter was a traveling salesman for The American Preserve Company of Phila., and lived in East Greenville, Pa. Place of burial, Palm Schwenkfelder Cemetery.

During his early years Mr. Meschter built the store building at Palm, Pa., serving as the first postmaster at that place. He was also the first telegraph operator in that part of the country.

In 1881 Mr. Meschter was elected Superintendent of the Sunday Schools of the Schwenkfelder Church of the Upper District, and with the exception of one year he served continuously in that capacity until his death, a period of thirty-five years. This is a record seldom exceeded in length of service as well as for faithful attendance. He was mainly responsible for the change in sessions from the broken year—suspension during the winter months—to the continuous, all-year, session.

Mr. Meschter served on the first committee that met at his house in 1891, to consider the purchase or re-establishment of Perkiomen Seminary, now Perkiomen School, and was one of the agents who bought the property and organized the school. Later, he was elected a member of the Board of Trustees, and occupied that position until his death. His interest in the school was active and wholehearted, especially during the campaign for raising funds to establish the Historical Library Building. He served on the Building Committee when the campaign was finally successful and the erection of the Library was begun. All of his children attended Perkiomen School as students.

After his marriage in 1875 he conducted general merchandise stores at Geryville and East Greenville, Pa. He maintained a store at the latter place for twenty-six years, but failing health caused his retirement. He held various positions of trust and confidence in East Greenville industries.

George K. Meschter was born on May 2, 1840, on his father's farm in the extreme northern part of Towamencin Twp., Montg. Co., Pa., near the Salford Schwenkfelder Meeting House. Much of George K. Meschter's early education was acquired by study at home. When he was about twelve years old he attended for the first time a pay-school kept in the Salford Schwenkfelder Meeting House, an old stone structure standing on the grounds, a few yards to the north of the present building. He next attended Tennis' Public School about one mile from his home. When approaching manhood he determined to secure as good an education as he could, as a consequence of which he later studied at the Kulpsville Academy for several terms and for a short time at the Quakertown Normal School. For two years he taught in his native township, first at Pleasant Valley, and then at Fry's School. After this period of teaching he spent one year at Treemount Seminary, Norristown, Pa., in order to fit himself for the study of medicine. The following year, 1864, he studied under the preceptorship of Dr. Joel H. Krauss, of Worcester, Montg. Co., Pa. In the fall of 1865, Mr. Meschter entered the Medical School of the University of Pennsylvania, and was graduated from that institution in 1867, the regular medical course then requiring but two years. However, wishing to be as well prepared as possible for his profession, he pursued graduate work the following year in the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania, Blockley and Pennsylvania Hospitals.

Having purchased the practice of his preceptor, Dr. Krauss, Dr. Meschter began his professional career in Worcester, Pa., on March 1, 1868. At this one place for twenty-five years he faithfully and enthusiastically pursued his profession, acquiring one of the most extensive practices in the county and being one of the busiest physicians. Doctors B. T. Kohler, E. K. Blank, James M. Anders, David D. Custer, and Josiah K. Gerhard studied under him as preceptor, the last becoming his professional partner. Dr. Gerhard died in 1886, whereupon Dr. James R. Care became associated with Dr. Meschter. In spite of his busy practice Dr. Meschter occasionally took time to lecture on medical topics at public schools, teachers' local institutes, and at the North Wales Academy. Soon after entering upon his professional career, he became a member of the Montg. Co. Medical Society, and remained identified with it throughout his life, at one time serving as its president. Partly because of failing health Dr. Meschter gave up the active practice of medicine in 1893.

Dr. Meschter assumed the duties of a second calling while still a practicing physician. He was elected minister of the Schwenkfelder congregation of the Middle District on March 23, 1883, to succeed the Rev. John B. Kriebel, deceased. He pondered until fall on whether he should accept this election, after which he took up his added duties. After the death of Rev. William S. Anders in 1907,

Dr. Meschter became senior minister of the Middle District. He was also active in the Schwenkfelder Mission in Norristown, Pa., and was consequently invited to assume full charge of this mission in 1905. He continued as its minister until 1908 when he asked for permanent release. His reason for doing so is to be found in his letter of resignation, which follows:

"Worcester, Pa., Jan. 7, 1908.

To the Members of the Home and Foreign Board of Missions of the Schwenkfelder Church:

Brethren, I herewith tender my resignation as pastor of the Norristown Schwenkfelder Church. I take this step, as you probably know, by advice of my physicians, who advise me to give up my work. It is my desire that this resignation shall go into effect, and all my services in connection with said church cease with the close of the regular services of worship on the coming Sabbath.

Yours fraternally,

George K. Meschter."

Dr. Meschter preached his farewell sermon on Jan. 12, 1908. With the same faithfulness and enthusiasm as in the medical profession he pursued his work as minister, and was anxious in every possible way to advance the interests of the church. He was identified with every movement of the Schwenkfelder Church of denominational import. In 1882 he was a member of the Building Committee of the Worcester Schwenkfelder Church. He was secretary of the Board of Home and Foreign Missions of the Schwenkfelder Church from 1904 until 1910, having resigned only shortly before his death. He was a member of the Board of Publication of the Schwenkfelder Church since its inception in 1884. He was also a member of the Board of Trustees of Perkiomen Seminary for a number of years and was vice-president of this body.

Dr. Meschter spent the last three winters of his life in St. Petersburg, Florida, the warm sunny climate of which benefited his health; but these annual visits could at best only prolong his life. On the morning of June 4, 1910, he arose early—as frequently—chatted happily with his son's, Cyrus', family and began trimming small trees on his lawn. Not feeling well he went into his library at 6.15 A.M. to lie on the sofa. The family soon found that his condition had become alarming; he had an attack of cerebral hemorrhage. Of this he died at 6.45 A.M. He obeyed the orders of his Great Physician, and followed the voice of his Good Shepherd. In the appropriate quotation of the Rev. Harvey K. Heebner in his funeral address:

"Dead he lay among his books!
The peace of God was in his looks."

On June 8, 1910, he was laid to rest in the pretty cemetery of Worcester Schwenkfelder Church.

Wayne Clemmer Meschter was born at Palm, Montg. Co., Pa. He attended the public schools of his native township, and also attended Perkiomen Seminary during the two winter terms of 1900-1901. He then went to Phila. and entered the employ of the American Preserve Co. in the shipping department, starting on Sept. 1, 1902. Desiring to improve his scholastic attainments, Mr. Meschter entered the evening school of Temple University, registering in the Commercial Course whichhe successfully completed in 1905. After his graduation Mr. Meschter continued his studies in higher accounting and banking, in addition to pursuing courses in languages and chemistry.

In the meantime, on account of his diligence and attention to the business of the firm, he was promoted to office boy, serving in this capacity until 1908 when he was advanced to the position of Assistant-Secretary of the American Preserve Co. After the death of his uncle, William Y. Meschter, in 1909, Mr. Meschter succeeded him as Secretary and Treasurer of the Company, holding that office until 1916, when he acquired the controlling interest in the business, and is now sole proprietor of the Company.

The location of the plant at that time was 946-50 North Beach Street, Phila. The city of Philadelphia, desiring to widen Front Street, acquired the major portion of the Company's property in 1919 by condemnation proceedings, and the concern was ordered to move. Mr. Meschter thereupon purchased the ground at Lehigh Avenue and Third Street and erected the handsome modern factory now located there, which is one of the finest and best equipped of its kind in the country. Operations in the new building were begun in January, 1921.

It is rather significant that one of Mr. Meschter's products which he makes in large quantities is that of "apple butter," a dish which is always served by the Schwenkfelders at their annual Memorial Day services, held on Sept. 24 of each year.

As a citizen Mr. Meschter is always a factor in progressive movements. He served three terms (1910-12) as President of the Alumni Association of the Commercial Department of Temple University, and has been a member of the Board of Managers of the Alumni Association of the same department for a number of years.

Ever since coming to Phila., Mr. Meschter has been an active worker in the First Schwenkfelder Church of Philadelphia, having served in practically every capacity in both Church and Sunday School, and has for ten years or more been the very efficient and enthusiastic Superintendent of the Sunday School. Since 1912, when the present Schwenkfelder Church organization was perfected, Mr. Meschter has been Secretary of the Board of Managers of the Charity Fund of the Schwenkfelder Church.

It is due the readers of this book to know that Mr. Meschter was one of the first guarantors of the fund to publish this book, and as treasurer of the Publishing Committee, when the guaranty fund was exhausted, advanced the necessary funds to bring this book to its present dimensions and its successful completion. During the troublesome war times, when the outlook was dark and when the editor was discouraged and when almost insurmountable obstacles seemed to present themselves, it was the enthusiastic optimism and encouragement of the Treasurer that prompted the editor to continue the work and carry it forward to completion.

The Editor desires his readers to know that had it not been for the generosity and enthusiasm of Wayne C. Meschter the Schwenkfelder Genealogical Record in its present form would not have been possible.

Mr. Meschter has copied many tombstone inscriptions and put them at the disposal of the editor of this work, thus assisting very materially in the compilation of this record. He has also written a number of articles on Schwenkfelder homesteads which were published in "The Schwenkfeldian."

Charles Krieble Meschter, M. A., Ph. D., was born at Worcester, Pa., and is a direct descendant through both parents of Melchior Meisther [E 66]. After completing the course of study in the local school in 1889, Mr. Meschter attended the State Normal School at West Chester, Pa., graduating from that institution in 1892. He then entered the Arts Course of the University of Pennsylvania, receiving the B.S. degree in 1896. The year of 1899-1900 was spent at Harvard College where he received the degree of B.A.

In 1896, Mr. Meschter started teaching English and German at Perkiomen Seminary, Pennsburg, Pa., and during this time continued his studies in the Graduate School of the University of Pa. He received the degrees of M.A. in 1907, and Ph. D., in 1913.

Dr. Meschter held the following teaching positions: Head of the Dept. of English Language and Literature and of the Dept. of German at Perkiomen Seminary, 1896-1905; Instructor in English Language and Literature, Lehigh University, 1905-1909; Assistant Professor of English Language and Literature, Lehigh University, 1909 to date; Head of the Dept. of English Language and Literature, Moravian College for Women, 1910 to date.

In 1914, Dr. Meschter published an edition of "Love's Victory," a seventeenth century English drama by William Chamberlaine.

Dr. Meschter has also written considerable verse. He published a juvenile booklet entitled "Leisure Hour Poems" in 1894. The predominant subject of his poems is the Delaware Water Gap, Pa. There appeared a small book of poems written by him entitled "Delaware Water Gap Lyrics" in 1913. In addition to the above Dr. Meschter has written three narrative poems of considerable length on the Water Gap, "Mount Minsi Fairies" (appearing in book form in 1915), "Winona," 1917, and "Pohoqualin Tales," 1920.

George Schultz was naturalized June 21, 1743. With his brothers, Melchior [E 69] and Rev. Christopher [E 70], George Schultz bought land in Upper Hanover Twp., Pa. [Plate C XVIII.] Both he and his wife are buried in Washington Schw. Cem.

George Schultz bequeathed to his son Abraham 223 acres of land, and to his son Melchior, all lands situated in Buffalo Twp. in the County of Northumberland, or 341 acres, 50 p., adjoining lands of George Kriebel, Christopher Schultz and others. Abraham Schultz was born on his father's plantation in Upper Hanover Twp., Montg. Co., Pa. He was the eldest son of George and Maria Yeakel Schultz. In early youth he imbibed a genuine love for books and literature; and although the educational facilities were very limited, he diligently pursued his studies. He was naturally endowed with a comprehensive mind and a keen, retentive memory. Reared a Schwenkfelder, he devoted himself at the arly age of twelve to the transcribing of some of the more important of the Schwenckfeld theological documents. To one of these transcriptions made in 1761, he affixed his signature thus: "Abraham Scholtze." Another extensive manuscript of which he made a transcript is "The Schwenkfelder Compendium of Faith," compiled by Christopher Schultz.

Having thus early in life become imbued with the tenets of Schwenckfeld, he steadfastly affirmed his adherence to the same until the end of his life. As a member of the Society of Schwenkfelders, he served as a trustee, a school inspector, teacher, and catechist. The Goshenhoppen Schwenkfelder School Record shows that Abraham Schultz was engaged as a teacher on November 21, 1775, for a term of three months, at a salary of eight pounds. He opened the school on December 5, 1775, in the home of Baltzer Schultz. Wherever opportunity offered, he encouraged others to carefully examine the doctrines for which the fathers had fled from home and country.

His command of both the German and English languages enabled him to engage in the writing of instructive letters. One of them, written June 14, 1783, to some surviving Schwenkfelders, or their relatives, in Silesia, Christopher Groh, Johann F. Heintze, Jeremiah Heydrick and others in the

Harpersdorf Probsthayn region of Silesia, is especially remarkable. In it he gave an account of the life among the Schwenkfelders during the period of the American Revolution; it also contains an excellent description of the effects and consequences of the war. His letter addressed to George Kriebel in 1794, with regard to the Sacraments, is a valuable presentation of the interpretation entertained by his people at that time. Another letter written October 22, 1791, to his nephew, Dr. Christopher Heydrick, who had just reached his majority and was then a senior in the Medical School at the University of Pennsylvania, is a gem; the missive is full of excellent advice and is an example of elegance, both in style and in the choice of words. The original is still carefully preserved by the Heydrick family in western Pennsylvania, and is in addition a model of neatness and beauty of penmanship. The following paragraph from that letter reveals the splendid judgment and noble culture of Abraham Schultz, at the same time evincing an idealism worthy of emulation. The paragraph reads thus:

"Next to a teacher of the Gospel I think there is not a Class of men that should be more circumspect and careful to promote the Happiness of Mankind than a Physician. A Physician I believe should be a man of sound religious Principles and a tender Conscience, his chief aim should not be great temporal Honor or Emolument (which is the most delusive Phantom of our depraved Nature) but as above said, an ardent desire to promote the Happiness of Mankind. Whether such Principles are now and then inculcated by your Teachers I do not know, but such Principles I suppose would not be unworthy of any Professor of your Faculty."

In the community in which he lived, Abraham Schultz served as a scrivener and counsellor. In 1796 and 1797, he with Cadwallader Evans, Joseph Tyson and John Shoemaker, represented Montgomery County in the General Assembly of the Commonwealth. During that session he served as a member of numerous important committees. Among other things he supported a bill enabling trustees of the University of Pennsylvania to vacate seats of members for not attending the meetings. It is also of interest to note the following petition regarding the construction of a stone bridge across the Perkiomen at Collegeville, Pa. This petition was introduced Jan. 9, 1797, entitled: "A Petition from a number of inhabitants of Montgomery County, praying leave to raise, by way of lottery, the sum of $20,000 to be applied for the purpose of building a stone arched bridge over the Perkiomen Creek where it crosses the great road from Philadelphia." On motion and by special order this petition was read the second time in order to be referred to Messrs. Evans, Schultz, Tyson, J. Shoemaker, Lieb, Lewis and Gehr, to report thereon. [E. E. S. J.]

Benjamin Shultz, M.D., the eldest son of Abraham Schultz, was born and reared in Upper Hanover Twp., Montg. Co., Pa., on the farm at present (1922) in the possession of Roland Dicky. The educational facilities, provided by the Schwenkfelder School System of the colonial period, surrounded his early life. He prepared for a professional career, graduating from the department of medicine at the University of Pennsylvania in the year 1795, with the degree of Doctor of Medicine. At the time of his graduation he submitted an inaugural dissertation to the examination of the Rev. John Ewing, S. T. P. Provost, the Trustees, and University Medical Faculty. This was done on the twenty-first day of May, 1795. The dissertation was published under the title: "An Inaugural Botanico-Medical Dissertation, on the Phytolacca Decandra of Linnaeus. By Benjamin Shultz, of Pennsylvania, Member of the Philadelphia Medical Society. Philadelphia, printed by Thomas Dobson, At the Stone-House, No. 41, South Second-Street, 1795." It is a book of fifty-five printed pages and one plate. The common name of the plant treated in the discussion is "Poke" or "Poke-Weed." Dr. Shultz dedicated this, his first publication, to his instructors and friends, Caspar Wistar, M.D., and Benjamin Smith Barton, M.D. Two copies of this very scarce book are preserved in the Schwenkfelder Historical Library at Pennsburg, Pa.

Two months after his graduation from the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Shultz delivered an oration before the Mosheimian Society of Philadelphia. This was likewise published, under the title: "An Oration delivered before The Mosheimian Society, on July 23d, 1795; Being the Day appointed for their Yearly Meeting. By Benjamin Shultz, M.D., Philadelphia; Printed By T. Dobson, at the Stone-House, No. 41, South Second-Street. M, DCC, XCV." This is a quarto tract of fourteen pages. A copy of this rare print is preserved in the Ridgway branch of the Philadelphia Library. The Mosheimian Society "was instituted in the year 1789, in the city of Philadelphia, for the purpose of keeping up the knowledge of the German language, and to preserve it in its purity. It was named after Mosheim, a celebrated writer in Germany, who made the most strenuous exertions to purify this elegant language from every foreign word and name, in order to simplify it as much as possible."

During the years following his graduation, Dr. Shultz appears to have engaged in medicinal experimentation. This led him, with the aid of some friends, to establish a balsam farm along the Green Valley road in Hereford Twp., Berks Co., Pa. The project proved an unsuccessful one and dissolved about the year 1800. Subsequently he located at or near Middelberg in what is now Snyder Co., Pa. Very little is known of his later life. He appears to have suffered great affliction through an accident which necessitated the amputation of a limb. Without the assistance of a physician he personally directed the operation, although he died from the effects on March 5, 1814. The place of his interment is somewhere in the Middelberg region. [*E. Co., Pa., on the farm known as Washington's Headquarters (see below), which is occupied today (1922) by the Joseph Schultz family [68-21]. In the possession of the latter family is Melchior Schultz's account book—a most interesting relic—which shows his personal accounts on the farm, together with his accounts as trustee; it clearly proves also what care he exercised in listing all items of income and expenditure. Through the courtesy of the Joseph Schultz family, we reproduce below some extracts from the book.

REV. MELCHIOR SCHULTZ'S HOMESTEAD OR "WASHINGTON'S HEADQUARTERS."

This house is situated in Worcester Twp. on the road leading from Center Point to West Point, Pa., and was built by Peter Wentz in 1758. The date-stone bearing the initials of Peter Wentz and his wife, Rosannah, is plainly visible on the front of the house. In addition to the initials of the builders the following inscription is found on the stone:

"Jesu kom in mein Haus,
Weig nimmer mer haraus;
Kom mit deiner Gnaden guet
Und stelle meine sel zu fried."

(Free Translation)

"Jesus, come into my house,
Leave it nevermore;
Come with Thy blessed favor,
And bring peace to my soul."

Rev. Melchior Schultz came into possession of this property in 1794 and it has been in the family of his descendants ever since, being occupied at present by his great-grandson, Isaac Schultz. The house consists of two stories, an attic and also a rear wing, and is built of stone. In outward appearance it resembles the better class of Colonial farm house, a few examples of which are still to be found.

Another curiosity on this property is a large stone water trough, long in use by the Schultz family. It was hewn out of solid rock with immense labor in some unknown former period. The trough has always belonged to the premises and promises to be as serviceable a century hence as it is today.

History tells us that when the Continental army was in camp in this vicinity, both before and after the battle of Germantown which was fought on the fourth of October, 1777, Washington established his headquarters in this house on the sixteenth of October. While staying here, General Washington wrote a letter to Congress in reference to the Battle of Saratoga, which proved to be a victory for the Americans and resulted in the surrender of Burgoyne. In this letter he speaks of camping in the same spot before the Battle of Germantown was fought, but how long he stayed there is unknown. The letter also contains the following paragraph:

"It is with the highest satisfaction that I congratulate Congress on the success of our arms, at the northward in the action of the 7th, an event of the most interesting importance at this critical juncture. From the happy train in which things then were. I hope we shall soon hear of the more decisive advantages. We moved this morning from the encampment at which we had been for six or seven days past, and have just arrived at the grounds we occupied here before the action of the 4th."

After the Battle of Germantown, the British troops are said to have pursued the soldiers as far north as the interior of Worcester Twp., committing depredations on the property of the Wentz family, which were so serious that Peter Wentz afterward received 125 pounds from the State as compensation.

During Washington's stay in the old stone house, some of the American soldiers were encamped in the woodland northeast of the dwelling. This woodland included what was later the "Jesse Yerger" farm, which also belonged to the Wentz property. In the rear of the barn two soldiers are said to have been buried. Many musket and cannon balls, rusty camp spades and other relics, testifying to the presence of the army, have been found in that vicinity from time to time.

One of the traditions extant is to the effect that when the cheering news of victory at Saratoga was received, the soldiers in their joy fired a salute so close to the house where General Washington was quartered, that the greater portion of the glass in the windows was shattered. It seems that when Washington took possession of this house for his headquarters, Peter Wentz did not vacate the premises, but remained and gave the General a portion of the house for his use. General Washington occupied two chambers in the west corner of the house, one on the first story where he took his meals, and the other, a large square room on the second floor, which served as his bedroom. A door—no longer in existence—then connected the dining room downstairs with a small kitchen, where his meals were prepared by his own cook, probably a colored woman. This kitchen was kept securely locked in the absence of the faithful cook, lest some Tory might obtain entrance and throw poison into the food.

Another tradition current among the families of the vicinity, is that during Washington's stay there, one of the neighbors, Philip Stong, and his wife, Barbara, were bold enough to call upon the General. Washington was so well pleased that he invited them to supper, which they enjoyed together in the cozy west dining room. In after years old Barbara Stong, who lived near the present mill on Skippack Road, delighted in relating her reminiscences of Washington and of this episode in particular.

Among the provisions of the last will of Rev. Melchior Schultz, made in 1826, was the clause that his widow, Salome, should have for her use during the remainder of her life "the kitchen and stove room adjoining the north end of my house as well as the room in the second story called Washington's room." Isaac Schultz was a farmer by occupation and resided on the farm, now (1922) the property of the Levi G. Schultz Estate in Upper Hanover Twp., Montg. Co., Pa. It is a portion of the original Schultz tract, the old homestead being owned today by R. L. Dicky. A literary spirit pervaded the atmosphere of the home of his childhood and this made a permanent impression upon him. At the early age of twelve he was a pupil in the Hosensack Academy under the care of George Carl Stocks who was the instructor at that time. That he was a proficient Latin student is evidenced by original Latin letters—still extant— written by him as a pupil to his fellow-students. Isaac Schultz always remembered his Latin teacher with warm affection, and when in after years the latter through misfortunes was reduced to poverty, his erstwhile pupil solicited funds from among the former students of the Academy to give relief to their teacher.

In the Society of Schwenkfelders Isaac Schultz first of all was a teacher, and in the years between 1798 and 1800 and later, he became a foremost leader. Having been elected, May 19, 1827, as secretary of the Society, he served in that capacity for more than thirty years, and was succeeded on May 15, 1858, by Joshua Schultz. During those years he likewise served as secretary for the trustees of the Literary Fund of the Schwenkfelders, but on May 11, 1850, he declined reëlection to that office.

Although all his records for the Society were written in German, he possessed a mastery of English as well, and his letters to his children and grandchildren reveal a fineness of diction and choice selection of thought and vocabulary that win our admiration. In later years he was frequently invited to write for the press of the day; the themes of the numerous papers prepared by him, many of which appeared in public print, invariably related to the history of his people. An example of this nature of his work is to be found in I. Daniel Rupp's "HE PASA EKKLESIA –An Original History of the Religious Denominations at present existing in the United States," published in Philadelphia in 1844, and again in a revised form in 1859. In each of these editions appears a chapter on "The Schwenkfelders," written by "Isaac Schultz, Berks County, Pennsylvania"—obviously an error for "Montgomery County." He also translated numerous German documents into the English language. His services to his community were of an eminent character and were always rendered for the sake of improvement and progress. [E. E. S. J.]

Amos Schultz was born on the homestead originally established by the three brothers, George, Melchior and Christopher Schultz in Upper Hanover Twp., Montg. Co., Pa. Reared in an atmosphere which fostered the intellectual as well as the spiritual training of the child, he was early sent to the local private schools, especially those under the direction of the celebrated early Schwenkfelder School System. Beyond this he attended the private school of Dr. James Patterson at Germantown, Phila. Although this limits his actual attendance in the schools of his time, by dint of personal effort he nevertheless improved his mind and gained the reputation of having far more than an average intelligence.

Before the age of twenty-five he entered the service of his uncle, Joseph Schultz, who owned a farm in Douglass Twp., Montg. Co., Pa. Following his uncle's death, Amos Schultz purchased the farm.

The natural endowments and the perseverance of Mr. Schultz, soon made him a potent factor in every enterprise, which tended to improve the community. Enterprising and progressive as he was, he openly advocated better local educational facilities. One of the first commissions issued under the new constitution of Pennsylvania was granted to Amos Schultz, designating him as a Justice of the Peace; this office he filled very creditably during the decade of 1840 to 1850. The conveyances written and executed by him challenge universal admiration.

As success crowned his persistent toil he added to his holdings of real estate until his domains extended well into Berks County along both banks of the West Branch of the Perkiomen. Discovering brick clay in one of his meadows, he engaged in the manufacture of brick and these in turn were devoted to the carrying out of extensive building operations. Among these was the erection of what was for many years known as the County Line Flour and Grist Mill near Niantic, Pa., which has been operating since 1861. Comparatively early in his career, Amos Schultz was unanimously nominated as a candidate for the office of Senator of Pa., and at a time when conditions assured his election, but he insisted that his name be withdrawn from the ticket, and his wishes prevailed. Similarly in the later years of his life he declined an election into the directorate of the National Bank of Boyertown.

Amos Schultz was a devoted member and regular attendant of the Schwenkfelder Church and filled the most important offices of his church at different times. One of the delights of his life was the reading of literature which improved the mind and contributed to the spiritual welfare of the individual. Every worthy cause, irrespective of creed, readily won his support. By nature and training he was a lover of education and although advanced in years he cheerfully became the first contributor toward the re-establishment of Perkiomen Seminary in 1892. It was largely through his influence that this effort was successfully launched and promoted. Similarly he was one of the first to advocate the publication and give his support to the "Corpus Schwenckfeldianorum."

The career of Amos Schultz is a notable example of the result of perseverance, industry and rigid adherence to high principles. In all the benevolent services he rendered his time and community he was loyally supported by his wife.

Oil portraits of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Schultz adorn the walls of the library at Perkiomen School; these were presented in 1920, by the Amos Schultz Family Union, an active organization founded by his descendants in honor and to the memory of Mr. and Mrs. Schultz. His name is likewise connected with a considerable number of books and papers in the Schwenkfelder Historical Library. [E. E. S. J.]

Lucina K. Schultz lives at Palm, Pa. (1922). She is one of the most highly respected women in the Schwenkfelder Church today. No one has a deeper interest in the welfare of the Church and its organizations than Miss Schultz. For many years she has engaged in benevolent and charitable work, and has been a most generous supporter of the "Corpus Schwenckfeldianorum," "The Schwenkfeldian," and our missionaries in China. The Ladies' Aid Society of the Palm Church receives a large share of her attention also. In fact there is no activity of the Church that is not actively supported by her labor and gifts. All this is done in her quiet modest way, for many of her charities are given anonymously, as she never desires to have her name mentioned in connection with her benefactions. May she always be loved and honored for her sweet devotion to the interests of the Church.

Miss Schultz is also one of the guarantors for the publication of this book.

Daniel S. Schultz (Shultz) was born on the ancestral Schultz homestead in Upper Hanover Twp., of the present Montg. Co., in Pa. His early education was received in part at Chestnut Hill and Norristown. Before his marriage he taught at Boyertown, Pa., and other places, at the same time studying surveying and reading law under Judge Stauffer. After his marriage in 1841, he located in Schultzville, Berks Co., Pa., and shortly afterward was elected Justice of the Peace, an office held by him for twenty-five years. As magistrate, surveyor and conveyancer, his abilities gave him far more arduous duties to perform than fall to the lot of the ordinary "squire." Diligent attention to the interest of clients, accurate acquaintance with law, and sound discrimination in his legal decisions characterized all his work. It is said of Mr. Schultz that not one of his decisions as a Justice was ever reversed by a court.

His well-deserved reputation as a village lawyer was appropriately rewarded by Gov. John F. Hartranft's appointment of him as Notary Public—an office continued until the death of Mr. Schultz. He was also a member of the Goshenhoppen Mutual Fire Insurance Company from its inception, and served first as its secretary and later as its president. For a number of years he engaged in the coal and lumber business at Barto, Pa.

Mr. Schultz was a close student of Schwenkfelder history and as secretary of the "Upper District Conference," was one of the leaders of the denomination. He was also one of the instigators of the "Corpus" movement, and served as a member of the Publishing Committee of the first Genealogical Record of the Schwenkfelders, being a co-author with the late William A. Yeakle in compiling most of the biographical sketches that appear in that book. Having a ready command of both the German and English languages, Mr. Schultz translated into English a great many of the German documents pertaining to the history of the Schwenkfelders, for the use of the late Judge Heydrick in writing the historical sketch of "The Schwenkfelders," as well as for other historians that were interested in the literature of the Schwenkfelders. As secretary of the Conference, Mr. Schultz was the scribe who carried on the so-called "Barclay Correspondence" with Robert Barclay of England. [Cf. The Schwenkfeldian, Vol. II, p 60; Vol. III, pp 8, 19, 24.] There are many letters and papers in the Historical Library at Pennsburg, beautifully executed by Mr. Schultz, for the purpose of giving information to inquirers or for compiling data on the early history of the Schwenkfelders.

As magistrate, surveyor, conveyancer, translator, and secretary, Mr. Schultz truly led a busy, useful life, and was highly respected by all who knew him. [H. S.]

Joseph K. Schultz was born on the old Amos Schultz homestead in Upper Hanover Twp., Montg. Co., Pa., and now resides a short distance from his birthplace. He attended the public schools in his vicinity and afterwards was a student in a private school at Norristown, Pa. Mr. Schultz is proprietor of the Wave Roller Mills, Barto, Pa., but retired from active duties in 1898. While he conducted the mill, he at the same time was a farmer. He is also a very successful apiarist.

Mr. Schultz served as Moderator of the Schwenkfelder Church of the Upper District for several terms; was treasurer of the Charity Fund of the same church for twenty years; manager of the Sunday School; treasurer of the Palm Schwenkfelder Church for ten years; and has been a member of the Board of Home and Foreign Missions of the Schwenkfelder Church since its organization. Mr. Schultz has also served as president of the "Amos Schultz Family Union" since its inception.

[68–31] EDWIN K. SCHULTZ, b Aug. 1, 1848; s Amos and Elizabeth (Kriebel) Schultz [68–12]; m Oct. 19, 1872, AMANDA SCHULTZ, b Sept. 14, 1850; dau Andrew K. and Magdalena (High) Shultz [70–32]. Res., Boyertown, Pa. (1922).

Edwin K. Schultz was born on the original Amos Schultz homestead in Douglas Twp., Montg. Co., Pa. His scholastic education was limited to such as the local public schools of his time provided.

For ten years he was a miller in his father's grist and flour mill, after which he moved to the farm where he was born, and for thirty-one years was a successful farmer, besides being president and manager of the Niantic Dairymen's Association.

In 1898 he was elected a director of the National Bank of Boyertown, Pa., and in January, 1905, was elected president of that institution, which office he held until January, 1922, when he resigned; he is still a director of the bank.

Mr. Schultz has had the unique experience of never having lost a dollar in fraudulent or in "get-rich-quick" investments. No promoter can persuade him to invest a penny in anything but the soundest securities.

Mr. Schultz has been the Treasurer of Perkiomen School ever since it was taken over by the Schwenkfelders, and has always been a heavy contributor to its finances; and during certain financial stringencies he has carried the entire burden of finances himself to tide the school over difficult periods. He states that investing money in Perkiomen School had paid him the biggest dividends of any of his investments, in the product of fine young men and women that the School starts on their careers.

After the death of Rev. William S. Anders in 1907, Mr. Schultz was elected to succeed him as President of the Board of Publication of the Schwenkfelder Church, which position he still holds (1922). It is largely due to the wise leadership and optimism of Mr. Schultz that the Board of Publication has been able to accomplish so much in spite of tremendous discouragements. The publication and financing of the "Corpus Schwenckfeldianorum" was a monumental task for such a small church body as the Schwenkfelders, but Mr. Schultz is always ready to overcome what seem like insurmountable obstacles by pledging sufficient finances to meet the Board's obligations and relying upon other members of the Schultz family to come to his rescue, who never fail to heed his call.

When the various church organizations were consolidated into one organization in 1911, Edwin K. Schultz was chosen as Moderator by the General Conference, which position he held until 1918, when failing health forced him to resign. During his term as Moderator, Mr. Schultz was successful in welding into one organization the different church bodies and his leadership was an inspiration at every church conference. Coming from a distinguished line of Schultz ancestry, Edwin K. Schultz is living out the traditions of his forbears, and his life is an inspiration and example for the faithful Schwenkfelder to follow.

He was a deacon of the Schwenkfelder Church of the Upper District for two terms; manager of the Sunday School for twenty years. In 1909, Mr. Schultz was appointed a member of the Building Committee of the Palm Schwenkfelder Church and took an active part in the construction of said church. He has since acted as treasurer of that committee, and is one of the guarantors for the publication of this book.

Christopher Schultz, or Scholtze, was peculiarly fitted for eminent leadership among his people during the formative period of their establishment in America. For more than two centuries before him, his family had been a distinguished one in his native village of Harpersdorf, Silesia. He was born in that part of the village which is known as Lower Harpersdorf, Mar. 26, 1718 (the Harpersdorf Church Records say Mar. 27), the youngest son of Melchior Scholtze and his wife, Susanna, née Kriebel. Two brothers were older than he: George, b Dec. 6, 1711, and Melchior, b June 27, 1714. His parents were among the more prominent of the landholders in the community, and were also intensely spiritual in their Christian life and practice. The influence of frequent conferences, which were held in his home relative to the attitude of the Schwenkfelders toward the Jesuit Mission, which had come among them a year after he was born, permanently impressed him in childhood years.

Not alone his parents but also his grandmother, Anna Scholtze, threw Christian influences of enduring moment about his young life. On the eve of their flight from Silesia on Saturday night before Easter, 1726, to escape the religious persecutions imposed by the Jesuits, this same grandmother gave him a little prayerbook beautifully bound in leather. Several times in his later life he made reference to that good woman, and his heart was indeed heavy, when he found that she was not going with him across the wide Atlantic. She died Mar. 30, 1739, at the age of eighty-six years at Berthelsdorf in Saxony, whither he, his two brothers, and his grandmother had fled with his parents. After their flight from Silesia, they arrived in Berthelsdorf on May 1, 1726; here after a time the father of Christopher acquired a parcel of land, whereon he erected a small house, which was still standing within comparatively recent years.

Very early in his life he began his education. In a biography of his life written by his son, David Schultz, a year after the father's death, we read that as early as 1726, while on their flight into Saxony, when only in the ninth year of his age, young Christopher, then in Görlitz, made extracts from a book treating of the ten chief religious persecutions. Later in his life he himself marveled that he should have been capable at so early an age of doing this. Owing to the impoverished condition into which the family was thrown through their voluntary desertion of all their real estate and wealth in Silesia for conscience' sake, this child of tender years was compelled to find employment as a shepherd boy on the Saxon hills. He evinced so great a desire for books and learning, that he was granted all the available time possible to devote to his studies. He performed his allotted work in two-thirds of the ordinary time, thus gaining two days each week, during which he was able to pursue his studies under the spiritual leader of his people, the beloved and greatly esteemed Rev. George Weiss. Two of his manuscript school books, written in his own hand, are extant; the one is his arithmetic entitled:

"CODEX ARITHMETICUS
oder
Reche Buch
quis non alterius, sed ipsum solum singularemque possessorem habet nempe
Christoph Scholtzen
Anno 1731
Dises Büchlein ist mir lib wer mir es stilt der ist ein Dib er sey ein Herr oder Knecht so ist er an den Gelgen gerecht. Lust and Libe zu iedem Ding macht alle Müh und Arbeit gring.
Berthelsdorff."

This book is a quarto of 150 pages representing the work he did in arithmetic during the years, 1729-1730. It touches every part of rudimentary arithmetic including weights and measures, and proportion; the whole of it was done by this boy before he had attained the age of thirteen years. The other, and if possible, more striking manuscript text book, is Christopher Schultz's Latin grammar of 1730 and 1731, which is likewise a quarto of 217 numbered pages. It is remarkable that a youth less than thirteen years of age should be able to produce two such manuscripts. He had not been granted the privilege of attending one or the other of the then established schools; his mother would have been glad to see him derive the benefits from such a course, had she not feared he would become a "boy of the world," as had so often happened to those who spent their lives in the schools of the day; his father was of like mind. They occasionally gave him money with which to purchase books, and it was through their influence that he finally went to George Weiss for instruction twice a week. Each day he spun a given quantity of flax to enable him to defray what little expenses were connected with his educational career. He not only gained a mastery of the Latin language but later he also took up the study of the Hebrew; in this latter subject his chief preceptor after his arrival in Pa., was Balthasar Hoffman.

After a sojourn of nearly eight years in Saxony, where his family with the other Schwenkfelder refugees had enjoyed comparative liberty and quiet under the kind protection of Count Zinzendorf, conditions arose which made it unsafe for their liberty and their faith to remain there longer. Consequently it was decided to migrate to Pa. On the 30th of March, 1732, the mother died and on Feb. 15, 1734, almost on the eve of their departure, the father too passed away; thus Christopher, not yet sixteen, and his two older brothers, were left orphans. On that long trail of 1734 from Saxony to Phila., it was the sixteen year old Christopher Schultz, who studiously kept a diary recording the important events which happened to that emigrant band in its wanderings over the Saxon plains to Pirna on the Elbe, and thence down that ancient river to the sea, and across the Atlantic in the "Saint Andrew." It is a thrilling story written by this youth of a glorious destiny.

From his two brothers he had learned the art of weaving and in that occupation he was engaged during the first year of his life in Pa. In the year 1735, he with his two brothers purchased a tract of land in what is now Upper Hanover Twp., Montg. Co., Pa., and at a spring thereon "where the bear and deer at first seemed inclined to dispute possession," in 1736, with the assistance of Melchior Neuman, carpenter, they commenced felling the tall oaks, rolling them on a scaffold over a trench, sawed them by hand into three-inch planks, whereof the outside wall of their capacious two-story house was constructed. Wagon-wheels were made of the same article; horse collars were skillfully plaited of straw; traces were made of hemp, and grubbing hoe preceded the plow with wooden mouldboard; no saw-mill was within reach, no grist-mill within fifteen miles. For clothing the Schultz family raised their own flax and wool, spun it with the aid of a single spindle (without wheel or machinery of any kind), erected a weaver's loom and wove the yarn into cloth. When the supply exceeded their wants, they took it to Phila., and on one occasion, sold it to the Governor of the Province at eight shillings per yard. The Governor spoke very highly of their linen, which encouraged them not a little.

After ten years the brothers dissolved partnership and Christopher purchased and settled on a farm which until recent years was in the possession of his descendants, near Clayton, Pa.; it was located a mile north of the originally established homestead. Here he lived to the end of his life. And it is on this tract that the Washington Schwenkfelder Meeting House grounds and burial plot are located. During his lifetime his newly established home became one of the chief centers, if not the chief one, among the Schwenkfelders. Beyond the pale of his own people, there were hosts of other Pennsylvanians who sought his counsel, and in so doing enjoyed the hospitality of his home. Members of the Society of Friends especially became closely associated with him, among them Israel Pemberton and Anthony Benezet.

Like his fathers for generations before him, Christopher Schultz earnestly promoted the religious doctrines projected and expounded by Caspar von Schwenckfeld (1490-1561), of Ossig in Silesia. He acquired and read an almost complete collection of the printed literature on the subject and of the less accessible manuscript sources he made transcripts for purposes of study. In this matter he eminently followed in the steps of George Weiss and Balthasar Hoffman, and like them he too became a preacher and pastor among the Schwenkfelders. For more than twenty years he was the leading light and spiritual adviser among them. During that time he preached in their meetings for worship and at their annual Memorial Day services on Sept. 24th; conducted their funeral services; instructed their children in the Catechism; in short, he performed all the duties devolving on a pastor in a territory extending from the Hereford Hills in Berks Co. to Whitemarsh and Chestnut Hill near Phila. At the same time he carried on an extensive correspondence with the remnant of Schwenkfelders who had not come to America at the time of the migration. He became somewhat of a pastor to those in Silesia as well as to those in Pa.

The literature of the Schwenkfelders was greatly enriched by the contributions which Christopher Schultz made thereto. He compiled the first American Schwenkfelder Hymn-Book, which was published by Saur in 1762; also the Catechism, first printed in 1763, reprinted in 1784, and again revised and printed in 1855. Then too, he wrote the book of history and doctrine, known as the "Erläuterung" of the Schwenkfelders; the manuscript of this book was sent to Silesia in March, 1769, and was published at Jauer, Silesia, in 1771; it was reprinted in America in 1830 and still is the best available source-book of the entire Schwenkfelder field. At his death he had also completed an extensive manuscript in the form of a Schwenkfelder "Compendium" of faith, which was not published until 1836. In addition he was largely instrumental in drafting the articles of agreement used as a constitution for the Schwenkfelder School System established in 1764. He also prepared an extensive paper on items of history among the Schwenkfelders.

Although Christopher Schultz and Balthasar Hoffman had been conducting regular and systematic instruction in the Catechism among the youth of the Schwenkfelders, since 1763, and although religious services for worship were conducted in the private homes, the lack of a closer organization was accountable for constant losses that threatened annihilation. A tentative organization effected in 1762, very largely under the leadership of Christopher Schultz, was in operation until the adoption of a constitution among the Schwenkfelders twenty years later. The Constitution which was finally adopted by them in 1782 was drafted by Christopher Schultz, and on its basis there was then organized what is today the Schwenkfelder Church. He was very properly referred to as "Father Schultz," for it was largely through his persistence and faith that the organization was brought about. In numerous matters pertaining to the affairs of this body of Christian believers, he was the leading spirit in directing its destiny; so also he was the one among them who projected the Charity Fund which is still functioning. There are hundreds of papers and letters that were written by him, which testify to the directive influence he exerted upon all the religious activities and upon many of a purely secular character among this people.

Within a comparatively short time after his arrival in America Christopher Schultz had gained a mastery of the English language, and in that language he frequently corresponded with the English speaking people in the province. He was highly esteemed by them and his counsels were sought in the settlement of difficult matters during the colonial period. Following the Indian alarm which circulated among the Schwenkfelder settlements in the Goshenhoppen country in 1755, Christopher Schultz and others were instrumental in forming a union among the Schwenkfelders to aid the Friends in their efforts to calm the troubled natives through "The Friendly Association for regaining and preserving peace with the Indians by pacific measures." His regard for the country of his adoption is very well expressed in a public document bearing his signature and addressed to Lieut. Governor Robert Hunter Morris in 1754, in which are these words: "We know very well that we cannot give sufficient thanks to the Almighty for having conveyed us into such a country, and under so mild a government where the best privileges in the known world are established." Twenty years later, July 15, 1774, he was one of the deputies from Berks County in a provincial meeting in Phila., where the following resolution was unanimously adopted: "We acknowledge ourselves and the inhabitants of this province, liege subjects of his Majesty, King George the Third, to whom they and we owe and will bear true and faithful allegiance."

The political situation having grown more tense, the following December a county committee of observation was chosen at Reading for Berks Co., and Christopher Schultz was a member of that committee. He attended the provincial convention held in Phila. in Jan., 1775, where a series of strong resolutions was adopted against the arbitrary acts which the British Parliament was then attempting to force upon the American colonies. The high feeling then arising in the colonies brought out the two factions—the one in favor of, and the other opposed to a war with the mother country. A third element also entered, a company of people who from religious motives were opposed to the bearing of arms—among them the Society of Friends, the Mennonites, the Schwenkfelders, and the Church of the Brethren. These people held a meeting at Reading, Sept. 1, 1775, where it was resolved by the deputies to stand by their conscientious convictions. At the call of the Continental Congress, the day, May 17, 1776, was designated as a day of prayer; Christopher Schultz led those services among the Schwenkfelders, and the manuscript of the sermon he delivered on that occasion is still extant. The very next year, May 1, 1777, he drafted "A Candid Declaration of Some So-Called Schwenkfelders Concerning Present Militia Affairs," the concluding paragraph of which contains the lines that the "undersigned who adhere to the apostolic doctrines of the sainted Caspar Schwenckfeld and who seek to maintain the same by public services and by instruction of the young have mutually agreed, and herewith united themselves to this end that they will mutually with each other bear such fines as may be imposed on account of refusal for conscience' sake to render military service in case deadly weapons are carried and used." Efforts had been made a few weeks before, on March 31, 1777, to induce Christopher Schultz to accept a commission as one of the Justices of the Peace, but there is no record whatsoever that he ever served in that capacity. Although he at no time compromised his convictions in regard to the question of conscientious objection, it was largely through his influence that a satisfactory solution was found to the serious problems then arising. At the end of that trying period he could say that God's protecting hand had been over him and his people in a fatherly way.

While his lands multiplied, and his material possessions mightily increased, by his last will and testament, dated Oct. 24, 1788, he devised unto his children about 800 acres of land, and his personal property inventoried at £1745. 8s. 9d. He also assembled a vast library of books and papers; these covered a variety of subjects, the more important among them being those dealing with religious themes, languages, history, and public charities. He is known to have been a great reader and a tireless student. In appearance he was robust in body, broad shouldered, a full face adorned with prominent eye-brows, a double chin, brown eyes, and black hair. He had a full clear voice which made him an effective public speaker, and he delighted in singing.

Here was a man who was born in a home of plenty, who was reduced to absolute poverty through no fault of his own or that of his parents, who was forced into exile where a new home and a new civilization had to be carved out of a virgin forest, fatherless and motherless in youthful years, a shepherd and a toiler at the loom, who rose like many another to position and influence -an influence which is still continuing to contribute to the common welfare of humanity. It has been said that Matt. 19:29 is the explanation of it all.

He never sought the plaudits of the crowd, the practice of his whole life being to give God alone the honor. During the closing years of his busy life, frequent indisposition of body gradually wore down his life. Nevertheless he still made his accustomed journey to Phila., where he was always a welcome guest in the homes of his Quaker friends. The last of these journeys was made late in April, 1789, when he returned home on the 29th of April, apparently in health and in good spirits. The very next day he felt indisposed and in a few days his condition rapidly grew worse; his body did not respond to the medical applications and on the 9th of May, 1789, he passed away. From his family and a host of friends he took leave with the words: "A little while and ye shall not see me, and again a little while and ye shall see me, because I go to the Father." On the 11th of May, his body was laid to rest in the Washington Schwenkfelder Burial plot. The funeral sermon was preached by the Rev. Christopher Hoffman, who took for his text 2 Tim. 4: 7,8. This sermon written in the handwriting of Rev. Hoffman is still preserved.

Thus closed the earthly career of one of God's chosen leaders, eminent among those who gave themselves to the laying of a firm foundation, whereon a great commonwealth was erected. [E. E. S. J.]

I observ'd you expressed a particular Satisfaction in parusing one of the Like, when last at my House & which, if I mistake not, you took with you..... Zion's Welfare I know is they earnest Wish.... the Labours of the Brethren, in that Intention, I'm persuaded will meet they Approbation & Blessing..... These musical Solemnities are expressive Testimonials of that happy State & Condition each Choir or principal Division in the Congregation should live in the constant Enjoyment of—in other Words they may be aptly compared to a kind of Looking-Glasses, wherin their respective Wants & Imperfections, by the Help of the Spirit, may be palpably discerned & a fuller possession thereof aspired after.

Take my Freedom in good Part & believe me to be one of they sincere & fast Friends.

Christopher Schultz, Jr., was a grandson of the Rev. Christopher Schultz, and lived in Hereford, Berks Co., Pa., on the fine farm belonging to the estate of his son, Thomas, which he managed very successfully. He was a minister of the Society of the Schwenkfelders, and until his death continued in the ministry. He always drew crowded audiences wherever he preached, whether in his own Society or when occupying the pulpit of some neighboring denomination, which was very frequently the case. His fine personal appearance and great fluency of speech always commanded the attention of his audience, accompanied as it was with the most fervent piety. The social qualities of his well-stored mind were of the highest order, tempered as it was by a true Christian spirit; he always commanded the respect of those with whom he came in contact.

Dr. Solomon S. Schultz was a great-grandson of the immigrant Schwenkfelder, Rev. Christopher Schultz, and was born and reared on the farm in Washington Twp., Berks Co., Pa., secured by his paternal ancestor. After completing his public school education in his native community, he prepared for college at the celebrated institutions of Washington Hall at Trappe, Pa., and Freeland Seminary at Collegeville, Pa. Thereupon he entered Princeton, being graduated with very high honors in the class of 1852. After teaching school for a brief period, he read medicine with Dr. D. D. Detwiler, and subsequently entered the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania, graduating in 1856. Very soon thereafter he received an appointment as assistant physician in the State Lunatic Hospital at Harrisburg, which position he held until 1861. Dr. Schultz made a tour of Europe, visiting the hospitals and charitable institutions of England, Germany, and France. At the same time he made a detailed tour of the old Schwenkfelder homes in Silesia of which he gave graphic descriptions in letters and in subsequent addresses. He also went in quest of Schwenkfeld's grave, visiting Ulm and Strassburg. It was through his meeting with the Rev. Oswald Kadelbach at Langenöls, Silesia, that Dr. Schultz, with the support of the Schwenkfelders of Pa., negotiated the purchase of the "Viehweg" at Harpersdorf, Silesia, the burial plot of the persecuted Schwenkfelders in the years 1721-1740. In addition to the purchase of the plot of land, Kadelbach erected an appropriate monument thereon in 1863. Dr. Schultz served as secretary for the Schwenkfelder committee throughout the transaction.

While making the ascent of Mt. Blanc, Dr. Schultz received the news of the outbreak of the Civil War. Returning home immediately, he entered the army and served as a surgeon throughout the entire war, at first with the 75th and 23rd Pa. Volunteers, and subsequently as executive officer and surgeon-in-charge of the General Hospitals at Harrisburg, Pa., Covington, Ky., Madison, Ill., and Columbus, Ohio.

After the conclusion of the war he engaged in private practice at Harrisburg, Pa., during the years 1865-1868. In this latter year he was appointed by the Commissioners of the State Hospital at Danville, Pa., to superintend its erection and to assume full charge of the same. This responsible position of public trust he filled eminently from the time of his acceptance of the appointment to the end of his life. As a designer and architect in the establishment of a foremost charitable institution, he performed a monumental service for the commonwealth. To his position he brought a superior executive ability, conspicuously adorned with a remarkable intelligence and a challenging zeal. Entrusted with vast sums of public money, its conservation and disbursement were wisely and properly executed. At the close of his life it was said that the affairs of the institution had always been in such condition during his administration that at the beginning of each day a successor could have assumed charge without difficulty. In the treatment of the insane there were combined his eminent learning, his unimpeachable character, a firmness never wanting in kindness, the strictest integrity enriched by a wealth of benevolence, and an unobtrusive but convincing Christian manhood. These qualities were peculiarly conspicuous in his daily contact with the patients. His cheerful cordiality, sympathy, and a rare tact with a wholesome admixture of humor, enabled him to render most helpful service to those entrusted to his care.

Dr. Schultz was a pillar in the Mahoning Presbyterian Church at Danville, Pa., and a public spirited citizen who has permanently left the impress of his high character upon the community. He died at Danville on Sunday morning, September 27, 1891, and his body rests in the local public cemetery, overlooking the Susquehanna River. [E. E. S. J.]

Mr. Schultz is one of the most progressive farmers in Montg. Co., Pa. Living on his father's farm, Mr. Schultz has succeeded him as Director of the Lansdale National Bank, as treasurer of the Farmers' Creamery Association of Center Point and as member of the Worcester School Board. Mr. Schultz helped to organize the Reading Bone Fertilizer Co., and has acted as treasurer from the beginning. He was one of the leaders in the organization of the Farmers' Union and it was mainly by his influence that Farmers' Hall was built at Center Point. Since the absorption of the Farmers' Union by the Grange, this building is now used as a Community Building by the various organizations connected with the Grange and the public schools.

As Secretary of the Worcester School Board, Mr. Schultz was instrumental in raising the public schools of Worcester to their present high standard, and succeeded in having the present fine High School Building erected.

Mr. Schultz is also Secretary of the Conference of the Middle District of the Schwenkfelder Church, and is a leader in all progressive movements of the Church.

He is likewise one of the guarantors for the publication of this Genealogy.

Rev. Robert Jacob Gottschall was born in Adamstown, Lancaster Co., Pa. Following his completion of the elementary schools of his town he attended Millersville (Pa.) State Normal School for several terms, teaching in the county during the winter. Entering Perkiomen Seminary in 1905 he was graduated with high honors in 1907. Entering the University of Pennsylvania in the following year, 1908, he was graduated with the degree of A.B. in 1912. Mr. Gottschall then entered the Union Theological Seminary in New York and graduated in 1915, specializing in church history and religious education. He also took courses in sociology at Columbia University and received the degree of A.M. in the same year.

While pursuing his theological course, Rev. Gottschall was actively engaged in religious work, and in the missions connected with the lodging houses of New York City. Upon the withdrawal of Dr. G. K. Meschter from the pastorate of the Norristown Schwenkfelder Church on account of ill health in 1908, Mr. Gottschall was selected as acting pastor, which pulpit he supplied during his collegiate course at the University of Pennsylvania. He was obliged to resign, however, when he entered the Union Theological Seminary, but upon the completion of his course there he was again called to the regular pastorate of the Norristown Church and began his active work on June 1, 1915, ordination services being held in July, 1915. Since that time, Rev. Gottschall has faithfully performed his duties as pastor of the Norristown Schwenkfelder Church, as well as teacher of history and Spanish at Perkiomen School. Rev. Gottschall has also pursued his studies at the graduate school of the University of Pennsylvania.

Sue Schultz Gottschall is a graduate of Oberlin College.

It was stated that he was not married, but it has been ascertained that he left his wife in Silesia. He was married Nov. 7, 1714, to ANNA KRAUSS, of N. Hdrf. [Hdrf. Ch. Bk.]

"Die Caspar Johnin von Lang Neundorf, der mann Caspar ist in Pennsylvanien entflohen (sie wohnt) bey der Adam Krausen in Kammergut." (1736.) [Regent, Hdrf. Mission Records.] Translation: Mrs. Caspar John of Lang Neundorf, whose husband Caspar fled to Pennsylvania, lives with Adam Krauss in "Kammergut."]

Andreas Warmer is buried in the Hans Heinrich Yeakle burial plot at Hosensack, Pa. His wife is buried in Towamencin Schw. Cem. ["July, 1757, den 31st, des Andreas Warmers Frau in Towamensing begraben worden." *Perk. Andreas Warmer came to Pa. in 1734, bought land in Towamencin Twp., Pa. [Plate F XVII.]
No issue.

[74] HANS HÜBNER (JOHN HEEBNER) [E 74], was b in Laubgrund, Silesia, about 1684. On Jan. 14, 1710, he m MARIA SCHOLTZ [E 177], of the Königliche Kammergut in Ober Harpersdorf, Silesia. Hans Hübner was a "Vetter" of George Hübner [E 17]. Hans Hübner and wife came to Pa. in 1734 with their children. Hans "made his mark" to the Oath of Allegiance. He was naturalized June 21, 1743, having previously settled in "Falckner Schwam" near Society Run, Frederick Twp., Montg. Co., Pa. [Plate E VIII]. Hans Hübner died Sept. 17, 1754, and his wife died July 16, 1745. Both are supposed to be buried in a private burying ground on the old Hübner farm in Frederick Twp., although only common field stones without any lettering mark the graves. Hans Hübner is said to have died of injuries received from falling from a wagon while assisting his son, Melchior, to take in the second crop of hay. This occurred in Worcester Twp., Montg. Co., Pa., then Phila. Co. [Dotterer.] Hans Hübner with wife and three children fled from Hockenau in 1726. [Kadelbach, p. 57.]

According to the will of Hans Hübner, signed Sept. 3, 1792, probated Oct. 26, 1792, all his children but Michael were married. Michael did not receive his share of the estate. It was held in trust by the executors, John and George. He gave in advance to each of his married children, Sophia 53 Pounds, John 155 Pounds, Mary 50 Pounds, Margaret 50 Pounds, Philip 150 Pounds, and George 150 Pounds. Michael was to receive only the interest of his share. In signing the will Hans George Hübner "made his mark" as George Heebner.

"There was a tavern more than a hundred years ago where Abraham Hunsberger lives on the road from Keelor's Church to Perkiomenville. It was kept by a man named Hevener—Hunsberger's was first owned by John or (Hans) George Hevener, afterwards by his son, John. Abraham Hunsberger bought it in 1799. Henry Heebner is buried in the Mennonite Cemetery at Deep Run, Bucks Co., Pa. His brother, Abraham, brought from Phila., a white marble tombstone and himself cut the inscription on it. Members of the church were opposed to the erection of marble tombstones and tried to make Mr. Heebner remove it, but he refused. [Susanna Smith—Doylestown, Pa.]

The following is the inscription:

EXTRACT FROM WILL OF GEORGE HEEBNER [17–1]

(Translation)

George Heebner's will dated May 16, 1762, contains the following provision: "Item, the said my wife Susannah is likewise to pay unto my deceased Uncles John Heebners' three children to each of them Eight pounds, Lawful money of Pennsylvania that is to say, I give unto the said my Uncles son John Heebner the sum of Eight Pounds lawful money aforesaid and to his son Melchior Eight pounds Lawful money aforesaid and to his Daughter Ann Grob Eight pounds lawfull money to be paid by the said my wife unto each of them within a years time after my decease."

According to the Genealogical Record of 1879, page 320, George Heebner [E 18] and Hans Heebner [E 74] were brothers, but this quotation shows that Hans was an uncle.

"Anna Grob, daughter of Hans Heebner and Maria Schultz, married Conrad Grubb, son of Henry Grubb and Catharine Addis, the latter a daughter of Thomas Addis, a resident of Frederick Twp. Both Conrad and wife, Anna Maria, are buried in the private burying plot on the farm of the late Hon. Samuel Faust."

Jacob
Philip
Elizabeth
Mary
George

According to Henry Heebner, Green Lane, Pa., his father, Jacob, had the brothers and sisters indicated by the list at the left. This seems to indicate that these were the children of John and Anna Maria Heebner [74–4].

In the Old Goshenhoppen Church Records we find the following entries:

| Elizabeth | May 25, 1777 | June 12, 1777 | Johann Hübnerwife–Maria | Philip Boyerw–Elizabeth |

[74–5] PHILIP HEEBNER, s Hans and Anna Veronica (Dotterer) Hübner [74–1]; m ELIZABETH WEISS, buried in Old Goshenhoppen Cemetery.

One child:

[74–19] Jacob, b 1781; d Apr. 8, 1837; m Catherine Young.

It has been impossible to secure data that definitely establishes the fact that the Jacob Heebner who married Catherine Young was the son of Philip and Elizabeth Weiss. Records of two Jacob Heebners who were contemporaneous in the same section have been found. One of these was a descendant of Hans of the Schwenkfelder Heebner line, and the other was a descendant of Jacob Heebner who migrated from France. On account of the similarity of names in the records it has been difficult to trace out the family connections.

If the above named Jacob is of Schwenkfelder ancestry he must have been a grandson of Hans [74–1]. He could not have been his son, as the wife of Hans died in 1778, and Melchior Heebner [74–2] had a son Jacob who married Magdalena Leatherman; therefore he must have been a son of either John, Philip, George, or Michael of [74 1]. In the family of John [74–4], Philip was born in 1781; hence Jacob can not be his son, and it is stated that in 1791 Michael was under the care of a committee of lunacy. The accounts of the family of Hans or Hans George Heebner do not mention Jacob as a son. Philip Heebner was assessed in 1776, hence was of sufficient age to have been the father of Jacob.

Traditions still existing in the families descended from the above Jacob Heebner state that they were related to the Heebners of Worcester, Pa. This tradition exists in the Garber, Gross, and Rambo families.

In the French or Hevener line, Jacob Hevener was born December 12, 1787, and was the son of Jacob, the immigrant; hence the above Jacob Heebner could not have been a son of Jacob Hevener of the French line: he might possibly have been a grandson, but the spelling of the name is against this presumption.

According to Pa. Arch., 3rd Series, Vol. XIV, XV, Philip Heebner was in Frederick Twp., in 1774, 1780 and 1783.

"Capt. George Hubner, Powder Maker, agreed with this Commitee to deliver to them 140 lbs. good Gun Powder Neat Weight for every Cwt. of Salt Petre they should deliver to him Gross Weight to be allowed at the rate of £3 per Cwt. for making, and for the Casks; he the said Hubner delivering the powder at Easton & fetching the Salt Petre Gratis." [Pa. Arch., 2d Ser., Vol. XIV, p 605.]

[It has been impossible to identify the above Capt. George Hubner as a descendant of Hans. He probably belonged to the French Hevener line.]

George Heebner was married twice.

[Unable to complete or verify above data.]

John, George and Abraham Heebner were contributors to the Jerusalem Church, Schuylkill Haven, in 1827 and 1828. George conveyed land to Henry Stager in 1815.

A George Heebner bought 57¾ acres of land in 1790 in Limerick Twp., Pa., which said George Heebner and wife Catharine, sold in 1792, he being then "George Heebner, potter," of Vincent Twp., Chester Co., Pa.

In 1797 he bought 219 acres of land in Vincent and Pikeland Twps. Deeds show that he was a miller in Chester County. He sold nearly all his land on April 2, 1814, and disappeared from the county. The following year, 1815, a George Heebner whose wife's name was Catharine, appeared in Schuylkill Co. He was one of the richest men of the township.

Doctor Thomas L. Heebner of Port Carbon, Pa., has a Heebner-made pie plate handed down as an heirloom in the family. It came to him from George, son of Abraham, son of George, and will descend to his son, George.

"George Hübner was another Pennsylvania-German potter who had an establishment in the same county (Montgomery) between 1785 and 1798. He made earthenware decorated in the Sgraffito Style, with figures of peacocks, tulips, and other motives and inscriptions with the dates of manufacture. Occasionally his name appears in full on large, circular dishes and one example in the museum collection bears his initials, carved in old German text." [Barber: Marks of American Potters.]

The following is a list of some of the pottery made by George Heebner, which was sold as part of the "Pennypacker Collection" in 1920. The prices received for the various articles are also given.

According to Edward Matthews, Jacob Groff had eight children; name of eighth child could not be ascertained.

[Unable to complete records of this family.]

Jacob Groff, the father of Jacob Groff who married Elizabeth Heebner, was born in Holland in February, 1715. The name was originally spelled Graf. The date of his coming to America is uncertain; Rupp's list of German and foreign emigrants mentions three Jacob Groffs coming to Pennsylvania in 1737, 1744, and 1749. The name of the wife of the emigrant Jacob Groff was Maria, who was born in 1722, and they were married in 1745.

Tradition says all their children were born prior to their migration to America. Tradition also says that Jacob Groff and family first located on a farm near Zieglersville, Pa.; that they first camped under a large oak tree on the banks of the Goshenhoppen Run. In 1769 a patent for land was granted to Jacob Groff [vid. below]. The children of Jacob Groff were Jacob, Joseph, John, Abraham, Henry, David, and Elisabeth. Of these sons the first five named remained near their father's homestead on the Perkiomen, whilst David removed to Bucks County, purchasing a farm, first in Hilltown, and then another on the Neshaminy. There his name was changed to Grove. All these children of Jacob Groff were born previous to his settlement on the land received by patent in Upper Salford.

Jacob, the son of Jacob Groff, the emigrant, was born April 20, 1751. On December 5, 1775, he married Elisabeth Heebner, who had been born April 11, 1753. In 1785 he bought his father's homestead of two hundred acres. He was a fuller by trade, and his stone mill still stands a short distance south of the present dwelling of Abraham Pool. Jacob Groff also bought other lands. In 1799 he purchased one hundred and nine acres of Jacob Kolb, lying along the Perkiomen, upon which was a fulling mill, and which may be traced back to 1764, when a patent for same was granted to Henry Bamberger. He only held it six years, conveying it to his son, Joseph, "blue dyer," in 1805, for $1050.00.

The death of Jacob Groff occurred January 15, 1824, he then being in his seventy-third year. He was buried at Goshenhoppen. His wife survived him till September 7, 1828, she being then seventy-five years old. Their children were eight in number: Mary, the wife of John Leidy; Joseph, Jacob, Henry, Abraham, Elisabeth, the wife of George Daub; John, and one other child.

Five of the sons of the first Jacob Groff held a large body of land, in as many separate tracts, situated on both sides of the Perkiomen in the townships of Frederick and Upper Salford, between Spring Mount and Salford Stations. Of these, the lands of Jacob and part of those of Henry were on the east side of the creek, whilst the remainder was on the west side. [Edward Matthews.]

In 1769 Jacob Groff obtained from the Proprietary Government of Pa. a patent to two hundred and one-half acres of land skirting the east bank of the Perkiomen for a mile and one-third, and lying between the present stations of Spring Mount and Salford in Upper Salford Twp. This tract was later divided into two pieces; the upper and larger portion comprising 130 acres, including the homestead, was formerly the property of Abraham Pool, and the lower portion of 70 acres was owned by Henry

Steiner. The stone dwelling on the Pool farm was built by John Groff, a grandson of the pioneer. About twenty yards to the northwest may be seen the depression indicating the site of the original stone house erected by Jacob Groff in 1769 or 1770. Just a little to the eastward is a remnant of the old barn. About 1843 the old house was demolished by John Groff, and the stones were hauled away to build the present house of Henry Steiner, half a mile or more to the eastward. To the south of the dwelling is an ancient-looking structure, the original stone fulling mill of Jacob Groff, which was probably erected at the time of the American Revolution or before. It was propelled by water drawn from the Perkiomen Creek through a short race which is still plainly visible. [Edward Matthews.]

In 1785 when Jacob Groff had arrived at the age of seventy, he conveyed the whole of this homestead to his son, Jacob, in a deed of May 18th of that year. In this document the younger Jacob Groff is called a "fuller." He was then thirty-four years of age. The price paid was $1800.00, Pennsylvania currency, or about $4900.00; $24.50 per acre. The deed was witnessed by Henry Snyder and Philip Boyer, before Michael Croll, a well known Justice of that time, who lived where is now the hamlet of Salfordville. [Edward Matthews.]

Jacob Groff held one hundred and ninety acres of land in Upper Salford Twp., Pa. He died intestate, leaving his widow Elizabeth, and five surviving children and grandchildren, i.e., children of Mary Groff Leidy, as follows:

1. Elizabeth Leidy: married George Shipe.
2. Zachariah Leidy
3. Catharine Leidy } minors.
4. Fannie Leidy

On Feb. 2, 1824, Elizabeth, widow of Jacob Groff, renounced her right to administer in favor of her two sons, Joseph Groff and Jacob Groff.

Jeremiah Poley and his father, George Poley, were pioneers in woolen manufacture in eastern Pa. About the year 1820 they acquired the only woolen mill on the Perkiomen Creek at Perkiomenville. This was purchased through a distant relative, Matthew Campbell, who had previously conducted the factory.

They personally performed the various operations of the manufacture—scouring, dyeing, carding, spinning, and weaving the yarn and cloth. These operations must have been very crude at that time. They subsequently added an oil mill for the grinding of flaxseed and the manufacture of linseed oil. Later Jeremiah Poley built the first brick building in what is now known as the Borough of Green Lane. In this building he conducted a country store for eight years.

Failing health necessitated the relinquishment of part of his practice. In 1865 he opened a drug store and carried on an extensive drug business. (1919.)

The Seltzers came to this country from Seltzer's Springs, in the Duchy of Nassau, Germany, which was their family seat. Heinrich von Seltzer seems to have been the ancestor of the family, but it does not appear that he ever left Germany. His son, Mathias, came to this country and settled in what is now East Hanover Twp., Lebanon Co., about 1728, buying a large grant of land from Casper Wistar of Phila., who had purchased the land directly from Thomas Penn, one of the proprietors of the Colony at that time. Michael Seltzer (apparently a son of Mathias) was born about 1740; this Michael was married to Barbara Jaffery (or Caffery) and a son was born to this union on July 10, 1776, named Jacob. Jacob married Eleanor Steitz Clarke on Feb. 21, 1804. This Eleanor Clarke was born Dec. 30, 1783, and was the daughter of Benjamin Clarke and his wife, Elizabeth Steitz. Elizabeth Steitz was the daughter of George Steitz who founded and laid out the City of Lebanon about 1756. George Steitz brought Benjamin Clarke, a surveyor, to Lebanon Co. to lay out the town of Lebanon for him. Benjamin Clarke then married George Steitz's daughter and bought a place just across the creek from the old Seltzer homestead, which resulted in the marriage of his daughter Eleanor to Jacob Seltzer. Jacob Seltzer, Sr., had only two sons. The eldest was named John Clarke Seltzer, born Jan. 1, 1808; died Feb. 19, 1884; married Elizabeth Faber, May 18, 1834. To this union was born only one son, Colonel A. Frank Seltzer, born Nov. 20, 1837; died June 12, 1917, leaving no issue. He was a colonel in the Civil War, and was a lawyer by profession. He was a member of the bar, in active practice for fifty-two years, having been admitted to the bar in 1865 and practiced up until the date of his death.

The other son of Jacob Seltzer, Sr., was the Jacob Clarke Seltzer, who married Elizabeth Anne Gring, daughter of Rev. John Gring. [Clarke M. Seltzer.]

[Dates from Rambo Bible in possession of Miss Cora Rambo, Trappe, Pa.]

Prof. Abel Rambo, A.M., was twice principal of Washington Hill Collegiate Institute, Trappe, Montg. Co., Pa. He first served from Aug. 4, 1845, to Oct. 10, 1846, and was again chosen principal, Apr. 2, 1849. While in charge of this institute Prof. Rambo gave special attention to preparing students for the duty of teaching in the common schools of Montg. Co. Although principal of an academic institute he always manifested warm interest in the education of the masses, and in recognition of his services he was elected superintendent of the common schools of Montg. Co. in 1863, which office he held until 1878.

While Prof. Rambo was principal of the collegiate institute the study of music was emphasized, and the institute enjoyed a high reputation for its attention to both vocal and instrumental music. Annual musical entertainments were given which attracted visitors from far and wide. The musical selections performed on these occasions consisted chiefly of oratorios and cantatas by the best composers. [Bean—Hist. Montg. Co.]

He then entered the law school and was admitted to the bar in 1880. Mr. Heebner became one of the leading bankers and financiers of Philadelphia; he was also known as an art collector. During his career as a lawyer he became connected with many of the city's leading industries, serving as director in various manufacturing establishments, and as president of numerous banks and trust companies.

At his home, 318 West Highland Avenue, Chestnut Hill, he had a fine collection of oil paintings, statuary, and antique furniture, valued at thousands of dollars. In May, 1911, the collection was nearly destroyed when fire broke out in his residence, but after strenuous efforts the fire was extinguished, and the collection saved. In addition to his business interests Mr. Heebner was also interested in education, serving as the director of the Pennsylvania Institute for the Deaf and Dumb, and the Sanitarium Association. Henry John Stager, to whom the Patriotic Order of the Sons of America is profoundly indebted for its success and influence, and due to whose efforts Valley Forge was made one of the most imposing patriotic memorials in the world, was born in Schuylkill Haven, Pa., Aug. 27th, 1842. The outbreak of the Civil War called him from his profession as a printer in Phila., and he enlisted on July 22, 1862, in the 124th Regiment of Pa. Vol. As a sergeant in Co. G of this regiment he passed unharmed through some of the bloodiest battles of the war, taking part in the engagements of Antietam, Chancellorsville, etc.

At the expiration of his enlistment in May, 1863, he enlisted again, this time as an orderly sergeant in Company I, 39th P. V. M. He was discharged to receive an appointment as 2nd lieutenant in the 29th U. S. C. T., but he did not see active service again. In 1864 he married Roxanna Frances Carver, of Philadelphia.

He was an influential member of the G. A. R., being the organizer of Posts 51 and 77, and a member also of Posts 8 and 26. It was because of his services for and achievements in the Patriotic Order Sons of America that he was most widely known. He joined this organization in 1858, when it was called the "Junior Sons of America." He became the First State Secretary of the Order in 1866, which post he held until 1884; he also served as the First National Secretary, which position he occupied from 1872 to 1885. As one of the two incorporators of the State Camp of Pennsylvania, he was honored with the State Presidency during 1886 1887, was made National President in 1872, and finally Ex-Commander General in 1891. For over forty-four years he was the treasurer of Washington Camp No. 7. One of his most signal services was his founding, in 1866, of the "Camp News," a monthly journal of thirty-three pages devoted to the interests of the order. As editor and publisher of this magazine from 1866 to 1904, when he resigned because of ill health, he raised it to the pinnacle it now occupies, and as one of the pioneers of the order in Pa., his untiring and efficient efforts made the organization of the Order in the Keystone State the largest and most influential of any state in the Union.

"Henry J. Stager was the most noted Patriotic Son of America who ever lived . . . He was the man who deserved more credit for the Order which he served so long without financial consideration; more praise while here on earth; more consideration in his old age from our members than any other living man. His service to our cause cannot be overestimated. He lived for us. He died for us. He left a lesson of sincere devotion to our cause for every young American in our ranks to follow and emulate." [C. B. Helms.]

Valley Forge Park will prove the most lasting monument of his life. Until 1878 Valley Forge was neglected; the remnants of the old fortifications were rapidly being demolished by the wind and rain; even Washington's Headquarters was in a state of decay that threatened complete dilapidation. In 1878 several patriotic women raised enough money to purchase the property, but public interest soon lagged, and not enough money could be raised to pay the interest on the mortgage. This came to Mr. Stager's attention in 1885, and due to his efforts at a convention of the Order held at Norristown in that year, an official excursion was made to Valley Forge to learn the true state of affairs. Becoming State Secretary at this time, Mr. Stager called the State Executive Committee together and laid before them a plan to raise enough money to pay the interest and cancel the mortgage. At the next meeting of the Order held in Altoona in the following year, Mr. Stager was able to inform the convention that the mortgage had been liquidated, and he was made chairman of a committee of thirteen appointed to complete the work. He held the post of Vice-Regent Valley Forge Headquarters Association until 1904. Meanwhile, through the medium of his journal, "Camp News," he had been steadily influencing public opinion, the members of the Order contributed generously, and in 1886 the State Legislature voted $5,000 for the maintenance of Valley Forge Park. Eventually the State Legislature became so interested that its total appropriation is more than $300,000; almost a thousand acres have been purchased, and as a result of Mr. Stager's efforts, Pennsylvania can boast of one of the finest patriotic monuments in the world.

Throughout his life Mr. Stager was interested in better education and better government, and carried the Christian ideals toward which he was always striving as guides of his every day conduct. For six years he was School Director in the 13th Ward, Phila., until his removal to Glenside, Pa. From 1897 until his death he was Treasurer of the Second Dutch Reformed Church, of Phila. He died on July 22, 1919, and is buried at Schuylkill Haven.

He is the author of "Freundschaft," a compilation of facts, incidents and traditions relating to the Stager-Rudy relationship, which was published in 1912, and of the "History of the Junior Sons of America," which was published posthumously.

Rev. Alfred Heebner was born at Port Carbon, Pa. He attended the public schools of the community, and prepared for college at Blairstown Academy. He entered Lafayette College from which he was graduated in 1876. Mr. Heebner then entered the Philadelphia M. E. Conference in 1882 and spent the next thirty-four years of his life in active ministry. While in college Rev. Heebner gave special attention to public speaking and oratory—which was a great help to him in his ministerial career, as he was much sought after as a speaker at patriotic and memorial occasions. He was a fine Christian gentleman, loved by all who knew him. He died very suddenly of apoplexy on Mar. 16, 1916. Some of the principal charges held by Rev. Heebner were the following, all in Philadelphia: Mt. Pleasant Ave., Simpson Memorial, St. John's, Tacony, Port Richmond, and Ridge Avenue, Roxborough, which charge he had at the time of his death. He also served the Shenandoah M. E. Church at Shenandoah, Pa.

In his will Washington Friday mentions his grandchildren, "George Washington Erb and Mabel Erb."

Washington Friday was born at East Pikeland Twp., Chester Co., Pa. He enlisted in Co. G., 30th Pa. Infantry, and was honorably discharged, June 13, 1864. He participated in many battles.

At South Mountain, Mr. Friday and another soldier in his company, J. T. Hunter, while in a charge, found themselves in advance of the regiment, and Mr. Friday, whose gun was empty, was confronted by three Confederates whom he made prisoners and sent to the rear. Mr. Hunter, being wounded a few moments afterwards, was carried back to the regiment by Mr. Friday.

After the war, Mr. Friday engaged in mercantile pursuits at Wilson Corner and Phoenixville, in Springfield, Chester Co., Pa. In 1873, he sold out his business and went to Phila. to engage in fancy grocery and market business, but soon sold out and returned to Chester Co. He purchased a farm near Phoenixville, and engaged in trucking and the growing of nursery stock. He served as school director, Justice of the Peace, and in 1890 was auditor of Chester Co. [*Hist. Dr. George G. Groff was born on the "Welsh Tract" in Tredyffrin Twp., Chester Co., Pa., on Apr. 5, 1851. His ancestors, who were among the earliest settlers of the state, were Dutch, German, English, Welsh, and Norman-Irish. With the exception of two cousins of his father all the family have been tillers of the soil.

Dr. Groff received his early education in the public schools and in academies at Phoenixville and Norristown, and later, in the West Chester State Normal School, Michigan University, Long Island College Hospital and the University of Leipzig. He received degrees from Long Island College Hospital (M.D.), Lafayette College (A.M.), Judson College (LL.D.), State College (B.S.), Franklin and Marshall College (Ph.D.), and Susquehanna University (Sc.D.). From 1879 to 1910 he served as Professor of Organic Science in Bucknell University at Lewisburg, Pa., which position he held practically to the end of his life. In 1877 and 1878 he was acting president of Bucknell University.

In public life Dr. Groff served at various times as school director, coroner of Union County, Pa., surgeon in the National Guard of Pennsylvania, and member of the State Boards of Agriculture and Health and of the State Medical and Dental Councils. He was the author of many circulars of the State Board of Health, which are said to be the best issued by any state in the union.

In 1889, after the great floods of that year, he had charge of the sanitation at Johnstown, Pa., which he conducted in a most successful manner. In the Spanish-American War he served as brigade surgeon of the National Relief Commission and special relief commissioner for Porto Rico.

Dr. Groff was also Superintendent of Instruction in Porto Rico, succeeding Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh. While in Porto Rico as Director of Vaccination, 790,000 persons were vaccinated in three months. This was the greatest record for time in the world's history. Dr. Groff was a frequent lecturer at teachers' and farmers' institutes, and the author of many pamphlets, charts, maps and text-books on physiology, hygiene and mineralogy.

Besides belonging to many medical and scientific societies, Dr. Groff was a member of the Sons of the Revolution, the Welsh Society of Philadelphia, and the Pennsylvania-German Society to which he was elected Apr. 12, 1898. [Pa. Ger. Soc.]

The following are some of his publications: "Plant Analysis, 1880; Mineral Analysis, 1882; Charts of American Geological History, 1882; Chart of Chemical Elements, 1882; Chemical Note Book, 1884; Accidents and Emergencies, 1884; Dairy Hygiene, 1890; Farm and Village Hygiene, 1890; The American Fruit Garden, 1890; Saludad Por de nino, 1900; Editor of Coulter's Physiologies, 1899, and Sanitary Bulletins of Pa. He was a close student of the Scriptures, and predicted many of the great inventions that have since been perfected—electric by land and sea—flying machines, etc. Many of the so-called "wise" ones declared him crazy. One of the oldest burying grounds in the United States is on the Lederach Farm. Daniel and Elizabeth (Yohn) Bald were both born in Germany, and both came to Pa. when quite young. Daniel Bald enlisted in the Civil War, after which his family seldom saw him. Elizabeth Bald died in Phila., at the age of eighty-seven years.

Charles G. Fetterolf was the twelfth child and the seventh son born to Daniel and Rebecca (Groff) Fetterolf, on Oct. 5, 1861, in Lower Salford Twp., Montg. Co., Pa. He had a twin brother, George, there being two sets of twins in the same family.

With his brother he attended the public schools until about seventeen years of age, when he entered the office of the "Lansdale Reporter," and commenced to learn the newspaper and printing trade under the direction of the editor, Frederick Wagner, a printer who had emigrated from Germany. In 1884 Charles Fetterolf purchased the "Langhorne Standard" from Henry W. Watson. In this purchase he was joined by his twin brother, George, and by the hardest kind of labor they finally succeeded in making their undertaking a splendid success. Their purchase was the ninth time the paper had changed hands in its history of eleven years, which explains why hard work was necessary. The "Standard" grew to be one of the largest weekly newspapers in the State, and although its circulation was never over the usual average, its advertising patronage was unusually large. The Press Bureau of the Chicago World's Fair said it was the best weekly newspaper on file in the Pennsylvania State Building.

The partnership continued until Oct., 1902, when George died. Charles continued the business successfully until Nov., 1907, when his plant was destroyed by fire of unknown origin by tenants who occupied a portion of the building. The loss was too great for him to re-establish the paper and he discontinued business. While in Langhorne he was the prime instigator in establishing one of the best public schools of the county, and served as director and treasurer for about eighteen years. Mr. Fetterolf now resides in Phila., where he is still engaged in the printing business.

[74–592b] DR. ISAAC OTT, same as above, m 2nd time, Oct. 14, 1886, KATHARINE K. WYCOFF of Belvidere, N. J. The will of Dr. Isaac Ott was probated Jan. 10, 1916, in which children are mentioned but they are not named.

Isaac Ott, A.M., M.D., was born in Northampton Co., Pa., and died at his home in Easton, Pa. His early education was obtained in a boarding school located at Hackettstown, N. J., and Blair Hall at Blairstown, N. J. In 1865 he entered Lafayette College where he remained until the end of the Junior year. In 1876 he received the honorary degree of A.M. from the same institution.

Dr. Ott received his M.D. degree in 1869 from the University of Pennsylvania, and immediately thereafter continued his studies in the Universities of Leipzig and Berlin. He also attended the lectures of Prof. A. Flick, at Würzburg, and took a course in histological work with Prof. E. Klein in London. Upon his return from Europe in 1870 he became a resident physician in St. Mary's Hospital, Phila., after which he settled in Easton, Pa., for general medical and surgical practice and soon created an unusual demand for his professional services. In 1874, Dr. Ott worked for several months with Prof. Bowditch at Harvard.

In 1878, Dr. Ott was appointed lecturer in Physiology in the University of Pennsylvania, and one year later was elected a fellow in Biology in the Johns Hopkins University. Dr. Ott's reputation as a physiologist and an original investigator grew steadily, and in 1894 he was elected to the chair of Physiology in the Medico-Chirurgical College, Phila., a position which he held until his death. For several years, beginning with 1895, Dr. Ott held the office of Dean in the same institution. It is quite within the limits of truth to state that as the result of his incumbency of this office, the school received a decided impetus.

Dr. Ott was a member of the Consulting Staff of Neurologists of the Asylum for the Insane at Norristown, Pa., a member of the American Physiological Society, the German Medical Society of New York, the Philadelphia Neurological Society, the American Society of Naturalists and many other local, state, and national medical societies. As an indication of his standing as a physiologist it is only necessary to mention that he was elevated to the Presidency of the American Physiological Society a few years prior to his death.

To mention all of the contributions made by Dr. Ott to medicine and science would lead too far afield, but a few of his accomplishments should be enumerated. Perhaps the most noteworthy achievement of his professional career was the discovery of the Thermogenic Centers. He was the author of "Action of Medicines," 1878; "Modern Antipyretics," 1892; "Contribution to Physiology and Pathology of the Nervous System (in 20 parts);" "Intestinal Peristalsis;" "Physiological Action of Drugs;" "Internal Secretions," 1910. In 1904 Dr. Ott issued a standard work entitled a "Text-Book of Physiology," which was at once accorded a most favorable reception.

As a lecturer Dr. Ott was not eloquent, but perhaps no one ever taught physiology to more appreciative classes; this was due to the magnetic force of his personality and the feeling that he spoke with authority. His intellectual powers were of the highest type and his personal magnetism drew to him all who came within his presence. It was, as often happens with racial benefactors, not given to Dr. Ott to see the fruit of his labors, or of his discoveries, beyond the limits of a few brief years. One of his marked personal qualities was gentleness, although he was capable of manifesting great firmness of character when the occasion seemed to demand it. Dr. Ott was a physician and scientist worthy of companionship of the greatest and the best. [James M. Anders, M. D.]

DAVID SCHUBERT (SHOEBART) [E 75]
and his DESCENDANTS

[75a] DAVID SCHUBERT (SHOEBART) [E 75], and his wife, MARIA TEICHMAN [E 217], started to come to Pa. with the other group of Schwenkfelders who left Haarlem on June 19, 1734, but Mrs. Schubert died on the St. Andrew on Aug. 22, 1734, just one month before the boat landed in Phila. A son was also born to them on the St. Andrew, on June 30, and died Aug. 18, 1734, so that David Schubert probably had more anguish and sorrow than any of the other immigrant Schwenkfelders.

Before the migration David Schubert lived in Ober Harpersdorf. He is mentioned in the Church Records as Schlesischer Einwohner in Herrnhut in 1728, and as Haussgenosse in Herrnhut in 1730, when children were born to him. The records of his children by his first wife, MARIA TEICHMAN, follow:

Children (4):

1. David, b Aug. 17, 1728; baptized Aug. 19, 1728; sponsors: Balthasar Jäckel (Pachter des Oberguts); George Reinwald (Schles. Einwohner hier—Berthelsdorf); Frau Susanna Kriebel. This son, David, died in Berthelsdorf, Jan. 26, 1729, about 12 o'clock, midnight; aged 23 weeks, and was buried there on the 27th with a Collecte.
2. Susanna [E 181], b Feb. 11, 1730; sponsors: Georg Reinwald, Jr.; Frau Susanna, Kaspar Kriebels Ehefrau; Jungfrau Susanna Jäckel, Tochter Balthasar Jäckels. Susanna died Aug. 5, 1756; unm; her father at that time residing at Chestnut Hill, Phila.
3. David [E 182], b Apr. 25, 1732; baptized Apr. 30, sponsors: Kaspar Kriebel, Georg Reinwald and Jgfr. Susanna Jäckel. David died Sept. 25, 1734; and was buried Sept. 26, in Phila.
4. Son [E 216], b June 30, 1734, on the St Andrew; d Aug. 18, 1734, and was buried at sea.

Maria Teichman Schubert [E 217], wife of David Schubert, died on the St. Andrew, Aug. 22, 1734, at about 9 A.M., and on the afternoon of the same day her body was fastened to a board and sunk into the ocean—in tiefes Meer Gesenkt. She had injured herself a few days before while mounting the deck. Just before she died she was feeding her children [Cf. Diary of Journey].

[75b] DAVID SCHUBERT [E 75], was m second time, Apr. 29, 1740, by Rev. Balthasar Hoffman to ANNA KRAUSS [E 15]; she died Aug. 13, 1778, and is buried in the Yeakle private cemetery, Hosensack, Pa.

David Schubert was naturalized Sept. 24, 1745; and on Apr. 6, 1745, he bought land on Chestnut Hill [Plate H II]. He died Oct. 24, 1774; place of burial not known. He was born about 1693.

In 1767, David Schultz wrote, "David Schubert lives by Christopher Yeakle, four miles from Germantown."

Anna Krauss was a sister of Balthasar Krauss [11–1]. [B.H.]

[25–6b] 5. Barbara, b Jan. 16, 1755; d Oct. 9, 1803; m Melchior Kriebel.

On Oct. 28, 1774, Christopher Schultz in a letter to Silesia says that David Schubert of Chestnut Hill (near Germantown), died on the 24th of that week, and was buried on the 26th. He also says that for a number of years he was so weak that he could not even go out to visit his neighbors.

[Dates from Schubert Family Bible in possession of Amazia Miller, Macungie, Pa.]

According to the data obtained by the Editor it would appear that Melchior Schubert was married twice. Records in the S. H. L. show that on May 30, 1775, Melchior Schubert was married to Maria Krauss by Rev. Christopher Schultz. Both Melchior Schubert and his wife, Maria Krauss Schubert, are buried in the Hosensack Schwenkfelder Cemetery, and according to the dates on the tombstones Melchior Schubert died in 1831, and Maria Schubert died in 1849.

There evidently must be an error in the date of death of Maria Krauss Schubert, for in the will of Melchior Schubert, which was probated, January 17, 1832, we find among other items this statement: "I give and bequeath to my late wife, Hannah James ————" which would indicate that he was married a second time to Hannah James. A search of the court records failed to disclose any divorce or separation papers granted to Melchior Schubert, and it is not likely that he had two wives living at the same time. Hannah James Schubert was born August 8, 1757, and died September 20, 1862, aged 105 years, 1 month, and 12 days. She is buried in the Evangelical Cemetery at Upper Milford, Lehigh Co., Pa.

The Editor has corresponded with several people who knew Hannah James Schubert personally, but they have been unable to throw any light on this situation. Mr. Charles E. Schubert of Shimerville, Pa., a grandson of Melchior Schubert, states that he remembers seeing Hannah Schubert when he was a boy. Reuben Schubert of Zionsville, Pa., states that he believes that Maria Krauss was the mother of Melchior Schubert's children.

In his early life Amos Ebert was a school teacher. He afterwards studied medicine, but did not complete his medical course, although he continued his studies in the sciences. He was a member of the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Sciences. His interest in chemistry led him to engage in the manufacture of chemicals, but on learning of the great amount of dishonesty in that business, he discontinued his work along that line.

In 1865 Mr. Ebert purchased a farm at Ashland, N. J., where he resided until his death. He took an active interest in organizations for the welfare of the community, but always refused to accept political offices of any kind. At the time of his death he had been a deacon in the Haddonfield, N. J., Baptist Church for thirty years, and his pastor said of him:

"His intellectual life was of more than ordinary depth and power."

SUSANNA HEYDRICK WIEGNER [E 76]
and her DESCENDANTS

[76] SUSANNA (HEYDRICK) WIEGNER [E 76], d Feb. 10, 1752; she was the widow of ADAM WIEGNER who d Aug. 29, 1731, in Görlitz. Adam Wiegner was a brother of Anna (Wiegner) Hoffrichter [161–1], and of Mary (Wiegner) Beer who remained in Europe. He wielded a ready and persuasive pen, and was the secretary for the Schwenkfelders in their quest for a place of refuge during the Jesuit Mission in 1725 and 1726, when the former corresponded with the Mennonites. He himself opposed the plan to migrate to Pennsylvania, and with others fled to Saxony during the Jesuit Mission. "On Feb. 21, 1736, there came to Görlitz from Harpersdorf Adam Wiegner, gardener, with wife and four children." [Kadelbach, p 57.]

Susanna Wiegner came to Pa. with two of her children in 1734. She probably lived in Towamencin Twp., Montg. Co., Pa. [Plate F XX], and was buried in the Towamencin Schw. Cem. The two children of whom we have any record are the following:

1. Rosina [E 77], b Apr. 19, 1707, in Ober Harpersdorf; sponsors: George Bormann, Melchior Roszman, David Scholtze, Melchior Hübner, Susanna Reinwalden, Maria Wiegner, Maria Gottschliegin; d July 13, 1756; single; buried in the Towamencin Sch. Cem.
2. Christoph [E 16], b Feb. 24, 1712, in Ober Harpersdorf; sponsors: George Hübner, Melchior Roszmann, Eva Heydrick; d June 3, 1746; single; buried in the Towamencin Schw. Cem. In a letter to Germany, written by Christopher Heebner, giving a list of deaths, we find the statement that Adam Wiegner's son, Christopher, died May 27, 1746. [S. H. L.] It will be observed that this conflicts with the date given above.

On May 31, 1735, Christopher Wiegner purchased one hundred and fifty acres of land in Towamencin Twp., from Cadwallader Evans at the price of 215 pounds. Christopher dying unmarried in 1746, his sister, Rosina, was his heir. She likewise was unmarried, so that her heirs were Anna Anders (wife of Baltzer), George Hoffrichter, George Fliegner, Baltzer Miller, and Melchior Beer. When Rosina died they were all living in Harpersdorf, Liegnitz, and in Saxony except Anna Anders; hence in 1764 the tract of land was conveyed to the latter, the surviving heir in this country. [Edward Matthews.]

CHRISTOPHER WIEGNER'S "FÜHRUNG" (DIARY)

Christopher Wiegner was another of the young immigrant Schwenkfelders who kept a diary, and his is perhaps the most unique of all. It is written mainly in German, although several parts are written in a secret code which has not been deciphered thus far. The characters somewhat resemble the Greek letters, but they do not spell Greek words. In making entries the author sometimes starts in German, and in the middle of a line these foreign characters are introduced, making the sentence unintelligible. Christopher Wiegner began to write his diary in 1718 when he was in the sixth year of his age, and it ends abruptly in 1739. The original manuscript covers one hundred and seventy-nine pages and contains about thirty thousand words. It seems, from the entries in the diary, that the writing was not taken up actively until October, 1732. The first entry contains these words: "Ersten guten Gedanken" (the first good thoughts), which came to him in 1718. An examination of the diary, however, reveals the fact that he did not always have good thoughts, for one entry states that before he reached the age of ten he had learned "such iniquity as a truly wicked person even of his age would not practice."

He seemed to have been of a serious, religious bent of mind, and relates numerous instances of going into retirement for prayer and communion. Without giving any reasons therefor, Christopher Wiegner relates that a new temptation befell him on March 28, 1729, when soldiers came and made him a prisoner and kept him confined until September 29, 1729. During the following year he went into hiding from January 13th to April 8th. On January 28, 1733, he states that soldiers again seized him, but released him in a few hours. On July 20th of the same year, he again went into hiding; and on September 7th he was advised to leave Görlitz, which he did. As an example of his earnest devotion we note an entry in his diary on December 24, 1727, where he states that he and others held a meeting for prayer and song services which continued until 4 o'clock in the morning.

That he was on very intimate terms with the Moravians and had the confidence of Count Zinzendorf is shown by an entry on December 29, 1733, when the Count sent word to him that he was to hold himself in readiness to serve as a commissioner—probably referring to his accompanying the Schwenkfelders on their migration—certainly a very important charge to entrust to a young man of twenty-one. As his name heads the list of signers of the Oath of Allegiance, it is natural to assume that he was one of those in charge of the immigrants. As a matter of fact it is stated in Moravian histories that Christopher Wiegner and Bönisch were appointed to conduct the Schwenkfelders to Pennsylvania.

In the quest for suitable land for the Schwenkfelders Christopher Wiegner traveled hundreds of miles. After settling in Towamencin township he followed the trade of shoemaker and farmer, but from the numerous accounts of meetings held at his house he must have been a very busy man, as his diary records the list of visitors who stopped at his house and the various meetings that were held there. Spangenberg, later a Moravian Bishop, spent many years at his home; Count Zinzendorf and other Moravians also found a welcome; the "Associated Brethren of the Skippack" frequented the place; Whitefield preached there to two thousand hearers; Indians brought their squaws; "Siebentäger" (Seventh Day Adventists) stayed at his house. Assuredly the Wiegner home must have been one of the most prominent of its time and place. His diary gives an interesting account of his discussions with George Weiss, Spangenberg, Zinzendorf, Bönisch, Nitschman, and Whitefield. Apparently Christopher Wiegner was a liberal thinker for his day. He also attended several of the synods of the Moravians at Germantown, Falkner Swamp, and at Oley. "At the house of Christoph Wiegner, one of the passengers of the St. Andrew, and said to have been a Schwenkfelder, began gatherings of religious men of German and other foreign birth or parentage taking the name of Vereinigte Shippach Brüder. Eventually Wiegner and nearly all of the others became Moravians. Grüber, the Inspirationalist, resorted to the gatherings. In 1736 he wrote an appeal for unity among the various denominations of Christians. He may somehow have prepared the way for the greater movement in this direction." [Charles P. Keith –Chronicles of Pa., Vol. 2, p 817.] (There is no evidence, however, that Christopher Wiegner joined the Moravian Church before or after coming to Pennsylvania.—Editor.)

A study of his diary shows that he was intensely human, for he recounts not only his religious experiences, but also his fits of temper and disputes with the various visitors, guests, and members of his own family.

A copy of the diary is preserved in the S. H. L. The original has been lost, although it was in existence ten years ago. [For further account of Christopher Wiegner's diary, vid. Publications of the Montg. Co. (Pa.) Hist. Soc., Vol. III, p 271.]

"Balthasar (Balzer) Hoffman was born in the year 1687 in Harpersdorf, Principality of Liegnitz, Silesia, of poor, plain and unpretending parents and was brought up in such traditions. He was employed in Harpersdorf, especially in winter, as a weaver; at other times, however, frequently as a day laborer. In stature, he was a tall man, rather slender, his face longish and thin; and after his fiftieth year his hair grew entirely white. Even at an early age he had both a bent and a zeal for learning the ancient languages, and by his indefatigable diligence and the assistance of good books (which however, were not plentiful, because his means were insufficient to procure them) he succeeded in acquiring a fair mastery of Latin, Greek, and Hebrew, so that he knew these languages. Besides he had both the inclination and concern to devote himself to the Scriptures, in order to acquire the correct understanding of them; to this end his knowledge of the languages was extremely useful and serviceable, since by this means he was able to examine the original text of the Scriptures, so that this knowledge was of great assistance for the better understanding of them. He was also zealous in the practice of Christian doctrine, and in the confession of the untainted truth revealed by God through Caspar Schwenckfeld, desiring to apprehend and to comprehend it accurately and unalloyed. And this God granted him, so that he obtained an abounding knowledge of it. Moreover, all his life he kept a watchful eye upon it to keep it pure and to avoid mingling with it accessory doctrines.

"Upon his safe arrival in Philadelphia, he did not long remain in the city, but went into the country, and, in accordance with the custom there, founded a home, since God had again blessed him so that he and his family could once more live peaceably. Moreover, his study of the Scriptures and Christian doctrine he at no time neglected, but devoted himself to them with the utmost diligence. And his liberty in Pennsylvania was to him a particularly momentous matter, which he regarded as a great divine favor and gift, bestowed upon the untainted testimony of the truth, that it might be cherished and practiced without hindrance.

"When to George Weiss had been assigned the charge of holding public worship, as well as the performance of the marriage ceremony, the preaching of the Word at burial services and the catechising of the children; and when in 1740 George Weiss quite unexpectedly heard the last summons, these duties were entrusted to him (Balthasar Hoffman), even though a few times he secured release. Especially in 1749, when on his chest and in his bronchial tubes he had a sensation which made breathing difficult, and this gradually became worse until both singing and speaking were unendurable. But in each instance he was again applied to, particularly to conduct the public services and catechise the children, by reason of his capability which was divinely bestowed. And this he did until on account of old age he was no longer able.

"In 1774, December twenty-first, he was attacked with vertigo, which left him quite weak. Repeated attacks followed at intervals of about two weeks leaving him every time in greater weakness. On the eleventh of July, 1775, we observed that he was even weaker than usual and that his feebleness was increasing. This continued until he lost his speech, and a few hours before his departure consciousness left him. On the above mentioned day, in the afternoon at 5 o'clock, calmly and but slightly disturbed, in the eighty-ninth year of his age, he fell asleep. The Lord be praised for having summoned him, and grant that we may be saved and follow him. Amen." [From translation of biographical sketch of Rev. Balthasar Hoffman, written by his son Christopher. Original in S. H. L. See also "Schwenkfelder Hymnology"—Seipt; and the "Schwenkfelders in Pa."—Kriebel.]

This is a son's estimate of a very worthy father. In writing this biography the son followed the example set by his pious father, when in 1753, Rev. Balthasar Hoffman penned the extant biographical sketch of his lifelong bosom friend, Rev. George Weiss.

Balthasar Hoffman and his brother George bought 76 acres of land in Lower Salford Twp., of Caspar Wistar on Mar. 26, 1735, but in the same year, Dec. 17th, joint tenancy was severed. Balthasar and his wife conveyed their interest in the tract to George in 1743, and he secured a patent for the same on Feb. 2, 1745. This tract, together with 25 acres, acquired from Caspar Wistar on Dec. 24, 1743, was conveyed by George Hoffman to George Heydrick on May 22, 1762. It is situated on the east side of the Skippack Creek, two miles west of Franconia village, and was formerly owned by Henry Derstine.

The importance of Balthasar Hoffman amongst the Schwenkfelders before their migration is indicated by the prominence he had in the various missions that were sent to the Emperor to implore toleration for this persecuted sect. In 1719 the Reformation made such progress in Silesia, that in 1721 the Catholic Church sent a mission to bring the people back to the old faith. The members of this mission at first labored mildly, but soon committed great acts of violence. The Schwenkfelders thereupon resolved to send an embassy to the Emperor. Their embassy was composed of Christopher Hoffman, Balzer Hoffman (father and son), and Balzer Hoffrichter. They left Silesia for Vienna on May 5, 1721, to make a plea for toleration for the severely oppressed brethren at home. Hoffrichter did not stay long, but the othor two remained more than four years. In this mission Balzer Hoffman delivered no less than seventeen memorials to the royal ruler. Although none of the deputation had any knowledge of court procedure and although officials who assisted them, did so at the risk of losing their position, true friends were found who assisted them in placing their pleas before the Imperial Court of Charles VI. During this time he found time to write letters, visit friends, compose hymns, sermons, and extensive tracts on religious subjects. The expense this incurred must have been very heavy on these people, who were already impoverished by the ravages of war and the burdensome fines imposed by the Jesuits. According to one account of their leader, Melchior Schultz, they had spent from $10,000 to $12,500 to secure toleration.

We are told that in 1726 their petition was denied by the Emperor and they were forbidden to present any more petitions; Balzer dared not show himself by day, but had to return by night, taking with him to Ober-Lausitz his wife and two daughters, but not being safe here he fled with his father from Vienna by way of Prague to Lausitz and obtained the protection of Count Zinzendorf in Saxony for eight years, during which time his son Christopher was born.

Upon the death of Rev. George Weiss in 1740, Balzer Hoffman was called to officiate in his stead, but not being very strong physically he withdrew several times; however demands continued to be made upon him especially for outdoor services and for catechizing of the children, so that he continued as above stated, until the weight of years made it impossible for him to serve any longer. He never tired of his many duties. His Sabbath forenoons, afternoons, or evenings were employed in writing, reading and singing. His closing years were spent in a small room, spinning, yet daily he would read, write, sing, and pray. To him idleness and the want of truth were of great moment, seeing how God's gift of freedom was misapplied.

He was a man of eminent wisdom and piety, and left behind him a catalog of his writings, embracing fifty-eight tracts, all on theology and practical religion,—besides eighty-three letters on various kindred topics.

As an hymnologist of the first order, he spent much time in composing, transcribing and studying hymns. He helped George Weiss compile the so-called "Weiss Hymnbook" of 1732. He made a transcription of both the first and second hymn collections. His son, Christopher, gives us a list of seventeen titles of Analyses and studies of hymns. [From a folio ms. in the Pennypacker collection, S. H. L.] His favorite employment seems to have been the study of hymns and occasionally on "Gedaechtnisz Tag" (Sept. 24, the Schwenkfelder Memorial Day), he would present the study of a favorite hymn. Many of these sermons or studies are still extant.

The mechanical execution of his writing excites the highest admiration. Written in a beautiful German script with a quill pen, before the advent of typewriters and other modern copying paraphernalia, the pages of his books are a challenge to the chirography of the modern penman. A favorite device was to disguise his authorship, but somewhere on the page the initials "B. H." invariably appear, either on the margin, or at the foot of the page, and ofttimes in the form of an acrostic. He sometimes used the pseudonym, "Barachiah Heber."

The descriptive catalog of his writings made by his son, Christopher, indicates that his most productive writing period extended from 1722 to 1773. This list enumerates 38 tracts and refers to 83 letters, without listing his hymns, his historical sketches and minor productions.

The writings are classified under three heads:

A. Studies of the Bible either by verses or chapters.
B. Other useful studies and confessions.
C. Studies of hymns.

Some of his most important titles include the following:

1722—A short catechism.

1724—A postill called "Epistasia," or the Epistle lessons of the Church year. He arranged the same text in ryhmes in 1726, and composed prayers to accompany them in 1738.

1725—A study of the epistle to the Hebrews called "Hexatomus."

1734—"Evangelische Jahr Betrachtung." A postill on the Gospel lessons for the Church year. In 1744 he prepared questions as a guide for the study of these and arranged them in rhyme.

1743—A glossary in German of Scripture terms.

1751—A careful study of the Apostles's creed.

In addition to the studies of hymns mentioned above, he wrote out in comparative fullness his Gedaechtnisz Tag sermons; prepared historical sketches of the Schwenkfelders; and worked out elaborate productions in the line of revealed theology. One of these productions was called "Hodophaenum." [Cf. Kriebel—The Schwenkfelders in Pa.]

AS ORIGINATOR OF THE CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOLS

The encyclopedia, "Americana Britannica," last edition, states that the correspondence schools were the outgrowth of the Chautauqua Movement in 1871,—a direct outgrowth of the Camp Meeting ideas, when instruction in religious and secular education was inaugurated in what was known as the Chautauqua Course of Study, and which has grown into the modern "Correspondence Schools in Home Education." Balthasar Hoffman anticipated this scheme by about 120 years. Letters written by Hoffman are extant in which he gives Christopher Schultz lessons in Hebrew by correspondence. At least two of such letters are preserved, written in 1753. They are written in his usual legible, clear hand, and contain four different languages. First the Hebrew words, finely executed in Hebrew characters, then follows the equivalent in Greek and Latin, and the explanations are in German. Just how extensively Rev. Hoffman carried on his instruction by correspondence is not known, but judging by his zeal and activity in other lines we have reason to believe that many other letters similar to those mentioned above, were written.

It seemed to be a fixed habit for these early settlers to carry on a voluminous correspondence with the friends left behind in Europe, as well as with the members of different sections of Pa. Judging by the number of letters still in existence it was quite a common occurrence for the young folks of the "Lower District" to write to young people of the "Upper District," or vice versa, and ask some Biblical questions or request an explanation of some Bible passage. These letters were more frequently written in German, but we have some also written in Latin. One of special interest was written by John Schultz [149–9] at the age of fourteen. He later became one of the leading Schwenkfelder ministers and was highly esteemed for his scholarship as well as for his earnest and impressive piety.

[106–3] REV. CHRISTOPHER HOFFMAN [E 104], b Dec. 3, 1727; d Jan. 29, 1804; s Rev. Balzer and Ursula (Beier) Hoffman [106–2]; m by Rev. Balzer Hoffman, May 17, 1753, to ROSINA DRESHER [E 172], b Dec. 3, 1714 (?); d July 3, 1794; dau of George and Maria (Beyer) Dresher [64]. No issue. Both buried in Salford Schwenkfelder Cemetery. The tombstone for Rosina Dresher Hoffman states that her age was 70 years and 9 months.

Rev. Christopher Hoffman, born in Saxony, Germany, lived in Lower Salford Twp., Pa. On Nov. 15, 1752, Abraham Wiegner and wife, Susanna, conveyed to Christopher Hoffman, "book-binder," 83 acres in the present township of Lower Salford, Montg. Co., Pa., owned in 1918 by Abraham L. Derstine. On May 27, 1791, Christopher Hoffman and wife conveyed the same tract to Abraham Kriebel.

Rev. Christopher Hoffman led a busy life, and was an acceptable and faithful minister of the Schwenkfelders. Many of his sermons are still preserved. No doubt he received his religious training at the hands of his father. Between 1758 and 1760 he copied the "Weiss hymn book." As a catechist he made a record of the work done by his class. In 1777 he wrote an interesting account of his father's life and labors, and in 1795 collected and catalogued his writings. In 1764 when the Schwenkfelder school system was established, we find the name of Christopher Hoffman signed for a loan of 20 pounds, and he served as a teacher in "Shippach" for seven years, having attained the age of fifty-five when he began to teach. He also served as trustee and inspector of the schools prior to his career as a teacher. At one time Christopher Hoffman was appealed to by messengers to serve in a certain public office for which he had been chosen, but flatly refused to accept. After the messengers had left, he said to his wife, "Oh, how good it is to be able to remain humble!"

AS AN HYMNOLOGIST

Rev. Christopher Hoffman's most important contribution to Schwenkfelder hymnology was a manuscript hymn book of 1760. He incorporated in this book the textual revision or corrections of numerous hymns made by Caspar and George Weiss. He recorded about five hundred of these corrections by writing the various changes in the margin with his initials. He also preserved by copying many exegeses made by his father. The manuscript appendix, which many copies of the Saur edition contain, is his work. The following was written by the late S. W. Pennypacker:

"This hymn-book of the Schwenckfelders, which may be said to represent the art of the Middle Ages, extended into the 18th Century and across the Atlantic . . . is the best specimen of their manuscripts known to those familiar with the subject. It was written between 1758 and 1760 in Penna., and was bound here and the clasps and mountings were made here. Christopher Hoffman, who wrote it, came to Penna. at six years of age, so that his art was learned here. It is therefore, except as to the literature, purely a Pennsylvania production. Hoffman was born in 1728 and died Jany. 29, 1804, so that when he undertook this task he was thirty years of age." [See also Schwenkfelder Hymnology —Seipt, p 89.]

AS A BOOKBINDER

Christopher Hoffman is probably best remembered as the Schwenkfelder bookbinder. Many manuscript volumes repose on the shelves of the Schwenkfelder Historical Library at Pennsburg, Pa., showing his amazing skill and workmanship. Large folios with board covers, covered with pig skin, decorated with fancy designs, ofttimes with brass corners and brass knobs in the center of the covers, are a tribute to the amazing activity of this farmer, preacher, teacher, compiler, and bookbinder. How he ever found time to accomplish so much work with his crude tools, is the query of the modern student. Large collections of sermons, letters, a folio volume of letters written by imprisoned Schwenkfelders in Silesia copied in 1746, were bound and preserved by him. Truly he led a busy and active life.

While Christopher Hoffman himself left no descendants, we find his sisters, Anna and Rosina, are the ancestors of several hundred families in Montgomery and adjoining counties as well as in many states of the Union.

The Henry H. Shultz farm at Clayton, Pa. (1922) was part of this tract. (This tract is not marked on the charts reproduced in this book, as they were already completed before this ownership was ascertained.) George Scholtze afterwards purchased and occupied a "stony piece of land" which he sold again ("Am Fusz des langen hohen Berges."—Isaac Schultz).

Rev. Joshua Schultz, the eldest son of David Schultz, was born in Upper Hanover Township, Montg. County, Pa., on the farm located along the Hosensack Creek, about one half mile east of the Palm Station; it has subsequently been owned by his brother, Reuben Schultz, and by Edwin H. Schultz, and Wayne H. Rothenberger.

In his boyhood days, after some brief school instruction, Joshua Schultz became a great lover of books and literature, an industrious reader, and being gifted with a comprehensive mind and a retentive memory, he soon acquired a good deal of general information and knowledge, of which he made good use during his life. He believed in schools affording higher educational facilities, and he himself attended a private academy in Chestnut Hill, Phila., one winter. Here he studied languages—especially English and Latin—and acquired a fair knowledge of higher mathematics and astronomy. The latter of these proved very interesting to him, and commanded his careful observation and study even in his old age. After thus acquiring a fair education he taught school for a number of years.

On February 24th, 1835, he was married to Anna Schultz, daughter of Andrew Schultz, and then settled on the farm located one half mile southeast of Hereford, Berks Co., Pa. He was a member of the Society of Schwenkfelders and was called by that body of believers to become their minister. This proposition met with disapproval on the part of his father, who took extreme measures to show his displeasure in the matter, in the hope that he might discourage his son in this undertaking. The young man, however, had seen the vision and with confidence in himself and trust in God, he resolved to do that which he felt the Lord wanted him to do. Consequently he entered upon his duties as minister of the Gospel, December 26, 1842. In connection with this work he organized and conducted classes in catechetical instruction. He gave much time to visiting the sick, ministering to their wants, and giving assistance wherever he could. He officiated at many funerals in his own Church, and having the respect of the people of the community and of neighboring pastors, he frequently occupied the pulpit of other denominations. Although thrown entirely upon his own resources, after creating the displeasure of his father, he was blessed in his enterprises and had possessions of no mean degree. He served as trustee or guardian for minors in numerous cases.

The moral and social qualities of his well stored mind were of a high order, tempered as it was with a true Christian spirit; he commanded the respect of those with whom he came in contact. As a minister, he endeavored to give the true spiritual sense of the Scriptures, his chief aim being the glorification of God and the well-being of man.

After thus serving his people in this capacity for a period of almost fifty years, the life work of Rev. Joshua Schultz was brought to a close on March 30th, 1892, in the Kraussdale Meeting House, in the same pulpit in which he had preached his first sermon. It was while officiating with the late Rev. William S. Anders of the Middle District, at the funeral of one of his parishioners, Abraham S.

Krauss, that he was stricken with apoplexy and passed away immediately in front of the congregation he had served faithfully for so long a time. The years of his life had been many, useful, devoted, and active to the very end. His remains were laid to rest in the Hosensack Meeting House Cemetery, near the site of the once famous Hosensack Academy.

Some of the records of his work and writings are preserved in the Schwenkfelder Historical Library, at Pennsburg, Pa. [O. S. S.]

Rev. Levi Samuel Hoffman was born at Topton, Berks Co., Pa., where his father was then engaged as a wheelwright. When Mr. Hoffman was six years of age his father moved to a farm near Kraussdale, Pa., where Mr. Hoffman had the usual farmer boy training and attended the public schools of the local township. During this period there was quite a flourishing literary society in the local school and Mr. Hoffman was a faithful attendant at the meetings of this organization, becoming one of the leaders in the debates. This was his first training in public speaking. In connection with his attendance at the Kraussdale Schwenkfelder C. E. Society, he came into touch with the students and professors of Perkiomen Seminary which gave him a thirst for more knowledge. Being encouraged by the advice of the principal, Dr. O. S. Kriebel, Mr. Hoffman entered Perkiomen Seminary and prepared himself for the teaching profession. Having obtained his teacher's certificate, he spent three years in teaching in the public schools, while at the same time he continued his studies at night and at the summer sessions of the school. In 1903 he was graduated from Perkiomen Seminary and in the fall of the same year entered Brown University at Providence, Rhode Island.

Being in limited financial circumstances, Mr. Hoffman was obliged to work his own way through college which he did by accepting all honorable kinds of employment. At the close of his sophomore year he was asked to become acting pastor of the Hope Congregational Church in East Providence, R. I., and during the latter two years of his college career he preached regularly in this church and was one of the efficient teachers of the Sunday School. Being urged to consider very seriously the ministerial profession, Mr. Hoffman took the suggestion under advisement for a long time, as it was his desire to become a teacher. But during his senior year in college he decided that the ministry should be his chosen profession, and in 1907 he was graduated with the degree of A. B. from Brown University. In the fall of the same year Mr. Hoffman entered Hartford Theological Seminary as a student, and it was during his first year there that he became teacher of the "Friendly Class," an organized class of ladies and young men in the Weatherfield Avenue Congregational Church. During the summer of that year Mr. Hoffman was employed as acting pastor of the Doxbury Congregational Church where he was so successful that he was urged to return for the next year. However, during his next year in the Seminary, he was visited by a committee of the Schwenkfelder Church of the "Middle District" who asked him to spend the following summer in their district, as they were in need of a pastor. Mr. Hoffman could not resist the call, and instead of staying in New England, came to the Middle District as the supply pastor for that summer.

In the spring of 1910, he was graduated from Hartford Theological Seminary, and having in the meantime been elected pastor of the Schwenkfelder Church of the Middle District, Mr. Hoffman served this congregation and was formally ordained on September 18, 1910, in the Worcester Church, where he has been faithfully performing his duties ever since. He has organized the work of the Middle District and has been successful in developing various phases of church activity to the great satisfaction of the churches in the Middle District. It was through Mr. Hoffman's influence that the Lansdale mission was organized, as he saw a fertile field of opportunity in this section, and the growth and development of this mission under Mr. Hoffman's direction has been most marked.

Mr. Hoffman is a profound student, and prepares his sermons with great care. In 1921 he was appointed an assistant editor of the "Corpus Schwenckfeldianorum." Mr. Hoffman was married in June, 1910, to Miss Adelaide Lenora Mattox, who was a deaconess in the Deaconess' Home at Fall River, Mass. Mrs. Hoffman is a graduate of the Chicago City School for Home and Foreign Missions, class of 1902. She has proved a faithful and loyal worker in the mission field and ably supports her husband in his ministerial labors.

On Apr. 29, 1769, "Christopher Weegner, Sr.," of Lower Salford Twp., Montg. Co., Pa., "weaver," sold to "Christopher Weegner, Jr., yeoman," 106 acres; patent of this land was granted to said Christopher Weegner, Feb. 28, 1745. On June 24, 1776, "Christopher Weegner, Jr., miller of Springfield, Bucks Co., Pa.," and Catharine, his wife, sold 50 acres of this tract to William Yocum of Lower Salford and on the same day sold 59 acres, 140 perches, to William Tennis of "Towamensing Twp., cordwainer." On June 15, 1776, he bought a messuage in a tract of land in Springfield Twp., on which he gave two mortgages, which he sold on May 8, 1783, to John Smith, miller. His name in the deed is given as "Christian," although the deed is signed "Christoff Wiegner," and "Katrine [X (her mark)] Weakner."

On Feb. 6, 1776, "Christian Weighner, yeoman," gave to William Turner a mortgage deed and bond on a certain messuage or "tenament" on a tract of land in Springfield Twp. The bond was written for 1066⅔ Spanish mill dollars, all of them weighing 17 pennyweights, and 6 grains.

On Jan. 25, 1787, Henry Smith, administrator of the estate of Catharine Wiegner, "late of Perkiomen and Skippack," signed inventory of twenty-two pounds, seven shillings, seven pence, including one cow. Balance for distribution was fourteen pounds, eight shillings, and three pence. [Edward Matthews.]

[154–5] MARIA WIEGNER, b Dec. 29, 1746; d Jan. 18, 1832; dau Christopher and Anna (Schultz) Wiegner [154–1]; m Oct. 7, 1790, by Rev. Christopher Hoffman, at the house of William Dennis,to EDMUND FLINN, b 1755; d Dec. 24, 1836. Mr. Flinn was a native of Ireland. No issue.

Edmund Flinn was born in Ireland in 1755. When he came to Pa. is not known, but he was in Franconia before he came to Salford in 1790. He was known amongst his neighbors as "Teddy Flinn." That he was an ingenious man is evidenced by the fact that he is sometimes called a shoemaker, at other times a stone cutter, as well as a farmer. He is said to have chiseled many tombstones still standing in the cemeteries in Salford Twp. It is said that an error made by him in spelling, while chiseling a tombstone, changed the name of "Hec*h*ler" to "Hec*k*ler."

On Oct. 7, 1790, he married Maria Wiegner, daughter of Christopher Wiegner, and it is said that he was the only Irishman who ever married a Schwenkfelder and joined the denomination.

In 1792 he bought a home and 13 acres of land in Salford for 104 pounds. Having prospered, in 1798 he bought 25 acres adjoining the first tract for 225 pounds, and also acquired other land, all of which he bequeathed to his wife together with all personal property, which at her death was to go to the Schwenkfelder Society in repayment for the gratitude he felt towards the Schwenkfelders who had befriended him when he first made their acquaintance. [Edward Matthews.]

THE EDMUND FLINN BEQUEST AND THE CHARITY FUND

Those familiar with the history of the incorporation of the Charity and Literary Fund of the Schwenkfelder Church in 1842, know that the bequest of Edmund Flinn to the "Schwenkfelder Society Poor officers" had a great deal to do with it. We are told that Flinn was an Irish-American Schwenkfelder, generally known as "Neddy Flinn." We do not know when he appeared in the Schwenkfelder community, but on October 7, 1790, he married Maria Wiegner, a daughter of Christoph Wiegner. On the 24th of Sept., 1798, he purchased a tract of land in Lower Salford Twp., Montg. Co., Pa., from Godshalk Godshalks; it is described as bordering on properties of Barny Freyer, Andrew Ziegler, Sr., Andrew Ziegler, Jr., and Jacob Reiff, containing about twenty-five acres of land. The buildings consisted of an old one-story loghouse containing two rooms; to this was annexed one room built of stone; there were also a log-barn and an old fashioned well-sweep on the place. Here for nearly forty years lived Edmund Flinn, stone-cutter and small farmer. Many of the tombstones in the neighboring churchyards are of his carving. The late James Y. Heckler tells us that the modern way of writing Heckler is to be charged to the fact that Flinn changed the h to k on the headstone of the ancestor of the Heckler family.

In a copy of the "Journal von den Jährlichen Einnahmen u. Ausgaben des Wohlthätigen Funds oder der Armen Casze Im Mittlern District 1790-1890," we find that Edmund Flinn received 3 Pounds and 15 Shillings from this fund in 1797 to pay rent for Rosina Wiegner; although her name continues on the record until 1834, Flinn's name does not appear in connection with hers after 1801. The fact that his wife's sister for so many years had the benefit of this fund may have been one motive that led him to remember it in his will, signed in the presence of Samuel Kriebel and Israel Schultz, May 20, 1831, and registered in Will Book 7, p 527, at Norristown, Pa. Benjamin Anders is named as executor. In it he bequeaths to his wife Maria his personal estate and "lot of land whereon I now dwell," consisting of fourteen acres of land; "and after her decease and just debts and funeral expenses are paid of it, it is my will what is left whatever real estate or personal or money is to go to the Schwenkfelder Society Poor Officer's hands to be for the poor of the society."

On the 18th of Jan., 1832, his wife died and he on Dec. 24th, 1836, at the age of 81 years. His will was probated and an inventory was filed four days after his death, Dec. 28, 1836, and the account, Jan. 29, 1839. His personal property inventoried $126.42, while the account shows $126.54½. The sum of all amounts paid, "including $250.00 paid Benjamin Anders for waiting and attending to the business of said testator for seven years during his life," was $461.65. In pursuance of an objection filed by one N. B. Brown, a relative of Edmund Flinn's, a law-suit resulted. It was argued that the Schwenkfelders had no legal standing and so could not receive the balance of the estate. After a long struggle the Supreme Court handed down a decision in favor of the Schwenkfelder Society.

According to a deed of sale under date of August 3, 1844, Caspar Schultz and George Anders, Jr., Poor Officers of the Schwenkfelder Society, sold eighteen acres and twelve perches of land of the Flinn estate to David Zimmerman for $675.00. In the Journal of the Charity Fund above cited, the officers charged themselves with $50.00 interest money and $59.00 on account of principal received from David Zimmerman in 1844; on May 1, they charge themselves with $23.25 interest money received from David Zimmerman, and also with a bond of $629.00 against the same, payable as the bequest made by

Edmund Flinn. In 1846 they received from David Zimmerman, interest $40.00. Thereafter no specification is made. However, the total amount received up to and including 1846, as here indicated, would be $801.65. The Journal further shows the following items of expense:

[160] REGINA (HÜBNER) JÄCKEL [E 160], b Nov. 4, 1687; d Apr. 4, 1753. She was a native of Nieder Harpersdorf and was a half-sister to Maria (Heebner) Wiegner [36], David Heebner [21], and Christopher Heebner [E 199]. On Feb. 1, 1712, she was married to CHRISTOPHER JÄCKLE of Armenruh, b ————; d June 29, 1719. Regina Jäckle, widow, and son, Christopher, came to Pa. in 1734. She is buried in the Yeakle Cemetery at Chestnut Hill, Pa., having lived with her son, Christopher, on Germantown Road, Chestnut Hill.

"Christopher Yeakle, Sr., died in Silesia before 1734, leaving a widow, Regina, born in Silesia in January, 1688. Her maiden name was Hübner, and she was a sister of David Hübner." [S. H. L.]

Christopher Yeakle was about eighteen years of age when he came to Pa. in 1734 with his mother. Tradition says Christopher Yeakle was one of nine children, and that his father died in Silesia. [W. A. Y.] This tradition is not verified by the Harpersdorf Church Books, as the records give his father only two children: Christoff, born in 1713, and a second Christoff, born in 1718.

After settling at Cresheim, Germantown Twp., Phila., Christopher Yeakle apprenticed himself to a cooper and continued to follow this trade during the remainder of his life. Some of his coopering tools are preserved in the Schwenkfelder Historical Library at Pennsburg, Pa. He was naturalized June 21, 1743. In 1743 he is said to have built the log-house at Germantown Avenue and Mermaid Lane (owned in 1884 by Charles Streeper), which was razed in 1903, and which was a land mark for many years. However, a search of the records failed to produce any evidence that the plot of ground on which this historic Yeakle log-cabin stood was ever owned by Christopher Yeakle. The records show that during his lifetime the land on which "The Yeakle Log Cabin" stood, was owned by others [vid. Christopher Yeakle— Homes and Burial Places]. At various times he acquired considerable property [Plates H V, H VI, H I]. He owned the land on which the present depot of the Pennsylvania R. R. at Chestnut Hill now stands and later built a residence on it. In 1764 he also bought eighty-two acres in the present Springfield Twp., at the foot of Chestnut Hill, near the historic "Wheel Pump" Hotel, which he sold to his son, Abraham, in 1783. His industrious and frugal habits enabled him to become possessed of considerable property, and his descendants at one time owned a large part of the present Chestnut Hill. During the Revolutionary War the British troops destroyed quite a good deal of property belonging to Christopher Yeakle, as shown by lists in his own handwriting. Whether these bills were ever paid has not been determined. Samuel Yeakle [160–51] has a grandfather's clock, formerly the property of Christopher Yeakle, which still shows the marks of the British bayonets when they entered Christopher's house for plunder.

That Christopher Yeakle was well educated and a leader of the early Schwenkfelders is shown by the many papers in his own handwriting that are still extant. A list of books in his possession indicate a wide reading for a cooper. He is buried in the Yeakle Cemetery in Chestnut Hill.

CHRISTOPHER JAECKEL

"Auch hier musz ich die Begebenheit meines Grosz Vaters (mutterseits nach) billig gedenken, nemlich Christoph Jäckel, der ältere, auf Chesnuthill (in Philada. Co.) Er erzehlte mir noch, wie er in seiner Kindheit, von seiner guten Mutter, an der Hand ergriffen worden, u. zu ihm sagte: Komm, komm;—der Widder (Jesuiter) will dich holen! da erschrack er u. warm wäre es ihm geworden, als es ihn vorher gefroren hatte, Die Mutter (eine Wittwe gewesen) flohe mit ihm beÿ Nacht Zeit, sonnabends vor Ostern, über die Grenzen, nach Sachsenland, ihren religiösen Anverwandten nach, in A.D. 1726. Er erlernete in seiner Jugend das Kiefer—Handwercks-Gesschäfte vollkömmlich, welches er oberhalb Germantoun am 9ten Meilstein, an einem schönen Wasserströhmgen, fürs erste antrieb, u. zugleich ein einstögigtes niedliches Wohnhäusgen da errichtete, das jetzt noch da stehet, seine Mutter hielt ihm Haus, u. unterstützte ihn in seinen Geschäften. Er trat in den Stand der Ehe, ohngefehr 10 Jahr nach seiner Ankunft in diesem Abendlande, mit einer der Schwestern des letztbesagten George Schultz (des älteren)—Nach seinen verbesserten Umständen, zog er 1 Meile höher hinauf, mit seiner Familie, u. betrieb beständig da sein Wesen, bis ins hohe alter hin von 92 Jahren; seine Ehegattin verschied kurz vorher, in ihren 90sten Jahre (so wie ich mich noch erinnere) in ihren letzten paar Jahren wurde sie blind geworden, Doch blieben sie noch beÿde, beÿ guten Verstandskräften, bis an ihr seliges Ende."

[Manuscript written by Isaac Schultz, Sr., in S. H. L.]

(Translation)

I must also give you an account of the adventures of my maternal grandfather, viz. Christopher Jäckel, Sr., in Chestnut Hill (in Philada. Co.).

He related to me that when he was a small child, his good mother grasped his hand and said, "Come, come, the Jesuits will get you," whereupon he was filled with terror, and he grew warm, just as the chills had run over him before; and his mother, who was a widow, fled with him at night—the time was Sunday before Easter —and they crossed the boundary into Saxony in 1726, and followed the other religious refugees.

In his youth he learned the cooper's trade thoroughly, which trade he followed at first in the upper part of Germantown, at the ninth milestone, by the side of a small stream of water, and erected at the same time a neat one-story cottage, which is still standing. His mother kept house for him and assisted him in his trade.

About ten years after his arrival in Germantown, he married one of the sisters of George Schultz, Sr.

As his circumstances improved, he moved a mile farther north with his family, and continued with his trade, even up to his old age, ninety-six years. His wife died shortly before him in her ninetieth year (as I remember), but in her last years she became blind. Both of them however retained their faculties up to the time of their death.

THE YEAKLE LOG CABIN

"The land on the east side of Germantown Avenue, between Mermaid Lane and Moreland Avenue, became the property of John Neuss in 1714. At his death in 1719 he devised it to his eldest son, Cornelius, and at his death in 1754 it became the property of his eldest son, John Nice. There is no record of the sale of any part of this property prior to December, 1759, when John Nice sold five acres to Derrick Keyser, carpenter, who sold it to John Wentz in 1801. The deed to Wentz recites 'a certain log tenement and lot or piece of ground situate on the N. E. side of Germantown Avenue, being at the intersection of Limekiln Road; thence along said road N. 40° W. 14 P. * * * * containing 5 and ¼ acres.' This log house, which was torn down about ten years ago, was commonly known as the Yeakel Cottage and was said to have been built by Christopher Yeakel in 1744. From the above record it would appear that Christopher Yeakel never owned this corner, but this does not prove that he never lived there, for he may have rented it, although this would seem rather a strange thing for him to do when he owned the house above Evergreen Avenue, having purchased it in 1741.

This tract of five acres was sold by the administrators of John Wentz to John Stallman in 1831."

[Dr. John J. Mac Farlane]

TITLE TO TRACT OF LAND ON WHICH THE YEAKLE LOG CABIN STOOD

The following held title to this tract during the period of Christopher Yeakle's life:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| May 12, 1714—Dec. 6, 1754 | John Neiss | 56 | acres |
| Dec. 6, 1754—1759 | Cornelius Nice | 56 | acres |
| 1759 | John Nice | 56 | acres |

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1759—1801 | Derick Keyser | 5¼ acres |
| May 27, 1801—Feb. 14, 1831 | John Wentz | 5¼ acres |
| Feb. 14, 1831—Apr. 2, 1838 | Stallman Haas | 5¼ acres |
| Apr. 2, 1838—Apr. 5, 1842 | G. Hergesheimer | 5¼ acres |
| Apr. 5, 1842—Sept. 26, 1848 | Hiram Busch | 5¼ acres |
| Sept. 26, 1848—Apr. 5, 1851 | George Pitman | 5¼ acres |
| Apr. 5, 1851 | John Peberdy | |

The fifty-six acres were intact from 1714 to 1759; the five and one-fourth acres which were a part of the fifty-six acre tract were intact from 1759 to 1851 or later. The part of five and one-fourth acres by itself or as part of the fifty-six acres was intact from 1714 to 1851 or later. In 1801 the five and one-fourth acres had a log tenement. In 1831 the buildings mentioned are: "Stone kitchen, frame tenement, frame barn, and stone spring house."

It seems strange that Christopher Yeakle should build on this land when in 1743 he acquired land on the top of the hill; however, it is a well authenticated tradition in the Yeakle family that Christopher Yeakle built this log cabin and lived in it. The Editor cannot account for these discrepancies.

It is stated that William Schemmer who died Oct. 11, 1896, saw the so-called Yeakle Log Cabin in a Henry Clay political parade, after which it was deposited on Germantown Avenue. He was the father-in-law of Charles Gorgas, 7169 Germantown Avenue. His father was toll-gate keeper at the fork of the three roads below the Wheel Pump Hotel, Chestnut Hill, Pa.

"Jacob Yeakle was born in Springfield Twp., Montg. Co., Pa. Very few educational opportunities were enjoyed by Mr. Yeakle in his youth as he had very little opportunity to attend school. He was a successful farmer, devoting his attention principally to dairying and marketing in Philadelphia. He is said to have been a man of marked integrity of whom it might be said with truth that 'his word was as good as his bond.' His opinion was much respected in questions of weight, and his services were often desired in the settlement of estates and in the capacity of executor." [Bean—Hist. of Montg. Co., p 1080.]

William Anders Yeakle was born in Whitemarsh Twp., Montg. Co., Pa. Receiving only a common school education Mr. Yeakle improved his mind by private study. In 1850 he began farming on the old homestead and continued living on this farm during the remainder of his life. He was also elected a director in the school board of his township in 1850, which office he continued to fill for eighteen consecutive years, declining a re-election at the end of that period.

In 1870 he was nominated for the office of State Senator but withdrew. Three years later he was again nominated for the same office and was elected. After serving a term of three years Mr. Yeakle declined re-election to that position.

Having always manifested a deep interest in everything pertaining to agriculture, he was for many years a member of the Montg. Co. Agricultural Society, and in 1877 he was elected to represent the Montg. Co. Society on the State Board of Agriculture and served in this capacity for ten years.

Having enjoyed the high esteem and confidence of his constituents Mr. Yeakle frequently represented them in conventions and other gatherings, ofttimes acting as the presiding officer. As a legislator Mr. Yeakle represented the most elevated sentiment and feeling of his party; his vote always indicating the high moral principle which actuated his business and social life. [Bean—Hist. Montg. Co.]

Although prevented from attending the regular services of the Schwenkfelder Church on account of his residence, Mr. Yeakle always took an active interest in Schwenkfelder activities and the preservation of Schwenkfelder history. He was the moving spirit in the publication of the first edition of the Genealogy of the Schwenkfelders, acting as Chairman of the Committee and also as Editor of the work. Extreme modesty on the part of both Mr. Yeakle and Hon. Christopher Heydrick in connection with that first publication has prevented them from receiving the praise and gratitude due them for their original laborious efforts. From Mr. Yeakle's papers we learn that most of the correspondence regarding this project was carried on by him, and that the editorial and business details were also under his supervision.

In addition to the compilation of the Genealogical Record of the Schwenkfelders, Mr. Yeakle is also the author of the very creditable "History of Whitemarsh Township, Montg. Co., Pa.," which appeared in the "Norristown Herald" in sixteen numbers, ending April 17, 1883, and which is published in the proceedings of the Montg. Co. Historical Society.

"Abraham A. Yeakle for more than twenty years ranked among the leading dry goods merchants of Norristown, Pa. He relinquished the dry goods business in order to devote more time to the affairs of the People's National Bank of Norristown of which institution he was one of the organizers, and which he served as president during the last seven years of his life. Mr. Yeakle was interested in many other progressive enterprises and was a trustee of the First Presbyterian Church of Norristown at the time of his death." [Bean—Hist. Montg. Co.]

Judge John Faber Miller was born in Abington Township, Pa., the son of the late William G. Miller and Caroline J. Roberts, and was the second of eight children. His ancestors have continuously resided in that which is now Montgomery county since the earliest Colonial times, and include, on his father's side, commissioned officers in the French and Indian and Revolutionary wars, as well as the distinguished clergymen, the John Theobald Fabers, father and son, who in the early days were pastors at Old Goshenhoppen, New Goshenhoppen and Great Swamp for a period of nearly fifty years. Judge Miller's earliest American maternal ancestor came to Pennsylvania in the ship Welcome with William Penn.

His boyhood was spent on a farm in Whitpain township where he attended the district schools. Later he was a student at the Friends' Preparatory Schools at Gwynedd and Philadelphia, and at the University of Pennsylvania. After receiving his degree he was admitted to the bars of both Montgomery and Philadelphia Counties, then to those of the Appellate and Federal Courts. He is now a member of the County, State and National Bar Associations.

Judge Miller began the practice of law in Norristown in 1892 where he built up an extensive business. During the last three years of his practice he held the appointment of County Solicitor. His record was one of the best ever made in that office, and has been publicly commended in the annual reports of the County Comptroller and elsewhere. The death of Judge Weand left a vacancy on the bench which Judge Miller was asked to fill by the Governor. Because of his capability he was again elected to that office for a full term of ten years in 1915. Judge Miller is a member of numerous clubs, and is president of the Plymouth Country Club.

A CONTINENTAL TEAMSTER

"George Anders, a member of the Schwenkfelder sect, then living on a farm long since known as the Meschter farm, had two very fine horses, and so also had his friend and neighbor, Abraham Kriebel. These two together with their handsome new wagon, just from the wheelwright, were pressed into service of the Continental Army. Anders felt such a tender concern for his pet horses that he could hardly let them go, fearing they might not be properly cared for. He therefore offered his son, Abraham, then eighteen years old, to go with the horses as their groom and teamster or driver. The offer was of course gladly accepted. After he had served awhile and had gained the confidence of his superior officers, he was sometimes sent considerable distances with his team for various commodities. So on one occasion he thought to take advantage of their confidence and attempted to make his escape with his team, but he dared not come home for fear of being arrested. He was therefore making his way toward Old Goshenhoppen in Berks Co., where many Schwenkfelders lived, to his uncle, George Kriebel, but he was pursued and overtaken by the Supt. of Transport. He escaped punishment by artfully pleading that he had lost his way and become so bewildered as to not know where he was. As he was yet so young, and was supposed to be inexperienced about the country the officer believed his story, and merely ordered him back again without any further punishment.

"He then served till the army was so far removed that his further services could be dispensed with. Then he got an honorable discharge and came home with the wagon and all the horses in splendid condition.

"This was frequently related to me by his grandson and other of his descendants." [Read before the Montg. Co. Hist. Soc., Oct. 28, 1896, by Abraham H. Cassel—Vol. II, p 161.]

Samuel Dresher Anders was born on the old home farm in Worcester township. On Nov. 20, 1838 he married Lydia Meschter, born in Goshenhoppen, who died July 21, 1842. In 1844 he married Christina Meschter, also born in Goshenhoppen, a sister of his first wife. After his first marriage he followed agriculture in Lower Providence township near Fairview Village. His farm, consisting of 110 acres, was rapidly brought to a high state of cultivation and so maintained for more than four decades, or until his retirement from the pursuit of agriculture a few years before his death, which occurred on Apr. 12, 1888.

Before his three sons had reached manhood, Samuel Anders became a man of property, having purchased two additional farms in Worcester township, thus evidencing his early agricultural predilections. When asked why he acquired these, he replied, in the hearing of the writer, "If my sons do not wish to become farmers, I have daughters who may marry farmers."

Samuel Anders was a plain, earnest, unassuming man of honest convictions and the strictest integrity. He had a pleasing personality, made friends readily and enjoyed their fellowship, although his avocation, that of farming, which he pursued with intelligence and industry, claimed nearly all of his time, so that opportunities for meeting men of affairs were limited. The community, in which he so long lived, held him in the highest esteem and his counsel on financial, business and agricultural matters, was considered to be most valuable and was frequently sought after by his friends and acquaintances.

For many years, he served as a member of the Board of Directors of the First National Bank of Norristown. Mr. Anders was deeply religious and devoted to the Schwenkfelder Church which he faithfully attended and also served in the capacity of moderator for many years. [James M. Anders, M.D.]

Jacob Heebner Anders was born on his father's farm adjoining the Worcester Schwenkfelder Church. Although as a boy he seemed to be in delicate health, he developed a "wiry" fibre of physical endurance that later showed an enormous capacity for strenuous labor by hand and an ability to stand tests of strength and prowess.

At an early age he showed an intense thirst for education. He attended the Trappe (Pa.) Seminary and by intense application became especially brilliant in Latin, Greek, and mathematics. Engaging in the profession of teaching, Mr. Anders taught in several of the districts of Montg. Co., and in the late 50's served a number of years as principal of the Wynnewood (now Ardmore, Pa.) High School. During this period his services were frequently sought by surveyors in solving intricate problems of acreage, etc.

During the Civil War he read medicine for a time, but was dissuaded by his parents from entering the medical profession. He then turned to the study of law and was graduated from the Law Department of the University of Pennsylvania, being admitted to the Phila. bar about 1869. Specializing in patent cases, he became very skillful in this branch of legal procedure and originated several new procedures, with the sanction of the judges of the U. S. Courts, in the naturalization of aliens.

During all this time he continued his study of languages and mathematics. It is stated that he spent many of his evenings translating difficult Greek and Latin passages, and is said to have welcomed problems brought to him for solution in higher mathematics. The Hon. Benjamin Harris Brewster, Attorney General of the U. S. in Pres. Benjamin Harrison's Cabinet, himself an eminent scholar, is said to have pronounced Mr. Anders "the finest Greek and Latin scholar at the Philadelphia Bar." [The Schwenkfeldian, Vol. VIII, p 122.]

DAVID H. ANDERS, BAND MASTER.

In 1690 there was born in Germany a certain Heinrich Anders, who later became organist in the old church in Amsterdam, and who published two books of Sonatas in 1720.

It is not known whether this Heinrich Anders was related to Balzer Anders of the immigrant Schwenkfelders or not, but at least one branch of the Anders family possesses exceptional musical ability which indicates that there might be some connection between the families.

David H. Anders, the subject of this sketch, was born on his father's farm adjoining the Worcester Schwenkfelder Church, in Worcester Twp., Pa. While the Schwenkfelders had always encouraged vocal music in the form of singing for the better participation in religious exercises, up to this time they strongly disapproved of "machine-made music" not only in the church but also in the home, as being noisy and tending to frivolity. David H. Anders was the first Schwenkfelder to encourage and foster the study of band instruments in the Middle District, as well as amongst the entire Schwenkfelder community. At the age of ten he with other boys and girls attended singing school in Worcester under the instruction of Prof. Trucksess. Having a clear high soprano voice, which was quickly recognized by his teacher as of extraordinary quality, young David was taken upon the knee of his instructor while the class was being taught.

THE CENTER POINT BAND.

When David was about 14 years of age, a group of young men met one day in Hendricks' Store, Center Point, Pa., and decided to organize a brass band.

Instruments were procured from a Philadelphia manufacturer and a teacher named Bailey came from the same city to instruct the boys.

David Anders chose the E-flat cornet, the leading instrument, and his progress was so rapid that he was chosen leader of the band within a year from its organization. Being thus encouraged in his efforts, he began the study of harmony and composition and soon was arranging and harmonizing pieces for the band, and also instructed the members in the use of the various instruments, so that the former teacher was discharged.

However, the parents of many of these "band boys" were very much opposed to these "noise-making instruments," and objected to having their boys belong to such a worldly organization. The climax was reached one Saturday night when the leader announced to his band that they had now progressed sufficiently to warrant their being instructed in marching. They accordingly proceeded to march up and down the Skippack road to the great amazement of the residents.

The following day, being Sunday, Rev. Reuben Kriebel, pastor of the Worcester Schwenkfelder Church, in the presence of the leader and various members of the band discoursed upon the sinfulness and worldliness of such an exhibition as was given by the band on the night before. This denunciation, however, had the opposite effect, as it was thought by many to have been ill advised and too severe; the result was that a much milder attitude towards the organization was taken by a number of the parents of the members, as they realized that their sons were receiving instruction in an art that was not harmful to their welfare.

It is stated that Rev. Kriebel also became reconciled to the harmlessness of the institution later, and implied that he too would not object to joining the organization, did his ministerial duties not prevent. This "Center Point Band" became quite famous and popular, and was in frequent demand to furnish music on many public occasions, and later became attached to the Norris City Rifles, a military Company of Norristown, Pa. However, when this company was ordered to the front during the Civil War, the Band as an organization did not go with them.

Since that time the fame of David Anders as an instructor of bands and orchestras, as a composer and arranger of music, has spread over Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and thousands of young men now musically prominent received their instruction and achieved subsequent success as the result of his systematic and thorough training. Through the refining influence of his example and high ideals, many men were made better morally, socially and artistically.

During his long career Mr. Anders has been the instructor of many bands and other musical organizations, and continuously since 1887 has been one of the faculty of the Pennsylvania Training School, at Elwyn, Pa., as instructor of the band.

Samuel K. Anders died as a result of being struck by a trolley car in Norristown, Pa., while he was on his way to attend a meeting of the board of Prison Inspectors. He was a man whose quiet, unassuming devotion to duty, sterling integrity in his business life, and faithfulness in his devotion to the faith of his church, made him loved and esteemed by all. The following is quoted from "The Public Press," printed at the time of his death:

> "No man in Montgomery County was held in higher respect, and few others had so strong a hold on the affections of the people. He never injured a living soul or a dumb animal. He never said harsh things about his fellow-men. He was always ready with the helping hand, and with the milk of human kindness for those in need or distress. He was a Christian gentleman of the finest type."

Mr. Anders had a fine career as a public official. He served nine years as County Commissioner of Montgomery County; fourteen years as Trustee of the State Hospital for the Insane; twenty years as Prison Inspector, long president of the board (serving in the last two positions gratuitously); and in all this long service no man ever questioned his integrity, his sound judgment, and his devotion to duty. He helped to organize the People's National Bank of Norristown and served as its president from 1888 to the time of his death.

Born in Norriton Twp., Montg. Co., Pa., Mr. Anders followed farming for many years, serving as a school director in his native community. He also acted as superintendent of the Union Sunday School that met in Metz's School, Norriton Twp., for four years, and was the superintendent of the Worcester Schwenkfelder Sunday School. Mr. Anders was the last surviving member of the building committee who had charge of the rebuilding of the Worcester church in 1882 at a cost of $6,000, which was dedicated free of debt. This was the first Schwenkfelder church to have a basement for Sunday School purposes, which innovation in church building met with considerable opposition at the time. Mr. Anders was also the last surviving charter member of the Board of Publication of the Schwenkfelder Church, having been selected as a member in 1884 when the board was organized, and serving as treasurer at the time of his death.

Rev. William Schultz Anders received his education in the public schools of Worcester Twp., and then spent two years as a student at Mount Kirk Seminary, Providence Twp., Montg. Co., Pa., which was conducted for many years by the Rev. Henry Rodenbaugh, while pastor of Lower Providence Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Anders then engaged in school teaching, rounding out a period of eight years—one year in Towamencin Twp., three years in Worcester Twp., and four in Norriton Twp. After he had been engaged to teach his first school in Towamencin, and during the summer before his school was ready to open, a vacancy in the teaching force occurred in Norriton Twp., near Mr. Anders' home. The president of the Norriton School Board being a Schwenkfelder, and knowing the type of young man Mr. Anders was, called upon the latter, and offered him the position, holding out the inducements that as "Norriton" had a longer school term and paid higher salaries than did the Towamencin board, he ought by all means resign the position in Towamencin and accept the one nearer home, for in addition he could also board at his parental home; furthermore as the season was yet early, the Towamencin school board would have time to look for another teacher before the opening of school. But Mr. Anders had given his consent to teach in Towamencin, and his sterling conscience would not permit him to go back on his word.

When Mr. Anders relinquished his position in the schoolroom, he removed to the farm previously bought by his father, near the old homestead in Worcester Twp.; this farm he cultivated for a score of years until 1893, when he retired, and for the remainder of his life he lived in the house on the lot adjoining the farm.

On June 3, 1871, William S. Anders was called as a probationer to the ministry of the Schwenkfelder Church. After serving his term of probation, and successfully passing his examination, he was duly installed as one of the pastors of the Schwenkfelder Churches of the Middle District, which comprised the churches in Worcester, Towamencin, and Lower Salford.

The time when Rev. Anders was called to the ministry, was what might be called the transition period in the Schwenkfelder Church: it was the period of the introduction of the rites of baptism, and the institution of the Sacraments. The position of Rev. Anders was a trying one, but he did his duty fearlessly and conscientiously as his letters show.

That Rev. Anders served his congregation long and well, goes without saying. He is one of the men who stand out prominently as landmarks in the history of our sect. Notwithstanding the busy life he led, Rev. Anders allowed nothing to interfere with the work of the ministry, as long as his health permitted.

But on account of failing health, Rev. Anders tendered his resignation as pastor, a few years before his death. The Conference of the District, loath to part with his services, declined to accept his resignation; however, he was relieved of his regular duties, and asked to continue his ministration as long as his health permitted. Knowing the feelings of his congregation, Rev. Anders did not press the acceptance of his resignation, but continued to perform his ministerial duties as occasion demanded, very much against his physician's advice, and ofttimes with great pain and suffering, as was evident to those about him. Thus while conscientiously and patiently attempting to do his duty, Rev. Anders met his death suddenly in Florida. He was walking to the home of Hon. William D. Heebner, to rehearse for a wedding ceremony, which he was to perform two days later, when he fell over and expired in a few minutes. It had been the custom for Rev. Anders to spend the coldest parts of the winter in Florida, where the Anders brothers owned an extensive and productive orange grove. Having spent several weeks in Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Anders had planned to come north on the 21st, but he died on the 18th of Feb., 1907. Besides ministering to his congregation in a spiritual way, Rev. Anders, during his period of healthful activity, was identified with Sunday School work for more than forty years, serving at various times as superintendent of the school or as a teacher of a Bible Class.

For several years Rev. Anders served as school director of Worcester Township. He was also a director for many years of the Montgomery National Bank of Norristown, as was also his father. After 1889 he was a director of Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa., thus showing his manifest interest in the cause of education.

Rev. Anders' last industrial activity was his help in the organization of the Souderton, Skippack and Fairview Electric Railway Company, which company he served as treasurer. He was also president of the Board of Publication of the Schwenkfelder Church. [For further biographical data, see The Schwenkfeldian, Vol. IV, pp 26-30.]

James Meschter Anders, M. D., Ph. D., LL. D., was born on his father's farm near Fairview Village, Montg. Co., Pa. After attending the public schools of his native township and also of Norristown, Pa., Dr. Anders entered the academic department of the Theological Seminary, conducted under the auspices of the Mennonite Church, at Wadsworth, Ohio, where he was prepared to enter college. Being especially apt in mathematics, Dr. Anders was appointed teacher of mental arithmetic during his career at Wadsworth. While still a boy on his father's farm, Dr. Anders had acquired some local fame as a mathematician. It is said that some of the prospective teachers of the neighborhood, when preparing to take the examinations under the county superintendent, would bring their problems in mathematics to Dr. Anders, and that the latter would solve them while following the plow on his father's farm. After finishing his preparatory course at Wadsworth, Dr. Anders entered the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania, from which institution he was graduated in 1877, having "read medicine" in the meantime with the late Dr. George K. Meschter of Worcester, Pa. In this same year, 1877, he also received the degree of Ph. D. from the University of Pennsylvania, and was awarded a prize for the highest general average and for his original thesis on "The Transpiration of Plants."

During the first decade after his graduation Dr. Anders continued his studies in natural history subjects. His original investigations on certain plant functions led him to discover that all flowering plants and odoriferous foliage possess the power to convert the oxygen of the air into ozone. He was the first to show by experiment that when growing plants are cultivated indoors they tend to increase and maintain a proper degree of humidity in the air and are therefore beneficial to health. A few of the articles published by Dr. Anders along this line are the following: "Hygienic and Therapeutic Relations of House Plants," "Beneficial Influence of Plants," "The Exhalation of Ozone by Flowering Plants," "House Plants and Lung Diseases," "Sanitary Influence of Forests," "The Relation of Forests to Health Resorts," etc. As a result of Dr. Anders' investigations along these lines he was tendered in 1885 the chair of Forestry and the Relation of Plant Life to Health, in the Academy of Natural Sciences, Phila.

In his professional capacity, Dr. Anders has served as visiting physician on the staff of the Protestant Episcopal Hospital of Phila., the Medico-Chirurgical Hospital, Philadelphia Hospital, etc. He has served as consulting physician to the Jewish Hospital and the Widener Home for Crippled Children in Phila., as well as the Hospital for the Insane at Norristown, Pa. Dr. Anders' connection with the Medico-Chirurgical College began in 1889 when he was made lecturer on "materia medica" and was advanced to the chair of Hygiene and Pediatrics the following year. Two years later he was elected to the chair of Clinical Medicine, and in 1893 was elected Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine, which chair he held for twenty-five years. In 1890 Dr. Anders was elected a member of the Board of Trustees of the Medico-Chirurgical College and Hospital, which position he held until the College was consolidated with the University of Pennsylvania, having held the office of vice-president for five years. That Dr. Anders has achieved a national reputation as a diagnostician, is also worthy of note.

In 1898 Dr. Anders published his large work, "The Theory and Practice of Medicine," which is the most widely used textbook of its kind in the medical schools of the country, the fourteenth edition of this work having been issued in September, 1920. In addition to the publication of his textbook, Dr. Anders has contributed more than one hundred articles to the leading medical periodicals, scientific and other magazines, and has read papers before the foremost medical and scientific associations of the nation.

Upon the merging of the Medico-Chirurgical College with the University of Pennsylvania Medical Department in 1916, which project was managed by Dr. Anders, he automatically became Professor of Medicine and Clinical Medicine in the Graduate School of Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Anders has been honored by the different mayors of the city of Philadelphia by being selected at various times as a member of the Mayor's Advisory Board, and by appointments to the Board of Health. In 1898 Ursinus College conferred upon him the honorary degree of LL. D. Dr. Anders is a member of the leading medical associations of the nation; for many years he has been a member of the Councils of the State Forestry Association, and chairman of the Publication Committee of the City Parks Association. He has served as president of the local medical clubs and county association, and in 1902 delivered the oration in medicine for the American Medical Association in New Orleans. In 1908 he was elected vice-president and a member of the Central Executive Committee of the Sixth International Congress on Tuberculosis held at Washington, D. C. He also founded the library of the Philadelphia County Medical Society in 1910. In the same year the French Government signally honored Dr. Anders in recognition of his standing in medicine, and especially of his discovery regarding the innate ability of flowering plants to convert the oxygen into ozone, by electing him an "Officier de l'Instruction Publique et des Beaux Arts." In 1913 he was elected president of the American Climatological and Clinical Society.

It was also through the influence of Dr. Anders that in 1917 an annual celebration of "Health Day" was instituted, and he was instrumental, together with Dr. John D. Roberts, in creating a new section on Industrial Medicine and Public Health in the College of Physicians.

During the World War, Dr. Anders at the request of Gov. Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania, formed the Medical Advisory Board for the examination of registrants entering the United States military service, and he served as chairman of the board until the close of hostilities abroad. In addition, he was a member of the Medical Section of the Pennsylvania State Council for Defense, and served as vice-president of the Senior Medical Service Corps and chairman of the Committee on Physical Research, which was a nation-wide movement to improve the physical standard of the American men and women. In March, 1921, Dr. Anders was unanimously elected president of the American College of Physicians at the annual meeting held in Baltimore, and on the following June 4, at the meeting of the American Therapeutic Association, held in Washington, he was chosen president of that society as well.

Although Dr. Anders' professional duties take up the greater part of his time, he has by no means neglected his church affiliations, as his home church has always enlisted his active interest. He has been a member of the Board of Missions of the Schwenkfelder Church since its incorporation and was instrumental in having the Board establish a mission in Philadelphia. From the time of its organization he has served as Moderator of the First Schwenkfelder Church of Philadelphia. Dr. Anders is also International Councilor of the Drexel Biddle Bible Classes and a member of the Board of Directors of the Drexel Biddle Military Training Corps. On the Board of Trustees of Perkiomen School, Dr. Anders serves as vice-president, and is likewise a member of the Board of Trustees of Ursinus College. In 1920 when the Society of the Descendants of the Schwenkfeldian Exiles was organized, Dr. Anders was honored by being elected the first president.

Someone has truly said of Dr. Anders that he is "one of the leaders in all public-spirited movements, as well as a foremost member of his profession."

He is a specialist in the diseases of the heart and lungs with offices located at 1724 W. Diamond St., Phila., Pa. Dr. Anders is also serving as treasurer of the Philadelphia Schwenkfelder Church.

Dr. Anders saw active service in the World War in the Medical Corps, attaining the rank of Captain. He entered service Aug. 25, 1917, and served for one year on a special examining board to pass on disqualifying lesions of the heart and lungs. For fifteen months he served as specialist on lungs and as consulting physician with the 29th Division, assuming the duties of surgeon during combat. He was with the A. E. F. in the following engagements: Defense of Center Sector, Maute Alsace, July 25, to Sept. 23, 1918; Battle of Marlbrouch Hill, Oct. 18, 1918; attack on Bois d'Ormont, Oct. 11, 1918; Battle of Grand Montagne, Oct. 16, 1918; Capture of Etrayes Ridge, Oct. 23, 1918; attack on the Bois Belleau, Oct. 26, 1918. Edwin S. Anders was chosen a minister of the Society of Schwenkfelders in 1886, and has served his district faithfully ever since. The selection of Mr. Anders was the last instance of the Schwenkfelder Church electing a layman to the ministry, as all pastors since that time have had the benefit of a college and theological training. Notwithstanding the fact that Rev. Anders is the only unsalaried pastor, he has always given freely and cheerfully of his time to perform the pastoral duties incumbent upon a rural minister.

Rev. Edwin S. Anders owns one of the finest farms in Towamencin Twp., Montg. Co., Pa., always kept in a fine state of cultivation. Both Rev. and Mrs. Anders are noted for their genuine hospitality. Being leaders in the community they are ofttimes called upon to give advice, and none go away unrewarded. The "latch string is always out" for neighbors and friends and also for those needing assistance. Many families have been blessed by the generous and unostentatious benefactions of the Anders family.

Rev. Anders has never sought public office for he is averse to entering politics, but he has served for many years as director of financial institutions. He is also a trustee of Perkiomen School, a member of the Board of Publication of the Schwenkfelder Church, and is one of the most active members of the Schwenkfelder Historical Library Committee. By diligent and persistent search of the garrets, closets, and store-rooms of many homes, Rev. Anders has discovered hundreds of books, papers, and relics that now repose in the Library at Pennsburg; he is truly a most enthusiastic collector of historical documents and relics, ofttimes delving into his own purse to obtain articles that will not be given gratuitously. The Schwenkfelder Church owes Rev. Anders a deep debt of gratitude for the energy and sacrifices he has so generously made for the welfare of its various organizations.

[161 64] HORACE R. ANDERS, b Sept. 16, 1860; s David H. and Mary (Rosenberger) Anders [161–28]; m June 30, 1911, ISABELLA KELLOGG, b Feb. 9, 1857; d May 31, 1922; dau Charles Kellogg of Detroit, Mich. Director of Music at Widener Home for Crippled Children, Phila.; Assistant director of band at Girard College, Phila. Res., 1527 N. 17th St., Phila., Pa. (1922.)

A worthy son of a worthy musical father, Horace R. Anders was reared in a musical atmosphere and began at an early age the study of brass band and orchestral instruments together with the piano and organ, becoming an instructor of music at the age of sixteen years.

Born in the vicinity of Skippack, Pa., his parents moved to Philadelphia, when Horace was eleven years of age. The principal of the school which young Anders attended, noticed the boy's efforts at the piano and assigned him the regular duty of playing the opening march for each school session. In the meantime it is said that young Anders was surreptitiously practicing on his father's piccolo, when the parent surprised the boy one day by walking into the room unannounced, and at once encouraged the lad.

The father's occupation as an instructor of bands had by this time grown to such proportions that it was impossible for him to continue without assistance, particularly in the matter of arranging and copying parts, for at that time there was no means of duplicating parts as at present, and band teachers were obliged to copy the parts by hand. So at the age of twelve young Anders was set to work to duplicate parts for the various band instruments. This work gave the young musician an insight into the possibilities of the various instruments which stood him in good stead later on.

In 1880 Horace R. Anders organized the "Weber Amateur Orchestra" which continued in existence for ten years and a number of its members became musically prominent.

In 1892 the Athletic Band of Philadelphia engaged him as director of that organization. The following year this band played for twelve weeks at the Lemon Hill Pavilion in Fairmount Park, Phila., and in 1894 filled a fifteen weeks' engagement at Germania Park on the Delaware River, where Jules Levy, then premier cornet virtuoso of the world, was featured with the band. In 1895 the band became attached to the 3rd Regiment N. G. P., and henceforth was known as "Anders' Third Regiment Band." Prof. Anders was First Sergeant and Bandmaster of this regiment, and also leader of the First Brigade Band which was attached to Headquarters' Staff under Gen. John G. Schall. After seven years with the National Guard, Prof. Anders applied for and received an honorable discharge. This was in 1903. It was with this 3rd Regiment Band that Prof. Anders filled long engagements at Atlantic City, N. J., Wilmington, Del., Asbury Park, N. J., and other places, in addition to the Phila. engagements.

In connection with the Peace Jubilee in 1898, Prof. Anders led the great chorus of three thousand voices with his band at the re-dedication of Independence Hall, Phila., and conducted the public concerts every night during the week of celebration of the victory over Spain. Again on Grand Army Day, Sept. 5, 1899, Prof. Anders led the big chorus of three thousand five hundred voices with his band on the City Hall Plaza, Phila., having personally written and harmonized every song used on both of the above occasions. He also conducted the big band of one hundred musicians in the Concert and promenade at the Export Exposition Building for the Knights Templar Tournoi, on May 20, 1903.

Prof. Anders has received many substantial testimonials and decorations during his career which are highly prized. In 1907 he was appointed instructor of Band at the Widener Memorial Industrial Training School for crippled children in Phila., and since 1911 has been Associate Instructor of the Cadet Band at Girard College, Phila.; prior to the World War he was director of the students' band at the University of Pennsylvania. [165] ABRAHAM HEYDRICK [E 165], b 1719; d Oct. 16, 1767; m CATHARINE WEBER. No issue. Abraham Heydrick is buried in the Towamencin Schwenkfelder Cemetery.

In the first Genealogical Record of the Schwenkfelders it is stated that Abraham Heydrick was unmarried, but court records disprove this. It seems that Abraham Heydrick died intestate and left a widow and next of kin in Germany. [Vid. Norristown Court Records, D. B. 17: 512 -Transfer of property from Joseph Lukens to Andrew Krieble, May 27, 1772.] "Whereas Caspar Wistar to George Heydrick, Mar. 6, 1735, * * * * 106 acres 57 perches * * * * descended to brother, George Heydrick, only surviving heir * * * * Mar. 6, 1765." George Heydrick made a will and left a dower to his widow and devised the remainder to his nephew, Abraham Heydrick. The latter died intestate and without issue; he left a widow and next of kin in Germany. The widow, Catharine, and her own brother, Jacob Weber, were appointed administrators. The widow and heirs gave a release. The widow later married Jacob Lukens. An old deed recites that Conrad Weber was the heir of Catharine Heydrick Lukens.

Abraham Heydrick was the nephew of George [E 61] and Caspar Heydrick [E 51]. Tradition states that he was a tailor by trade and died from injuries received by falling from a cart. He was the son of Abraham who died before the migration. He lived on a farm now known as the "Troxel Farm" near Kulpsville, Pa. (1920.)

TRANSLATION OF GERMAN DEED OF HANS CHRISTOPHER BEER, ET AL, TO CATHARINE HEYDRICH

" * * * * On the date hereof before us appeared Hans Christopher Beer, the only surviving son and heir of Melchior Beer, Melchior Grow, Hans Christopher Groh, Abraham Groh, David Groh, Regina Geissler, Anna Maria Fritsch, and Rosina Geissler (which three last mentioned persons at the doing of this act were assisted by their respective Husbands and Curators). They all being the children and heirs of the late Anna Groh in her wedlock with George Groh begotten. Maria Meschter assisted by her husband Christopher Meschter, John Christopher Shubart, Susanna Renner, assisted by her Husband, Jeremiah Renner and Regina Shubart, the three only surviving children and heirs of Susanna in her wedlock with George Shubart begotten. Christopher Boerner, the only surviving son of Barbara Boerner in her wedlock with George Boerner begotten and Gotfried Boerner and Rosina Shultz assisted by her husband Hans George Shultz, the only surviving children and heirs of the late Abraham Boerner, deceased, who was the other son of the said Barbara Boerner. All the said appearers living here at Armenruh and in the Neighborhood thereof, some of them being personally well known to us the said Bailiff and Justitiarie and some of them were made known to us by persons worth of Credit and the said appearers declared that their beloved Cousin Anna Catharine Heydrich, Widow, by her letter dated at Towamensing in the county of Philadelphia in Pennsylvania the Tenth of March 1768, had informed them that her dear husband Abraham Heydrich Cousin of these appearers had on the Sixteenth of October 1767 died intestate and without issue so that since his two own brothers, Caspar Heydrich and George Heydrich, in whose company he about thirty-two years ago from Silesia emigrated into Pennsylvania had before him died there without issue.

Now the goods and effects of her said Husband were by the laws of Pennsylvania to be divided between herself and the next of Kin to the deceased. And further that her said deceased husband besides these movable goods had left two plantations the one of about fifty acres in Towamensing aforesaid and the other of about one hundred acres the next adjoining District of Lower Salford and that she the aforesaid Anna Catharine Heydrich Widow had caused to be offered to them all the said Appearers the sum of eight hundred Ryks Dollars currency of Leipsic as a consideration or price to be given to them for an absolute transfer of their respective Right and Inheritance of and to the effects of her deceased Husband and more especially of the two plantations so never the less that they the said Appearers at the same time should by their respective Church Registries, and otherwise as well as conveniently could be done, prove before the Magestrates, here that they are the only and next Relations of her deceased Husband Abraham Heydrich and therefore have a Right to make and confirm such a Transfer of Property.

And Whereas for the purpose aforesaid the Appearers have produced unto the Court a tree of Consanguinity an extract of the Church Registry of Harpersdorf heretofore affixed, which being Certified by the Reverend Mr. Weissig Pastor who is very well known unto us proveth to our Satisfaction That they the said Appearers are to the aforesaid Abraham Heydrich in Pennsylvania, deceased, the next of Kindred living and we have not had any sample to admit of their said Legitimation as true and consistent with Law.

Done at Armenruh in Court, March 14th, 1769.

Release etc. follows—deed then continues: "I the subscriber do hereby certify that agreeable to the Church Registry of this place and to the testimony of the Bailiff and Justitiarii of Armenruh confirming the same: I—the Descendants, children and heirs of Melchior Beer who was the maternal grandfather of Abraham Heydrich born here and deceased in Pennsylvania are to wit of the said Melchior Beer's 7 son Melchior Beer who at the time of the Mission Troubles has emigrated from hence into Saxonia and there died, his only living son, Hans Christopher Beer 6 of his daughter Anna Beer who on the 26th day of December 1745 died here her children in Wedlock begotten with George Groh named 1 Melchior Grow, 2 Hans Christopher Groh, 3 Abraham Groh, 4 David Groh, 5 Regina Groh, 6 Anna Maria Groh and 7 Rosina Groh (his now living Daughter Maria Beer intermarried with Christopher Meshter), of his daughter Susanna Beer who on the 8th of November 1763 died here the children in wedlock with George Shubert begotten namely 1 John Christopher Shubert, 2 Susanna Shubert, and 3 Regina Shubert: II—Likewise that the descendants' Children and heirs of Barbara Beers the sister of the said in Pennsylvania deceased Abraham Heydrich's maternal grandfather are of her eldest son Abraham Boerner who on the 27th of April 1761 died here his children left 1 Gottfried Boerner and 2 Rosina Boerner and her second son yet living Christopher Boerner are the only living heirs to the inheritable monies to them remitted by the widow of the said in Pennsylvania deceased Abraham Heydrich and that no other Persons or relations to him belonging are here or by common report can be. And I do further certify that since the church Registry Books were by an unlucky fire in the year 1699 destroyed no memorandum can be found concerning the Births, intermarriages with the dates thereof etc. of the paternal Grandfather and Grandmother of the aforesaid Abraham Heydrich lately deceased. Likewise that whereas at the time of the mission even the burials were troubled and not permitted to be had on the Protestant Church Yard of this place so the exact date of their deaths and the time when the Paternal line was extinguished can not now be discovered from written memorandums etc.

Eva Meschter lived with her daughter, Rosina Wiegner, in Hereford Twp., Montg. Co., Pa., and is buried in the Washington Schwenkfelder Cemetery.

[169–1] DAVID MESCHTER [E 63], b Feb., 1707; d Mar. 31, 1785; s Melchior and Eva (Yeakel) Meschter [169]; m Mar. 2, 1736, in the presence of witnesses and elders, URSULA ANDERS [E 162], b Apr. 5, 1705; d Apr. 14, 1793; dau George and Anna (Reinwald) Anders [161], and sister of Baltzer Anders [E 67]. David Meschter came to Pa. in 1734 with his mother, and he later bought land in Hereford Twp., Montg. Co., Pa. [Plate C VII]. He and his wife are buried in the Washington Schwenkfelder Cemetery. No issue.

In the will of David Meschter, probated in 1785, he mentions "Enkeln meiner verstorbenen Schwester, Rosina Wiegner, Susanna Wiegner, Magdalena Wiegner" (grandchildren of my deceased sister, Rosina Wiegner -Susanna Wiegner and Magdalena Wiegner). He also refers to the three children of Balthasar Anders—"meines verstorbenen Schwagers" (my deceased brother-in-law).

[184] ABRAHAM BEER (BEYER) [E 184], b Aug. 16, 1690, in Nieder Harpersdorf, Silesia; d Oct. 30, 1754; m Nov. 27 (24), 1717, ROSINA JÄCKEL [E 185], b June 16, 1699; d July 30, 1770 (aged 71 yrs., 1 mo., 20 days (?), according to her tombstone); dau Hans and Maria Jäckel.

Abraham Beer, according to Kadelbach, fled with his wife, two sons, three daughters, one foster son, and one foster daughter. When they came to Pa. in 1736, there were three sons and three daughters.

Rosina Jäckel Beer was a sister of Anna Jäckel Wagner [E 192], and of Maria Jäckel Hübner [E 200]. Abraham and Rosina Beer (Beyer) are both buried in the Methacton Cemetery.

Children (7):

1. George [E 190], b Dec. 21, 1718, in Nieder Harpersdorf; sponsors: Gottfried Mentzel, Melchior Heydrick, Anna Rosina Hauptman [Harpersdorf Ch. Bk.]. No further data obtainable. (Died prior to 1739?)

[184-1] 3. Abraham [E 188], b about Feb. 6, 1722; d Mar. 6, 1796; m Barbara Hÿstand (Hiestand).

[208] [184-2] 4. Anna Maria [E 187], b about Mar. 1, 1725; d Apr. 10, 1802; m 1. Abraham Jäckel [E 208]. 2. Peter Gerhard.

[184-3] 5. Andrew [E 189], b about 1733; d Apr. 19, 1773; m Philipina Weyand.

[184-4] 6. Susanna [E 191], m Dirk (Derrick) Casselberry.

7. George, b July 13, 1739; d Sept. 19, 1744; aged 5 years, 2 months, and 6 days [tombstone record]; buried in the Methacton Cemetery. In Dec., 1744, Hans Christopher Heebner wrote to "Hertzlich Geliebte Schwester Rosina" and gave the following deaths for that year:

"Melchior Kriebel, Senior
George Mentzel
Abraham Beyer's youngest son, aged 5 years."
[S. H. L.—E. 1.10c.]

It would therefore seem that the eldest son, George, had died before this youngest son, George, was born, or prior to 1739, and after 1736—the date of their arrival in Pa.

Abraham Beer (Beyer) settled in Worcester Twp., Pa. [Plate G VII]. He was naturalized June 21, 1843, and is the only immigrant Schwenkfelder known to have gone back to Europe after the migration to Pennsylvania, for he again returned to America in 1749 from Holland and brought with him Hans Ulrich Seiler, a Swiss Redemptioner, who murdered Abraham Beyer's daughter, Anna Rosina, wife of David Schultz [7 3a]. Abraham Beyer is buried beside his wife and several of his children in the Methacton Cemetery.

Although Abraham Beyer signed his name as "Beer" to the Oath of Allegiance, he soon changed it to "Beyer." There are more variations in the spelling of this name than that of any other Schwenkfelder immigrant. We find the following variations in spelling: "Beer, Baer, Bär, Bayer, Bear, Beyer, Boyer, Byer, Buyer." As a matter of fact in one legal paper the same name was written four different ways, and we find the same man signing one form of spelling at one time and another form at other times.

In 1765 Heintze wrote, "Die alte Melchior Heydrichin grüsst ihres Bruders Abraham Beyers Kinder und die Mutter." [S. H. L.] (Translation: Old Mrs. Melchior Heydrick sends greetings to the children of her brother Abraham Beyer, also to their mother.)

Abraham Beyer did not leave a will. Letters of administration were issued to his sons, Abraham and Andrew, the widow having renounced her right. [Adm. Bk. F, p. 568—Phila.]

[184-1] ABRAHAM BEYER [E 188], b about Feb. 6, 1722; d Mar. 6, 1796; s Abraham and Rosina (Jäckel) Beyer [184]; m Nov. 6, 1750, BARBARA HŸSTAND (HIESTAND). Abraham Beyer came to Pennsylvania in 1736 with his parents, and in 1772 located in Norriton Twp., Pa. [Plate A VII], near the present village of Jeffersonville, Pa. He is buried in the Methacton Cemetery.

Children (8):

1. Hans (John), b Oct. 23, 1752; d ————. "John Boyer * * * * came with his brothers from Montgomery County to Huntingdon Co., Pa., about 1796 or 1799, and located near Marklesburg, in Penn Twp., then Hopewell Twp." [American Boyers, p 183.]

[184-5] 2. Jacob, b Dec. 6, 1755; d May 17, 1815; m Susanna Stauffer.

3. Susanna, b June 3, 1758; d ————

[184-9] 7. Andrew, b Oct. 31, 1769; d ————; m Susanna Hiestand.

8. Barbara, b ————

"Abraham Beyer, born about 1730 in Worcester Twp., Montg. Co., Pa., was a private in the 6th Battalion, Phila. County Militia, 1781, 3rd Co., Capt. Jonathan Lowry. He moved to Huntingdon Co., Pa. near Marklesburg in 1796 or 1799." [American Boyers, p 10 of addenda.]

This cannot apply to Abraham Beyer [184–1], who lived and died in Montgomery County; it might refer to his son, Abraham [184–7].

Abraham Beyer also bought land from John Dickinson on Aug. 2, 1790. His will, signed Apr. 26, 1794, was probated Mar. 26, 1796. As his wife is mentioned, she was probably living at that time, but her date of death and place of burial have not been ascertained. The will of Abraham Beyer, Sr., Norriton Twp., Montg. Co., Pa., mentions:

"My beloved wife, Barbara; my daughter, Hester and her husband, John Read; my son, Jacob; my second son, Jacob; my daughter, Susanna.—All my children, namely, John Bayer, Jacob Bayer, Abraham Bayer, Henry Bayer, Andrew Bayer, Hester Read, Barbara Bayer. Executors: John Bayer, Jacob Bayer." [Montg. Co. Will Bk. 1:498.]

[184–2] ANNA MARIA (BEYER) YEAKEL [E 187], b Mar. 1, 1725; d Apr. 10, 1802; dau Abraham and Rosina (Jäckel) Beyer [184], and widow of Abraham Jäckel [208]; m 2nd time, PETER GERHARD, d May 14, 1810. No issue.

Peter Gerhard married 2nd time, Elizabeth Krauss [202–2].

[184–3] ANDREW BEYER [E 189], b about 1733; d Apr. 19, 1773; s Abraham and Rosina (Jäckel) Beyer [184]; m Nov. 7, 1758, PHILIPINA WEYAND (WIEAND), who lived to be 100 years old.

REWARD FOR A RUNAWAY REDEMPTIONER
(Translation)

Andrew Beyer of Methacton in Worcester Township in Philadelphia County announced that during the night of May 7 a German servant named John Becker ran away. He is of short and thick stature; about 18 years of age, 5 ft. 5 in. tall; has a fresh brownish face, brown hair; speaks good English; and when he departed he wore a good felt hat, a blue cloth "camisol" with metal buttons, a brown doublet with brass buttons, a finely woven shirt, a yellow (vest), a silken tie, good goat-skin breeches with metallic buttons, blue woolen stockings, good calf-skin shoes with brass buckles. He also broke two locks off a chest belonging to a single person named Jacob Rebert, opened the drawers, and took with him 22 dollars and 22 pence. He also took with him Jacob Rebert's indenture, with which he could likely be called by a false name. This said indenture was made before Mr. Plumstead of Philadelphia, Sept. 16, 1751, signifying he has seven years to serve, who would be free in 2½ years.

Whoever apprehends and arrests the said servant so that his master may get him again, or whoever brings him to prison, shall be rewarded with 5 pounds, besides reasonable costs, from me.

Andreas Beyer

DAVID BEYER

I.

There is a great deal of contention concerning David Beyer, the son of Andrew Beyer and Philipina Weyand. According to the tradition in the family of Dr. J. Monroe Beyer of Bustleton, Pa. [184–398], David Beyer, the son of Andrew and Philipina (Weyand) Beyer, while still a young man, became involved financially and borrowed five hundred dollars from his brother Jacob and two hundred dollars from his brother Abraham; then suddenly one night he disappeared, and the family was never able to learn of his whereabouts. He was a blacksmith by trade, and it is supposed that he followed this occupation in his new place of abode. His mother, Philipina, who lived to be a hundred years old, was said to lament the fate of her son, David, on stormy and snowy nights, and she would say in German, "Ich wunder wo der arme Kerl ist"—(I wonder where the poor boy is).

This tradition exists from the statements made by Dr. Beyer's father, Samuel Beyer [184–163], who lived to be ninety-eight years of age and who recalled seeing Philipina Weyand Beyer. During the latter part of his life, Samuel Beyer made his home with his son, Dr. J. Monroe Beyer, who recorded these statements. This Samuel Beyer retained his faculties beyond his ninety-third year and was a storehouse of information and history, as he was possessed of a good memory and had lived through many experiences. For more than forty years he was a drover and his dealings took him to various parts of the country. He stated that on one occasion when he was in Gettysburg, Pa., buying cattle, he met a man by the name of Beyer who claimed relationship with Andrew and Daniel Beyer of Lancaster Co., and with David Beyer who had settled in that region (Adams Co.) many years ago. It was stated that this David Beyer by cheap purchasing had gradually accumulated a large amount of property, owning at one time seven hundred acres of land; that towns had grown up on land once owned by him; that he became wealthy, and was worth at that time, $300,000.00. It was thought that this David Beyer was the blacksmith who had disappeared.

However, an investigation of court records in York and Adams Counties establishes the following conclusions:

(a) A David Byers of Hamiltonban Twp., Adams Co., Pa.. made a will on Aug. 5, 1828, and this will was probated May 21, 1831. His tombstone gives the date of death as May 11, 1831, and his age as 76 yr., 2 mo., and 23 days; thus he must have been born in 1755.

(b) It was also ascertained that this David Byers was the son of Samuel Byers of Lancaster Co. A granddaughter of this David Byers, Mrs. Sarah Roth who lives at Mummasburg, Pa., was interviewed. She had never heard of the Schwenkfelders nor of any relationship existing between the Byers family with which she was connected and the Schwenkfelder branch.

(c) No other person by the name of "Beyer" or "Boyer" is listed in the indexes of the records in Adams and York Counties with a history to fit the tradition stated above.

(d) The tradition respecting the relationship in Lancaster Co. as related by Samuel Beyer is accounted for by the fact that Samuel Byers, the father of David Byers of Adams Co., came from Lancaster Co. The name of "Beyer" or "Byers" has been a familiar one in York Co. since 1765.

II.

That there was another David Beyer practically contemporaneous with David, the son of Andrew Beyer, is quite evident, but there seems to be confusion among genealogists in properly placing this David Beyer.

Dr. Charles Boyer in his book "American Boyers," p. 184, has the following: "David Beyer, son of Andrew Beyer and Philipina Weyand, was born Sept. 7, 1763. Lay preacher. Fine man. He came from Valley Forge to Sinking Valley, Pa. Married, Nov. 5, 1785, Sarah Crum. (See Rebecca Westbrook's letter.) Children: John, William, Mary, George, David, Sarah, Elizabeth, Susan, Doctor Samuel, Rebecca. Abram and Aaron."

Also Mr. J. Simpson Africa in "The History of Blair County," Pa., p. 44, makes the following statement: "David Beyer, of whose ancestors but little is known save the fact that they came from Germany, was born near Frederick Town, Md., Sept. 7, 1763. The death of his parents when quite small threw him upon his own resources for a livelihood * * * * *. He married Miss Sarah Crum and for a few years lived near Baltimore * * * *. He moved with his family to the Sinking Valley about 1797. He raised a family of thirteen children, and died Dec. 1, 1841."

This second David Beyer who married Sarah Crum had twelve children as follows:

1. John, b Nov. 7, 1786; d Sept. 29, 1836; m Esther Pontius.
2. William, b Aug. 1, 1790.

3. Mary, b May 6, 1792.
4. George, b May 8, 1794.
5. David, b July 26, 1796.
6. Sarah, b Jan. 10, 1799; m ———— Betz.
7. Elizabeth, b Apr. 26, 1801.
8. Susan, b Apr. 26, 1803.
9. Samuel, b Mar. 11, 1805; M. D.
10. Rebecca, b 1807.
11. Abram, b June 9, 1809; d 1880; m Elizabeth Williams.
12. Aaron, b Aug. 23, 1811; d Mar. 4, 1887; m Lydia Ramey.

Dr. Charles C. Boyer under date of June 14, 1920, wrote the Editor as follows: "I am as certain as human records can make matters that David Beyer (who married Sarah Crum) was a son of Andrew Beyer and Philipina Weyand."

He draws his conclusion from the correspondence that he carried on and the investigations that he made. The Editor has been in correspondence with various other members of the Beyer family descended from this David Beyer and Sarah Crum line, who also think their ancestor was the son of Andrew Beyer and Philipina Weyand. This conclusion, apparently, is based largely on the records found in a Bible which was in the hands of Mrs. Rebecca Westbrook of Huntingdon, Pa., for many years. This book is now (1921) in the possession of Prof. Thomas P. Beyer of Hamline University, St. Paul, Minn., a nephew of Rebecca Westbrook. Under date of Apr. 10, 1922, Prof. Beyer writes as follows:

"(1) There is nothing whatever in the record regarding David Beyer's parentage or ancestry. Sarah Crum's parents are cited, but not his.

"(2) The extract from 'The History of Blair County' by J. Simpson Africa is in exact accordance as to dates of birth and death, and the number of his children. I have no doubt the author got his information from this source.

"(3) There is no evidence in this Bible that it was the property of David Beyer or his wife, Sarah Crum, but my aunt, Mrs. Rebecca Westbrook, of Huntingdon, Pa., told me explicitly that it was the Bible which her grandmother, Sarah Crum, read during her last years. The book was published in 1829 and as she died in 1845, I suppose there is little reason to question the accuracy of my aunt's statement."

Mrs. Ruth Beyer Storer of Pittsburgh, Pa., a descendant of David Beyer and Sarah Crum, says that she has an old record in her possession which states that the only sister of David Beyer in the state of Pa. was Christianna, who married Mathias Beamer, and had the following children: Adam, John, Samuel, Sarah, Catharine, and Solomon. This would also seem to indicate that the David Beyer who married Sarah Crum was not the son of Andrew Beyer and Philipina Weyand, as there is no daughter named Christianna found in Andrew Beyer's family. Andrew Beyer and several of his children are buried in the Methacton Mennonite Burying Ground in Fairview Village, Pa. Many of the dates in the record included in this book are taken from tombstones in that cemetery. An examination of the will of Andrew Beyer is also an indication that he had no daughter by the name of Christianna. It will be noticed that Andrew Beyer names all his living children in his will and provides for a posthumous child which was undoubtedly David, and who must have been born after his father's death, on Apr. 19, 1773.

If the David Beyer who married Sarah Crum was born in 1763, as stated by Boyer and others, there is very little doubt that there must have been two David Beyers living about the same time; therefore the many descendants of David Beyer, the preacher, are not the descendants of David Beyer, the blacksmith, who disappeared after borrowing money from his brothers. Mrs. Storer states that David Beyer, the preacher, claimed that he was an orphan and alone in the world.

Another statement needs to be recorded. Dr. William F. Beyer of Punxsutawney, Pa., claims that he belongs to the lost branch of the Beyer family, which consists of many of the descendants of Andrew Beyer who located near the Maryland line. He says he has been told that he possesses the well-marked face of the Schwenkfelder Beyers. This he demonstrated by picking out all those of Beyer blood, without making an error, at a reunion of the Jacob Beyer family near Norristown, Pa., which he attended a few years ago. Dr. Beyer says he is the son of Samuel Beyer, who was the son of John, the son of David Beyer who married Sarah Crum, and that this David Beyer was the son of Andrew, the son of Abraham Beyer who came to Pennsylvania in 1736. He also states that his great-grandfather, David Beyer, lived on the edge of Maryland for a time and later lived south of Valley Forge, Pa.; he located in Sinking Valley in 1787, married Sarah Crum in 1785, and died in 1841.

The will of Derrick Castleberry, son of Susanna Beyer Casselberry [184–4], of Lower Providence Township, tanner, was probated March 21, 1842. No mention is made of wife or children. Amongst those mentioned are the following:

He bequeathed to "Derrick, son of Andrew, the farm in which he resides, and to John a farm in which he resides containing 54 acres." Collateral inheritance tax was paid by the executor, thus indicating no direct heirs. [See Montg. Co. (Pa.) Wills 8:212.]

The will of Mary Casselberry, daughter of Susanna B. Casselberry [184–4], of Lower Providence Twp., Pa., who died prior to Apr., 1849, single, mentions the following:

"Catharine Casselberry, wife of my nephew, Derrick;

[Wills of Montg. Co., Pa.—9:7.]

The release of the beneficiaries of the will of Mary Casselberry above mentioned is signed by the following:

"Isaac S. Casselberry, son of Paul.
Hannah Carson, daughter of Said Paul.
Samuel Dixon, and wife, Elizabeth, daughter of said Paul.
Willis Williams and wife, Hannah, daughter of and one of two children of Mary Casselberry, daughter of John.

By William Rossiter, our attorney."

The letter of the attorney on file was given to William Rossiter of Norristown, Pa., Sept. 13, 1849, and gives the addresses of the above as follows:

"Isaac S. Casselberry, Mississippi County, Ark.
Hannah Carson, Mount Vernon, Posey County, Ind.
Samuel Dixon and wife Elizabeth, Posey County, Ind.
Willis Williams and wife Hannah, Posey County, Ind."

Willis Williams and wife Hannah received only fifty dollars instead of one hundred dollars as received by each of the others, showing that the other child of Mary was still living.

He spent his boyhood days on the farm along the Raystown Branch of the Juniata River; attended the public schools and Williamsburg Academy, and the Cassville Seminary, and studied Greek, etc., at Juniata College; he farmed for a number of years and feels that the work was successful and congenial; taught nine years in the public schools of Huntingdon Co.; was baptized into the German Baptist Brethren Church June 15, 1856; was called to the ministry of this denomination June 24, 1864, and preached his first sermon from John XI:25, on Aug. 14, 1864. In 1889 he was ordained elder and has since been in charge of the Huntingdon Church of the Brethren.

"In 1869 Henry Boyer Brumbaugh and his brother, John Boyer Brumbaugh, were led to leave the farm and go to 'town' to begin the publication of a religious paper along certain distinct lines, and for which they and their advisers felt there was a distinct need. From their residence in Marklesburg, Pa., to the present, little can be said of the activities, sacrifices, and devotions of the one which does not apply to the other of these Brumbaugh Bros." [*B. "John Boyer Brumbaugh was born in Penn Twp., Huntingdon Co., Pa., March 14, 1848; attended the common schools of that township until he was about seventeen years old, then went to a select school at Cassville, same county; attended Kishacoquillas Seminary for a time; taught in the public schools for five years; became associate editor of 'Christian Family Companion' (Tyrone, Pa.) for ten months; became office editor of 'The Pilgrim,' issued Jan. 1, 1870, at Marklesburg, Pa., as elsewhere noted, and remained closely associated in that publication with his brother, Henry Boyer Brumbaugh, until the consolidation with the 'Primitive Christian,' Oct. 31, 1876. He also attended Millersville and Shippensburg State Normal Schools (Pa.), spent one year at Crozer Seminary and a summer session in the School of Theology at Chicago University—part of this attendance was after his election to the ministry of the G. B. B. Church in 1888.

"Early in 1875, at the earnest solicitation of their cousin, and from a full realization of the necessity for a larger field for business and other activities, Henry Boyer Brumbaugh and John Boyer Brumbaugh moved their families and the publishing business to Huntingdon, Pa.

" 'Of those who figured prominently in the early history of Juniata College, no one has been more closely related to her inner life; no one more faithful and untiring in his devotion to the work, from the very beginning than has John Boyer Brumbaugh. In such a cause some personages necessarily stand out more prominently than others. But none the less important are those who humbly hide behind the more aggressive leaders and care for and zealously guard the very life of the institution. Such have been some of the members of the Board of Trustees, and amongst the first and truest has stood J. B. Brumbaugh. He it was who first interested Prof. Zuck in the movement at Huntingdon, and called him here. He and his good wife shared their home and table with Prof. Zuck for the first year, for which they received no compensation save the pleasure and inspiration of the presence of that noble hearted, godly man *. He has done much soliciting for the college, and until recently received no compensation, and even paid for his own traveling expenses. He was treasurer of the College until

1880, when he resigned. He has also devoted much time and study to teaching Bible classes in the College. As a man, he is energetic and zealous in every good cause; and always willing to sacrifice when there is sacrificing to be done. A good man!' [Juniata Echo, 1897.]

"He has continously served as trustee of Juniata College, and for years taught a class in the Life of Christ in the Bible Dept. of that institution; has been a member of the Mission Board of the Middle Dist. of Pa. for over 20 years, excepting one year; has been visiting pastor of the Huntingdon Church of the Brethren for over five years; and continues in that position—is also editor of the 'Church At Work,' the local church monthly.

"Mrs. Brumbaugh has also been closely and zealously connected with the development of the College, Church, Sunday School, and Orphans' Home at Huntingdon; and for many years has been supt. of the primary dept. of the Sunday School; 1902-03 was pres. of the local W. C. T. U. Her devotion and activities have been constant in all good works." [B. F. 562.]

"George Boyer Brumbaugh was born July 12, 1834 in Penn Twp., Huntingdon Co., Pa. He worked on his father's farm (the old Brumbaugh homestead) and attended public school at the 'Bowers school'; for one term went to a subscription school at Marklesburg to work up some branches not taught in the public school. He began teaching in 1849 and taught one term at the 'Summers schoolhouse,' one term at the 'Mill schoolhouse,' two terms at the 'Corner schoolhouse,' and two terms at the 'Peightal schoolhouse.'

"He was elected to the ministry of the German Baptist Brethren Church in 1863, while he resided on a farm on the banks of the Raystown branch of the Juniata River. At the request of his brother, Andrew Boelus Brumbaugh, M.D., who then lived in Marklesburg, he moved to that village in 1865, and engaged in general mercantile business in connection with his ministry. He is well known and is colloquially distinguished from his cousin George Brumbaugh, another minister in the James Creek Congregation of the Church of the Brethren (G. B. B. Ch.), as 'talking George,' which phrase indicates his natural eloquence and pulpit power.

"He was appointed by the court to make the survey of the original village of Marklesburg; and later made the survey for the extension of the boundaries of this borough; was borough engineer for many years; was a member of its first council and also of many subsequent councils. He served as burgess of the Borough, and also as a member of its school board. He was postmaster of James Creek (Marklesburg P. O.), Huntingdon, Pa., for twenty-four years, and at one time owned more acres of land than any other resident of Penn Twp. In his later years he retired from mercantile business and has returned to his early love—the farm—living near the borough limit of Marklesburg, Pa." [B. F. 519.]

"Andrew Boelus Brumbaugh, M.D., was born August 9, 1836, upon the old homestead farm in Penn Twp., Huntingdon Co., Pa. His education was begun in a subscription school prior to the establishment of an organized system of public education in Pennsylvania, and continued in the public schools, after which he taught nine years. He attended a select school ('Academia') near Newport, Perry Co., Pa., and Millersville State Normal School. While working upon his father's farm and at the carpenter's bench, he studied some of the higher branches, ever striving to better equip himself—'Life is real, life is earnest,' was often repeated by him to his son, and others —these words explaining his constant activity in bettering conditions about him.

"His early training was academic, not collegiate, but by private study and earnest application he became a thorough master of the classics and sciences, thus fitting himself for that large sphere in life to which ambition and destiny led him.

"October 11, 1859, he married Maria Baer Frank on the Frank farm in Penn Twp., Huntingdon Co., Pa. Her parents came from Lancaster Co., Pa., where the Brubakers, Baers and Franks have a long and interesting Mennonite ancestry.

"Andrew decided to make the practice of medicine his life work. While earning a living for his small family by working at the carpenter trade, with anatomy and other medical books open before him upon the work bench, he laid deeply the foundation for his later medical and surgical success. He also trained both hands, and became ambidextrous for his later surgical and other professional work. He matriculated at the Medical Dept. of the University of Pennsylvania, Oct., 1863, and graduated (M.D.) in the class of 1866, his thesis being 'The True System of Medical Electicism.' Prior to graduation he had acquired a considerable medical practice in Penn Twp., and at Marklesburg, as shown by his diaries for '62 and '63. His entry for Jan. 27, 1865, 43 yrs. before his death, shows his constant dependence upon the Heavenly Father: 'Had four patients today . May the Lord, in whom we trust, and on whom we rely, prosper and assist me and give me wisdom, that I may succeed fully in my calling. Amen!'

"October 12, 1864, the family moved from the homestead farm to Marklesburg. In April, 1866, he located in the office of the late Dr. Luden, in Huntingdon, Pa., and continued in active practice in this town until his death." [B. F. 521.]

Martin Grove Brumbaugh, A. M., M. S., Ph. D., LL. D., was born in Penn Twp., Huntingdon Co., Pa. "He taught in the public schools two years and graduated at Brethren's Normal College with the degree of Bachelor of English in 1881, and in 1883 was made Master of English by that institution. Continuing studies in science at Juniata College (of which he was president, 1892-1910), he took the B.S. degree there in 1885, and was made M. S. in 1887. In the meantime his active life as an educator had commenced with his service as professor of English Literature in Juniata College, 1882-84, and with the appointment as County Superintendent of Schools in Huntingdon County (Pa.); this latter office he held from 1884-90. In 1890-91 he was again professor of English Literature at Juniata. The next year was spent in graduate study at Harvard, and in 1892 Prof. Brumbaugh returned to Phila. to assume the duties of the president of Juniata College, and to pursue further studies at the Graduate School of the University of Pennsylvania, where the degree of A.M. was conferred upon him in 1893, and Ph. D. in 1895. It was but a natural consequence of a career in which the occupations of student and teacher have been so constantly and equally mingled, that the appointment as Professor of Pedagogy came to him from the University in 1894; as much a student as teacher himself, he is eminently fitted to teach the educators' profession." [Universities and Their Sons—U. of Pa.—Chamberlain, 1901, p 430.]

He was "State conductor of teachers' institutes in Louisiana, 1886-91; first commissioner of education in Porto Rico, 1900-03; professor of pedagogy at U. of Pa., 1895-00, and 1902-06: superintendent of public schools, Phila. since 1906; author History of the Brethren (1899); Juniata Bible Lecture (1897); Standard Reader (5 vols.); also (with J. S. Walton) Stories of Pennsylvania and Liberty Bell Leaflets; The Making of a Teacher (1905); Life and Works of Christopher Dock (1908); editor of Lippincott Educational Series." [Who's Who in America, 1910-11, p 251.]

Dr. Brumbaugh has always been in great demand as a lecturer at teachers' institutes throughout the country. In recognition of his work in the educational field he has been honored by many institutions, having received the degree of LL.D. from Mount Morris College, Franklin and Marshall College, Pennsylvania College, and the University of Pittsburgh. In 1914 he was elected Governor of Pennsylvania, serving a four year term, or during the period of the War. Since relinquishing the office of Governor, Dr. Brumbaugh has been engaged in the service of the United States Government in the Department of Vocational Training. Both Dr. Brumbaugh and his father were elected ministers of the German Baptist Brethren Church.

"Harman Custer was born in Norriton Twp., Montg. Co., Pa., and at the age of three years moved with his father to East Coventry Twp., Chester Co., Pa. At the age of eight, he left home and became a driver on the Schuylkill Canal, going as far as New York City, Hartford (Conn.), and other points. He spent seven years on the Canal, ending as a steersman. In 1863 it is said young Custer went to Alexandria with a load of coal for the use of the government, and on the Chesapeake Bay encountered a severe storm that would have tried the nerve of the most experienced men in the business.

"In 1864 he went to Pottstown and became an apprentice to the carpenter's trade. In 1867 he entered the employ of the P. & R. Rwy. as laborer, and has been in their employ ever since, serving as brakeman, fireman, and conductor, and engineer. In all these years he is said never to have had a wreck and never to have run into the rear of a train. Since 1880 he has been living in Bridgeport, Pa." [*Biog. Annals of Montg. Dr. Abraham Wagener and Dr. Melchior Hübner [E 17] were the only two physicians in the list of immigrant Schwenkfelders. Through his mother, Anna Jäckel, Dr. Wagener was a great grandson of the prominent Schwenkfelder, George Hauptman of Lauterseifen, Silesia. Dr. Wagener was one of the most learned men who came to Pennsylvania with the Schwenkfelder group. A Greek grammar deposited in the S. H. L. contains his signature showing that he was the owner of the book at the early age of twelve years.

Abraham Wagener began writing verse before he was eighteen years of age and continued the writing of poetry up to the time of his death; more than fifty of these poems have been preserved. Of the one hundred and nineteen hymns contributed by the Schwenkfelders to the Hymn Book of 1762, thirty-four were composed by Abraham Wagener, and thirteen were included in the edition of 1869, while only twenty-three of the whole number included in the 1762 edition were retained.

Dr. Wagener seems to have been an earnest, broad-minded Christian, and was a great reader. He collected poems of John Kelpius, wrote extensive biographical notes on Spener, and wrote a beautiful letter to Muhlenberg which is quoted in the "Hallesche Nachrichten."

In a volume entitled "Religious Denominations of the United States and Great Britain," (1861) Dr. Wagener is listed as a Schwenkfelder preacher. However, no evidence has been discovered to substantiate this statement. On the contrary we know that Dr. Wagener was not in accord with the strict views of George Weiss and his successor, Balthaser Hoffman, the first two Schwenkfelder ministers. He was considered an heretic, as he read a number of non-Schwenkfelder books, and no doubt influenced the various Beyer families, who were his neighbors, as well as his brother, Melchior, since they did not adhere to the Schwenkfelder doctrine and organization. Dr. Wagener was identified with the "Associated Brethren of the Skippack" who met at the house of Christopher Wiegner.

In addition to the many hymns contributed to the Bohemian Hymnbook, we know that Dr. Wagener wrote the following which bears the date of 1742: "Das kleine A. B. C. in der Schule Christi."

Although Dr. Wagener was not in accord with the views of the Schwenkfelder ministers of his time, he seems not to have felt any animosity towards the Schwenkfelders as a whole. According to the B. H. Records in the S. H. L., Rev. Christopher Schultz preached the funeral sermon of Dr. Abraham Wagener, his text being Luke 23:11. From the same source we also learn that Maria Wagener, wife of Dr. Abraham Wagener, who died Mar. 19, 1760, was ill but eight days before her death.

The broadmindedness of the man is shown in his will. It has been stated that the will of Dr. Abraham Wagener was the most generous and benevolent of any of the immigrant Schwenkfelders. The original will which is preserved in the records of City Hall, Phila., is written in German, in the clear handwriting of Dr. Wagener. The translation accompanying the will was made by his brother, Melchior Wagener.

That Dr. Wagener prized his books highly is shown by the detailed manner in which he disposed of them. The bequest to the Pennsylvania Hospital of twenty pounds is even more generous than that which Benjamin Franklin, the founder, bequeathed to the same institution. In his will Dr. Wagener also bequeathed money to the poor and needy not only among the Schwenkfelders, but also among those of other denominations. The sum thus bequeathed amounted to £448. 12s. 3½d.; and the will directed that the entire sum should be distributed within ten or twelve years, but if it seemed best, fifteen or twenty pounds might be reserved for a few years longer for cases of necessity, exclusively among the Schwenkfelders. The testator named Hans Christopher Heebner in Worcester, Melchior Kriebel or his son, David, in North Wales, Christopher Kriebel in Skippack, and Melchior Schultz, Jr., in Goshenhoppen, as the distributors of this money. And it became a source of relief to hundreds of men and women without regard to profession or creed whether English or German, white or black, free or slave. Annually for ten years these distributions went into all that region lying between New Jersey on the east and the Juniata Valley on the west, Allentown and Easton on the north, and Maryland on the south, and at least one sum of forty pounds went to the relief of the Schwenkfelders in Silesia.

From Christopher Heebner's account we learn that this money (each of the four trustees dispensed about eighty-nine pounds together with some books) was distributed over a large area, covering places in Northampton, Lancaster, York, Berks, and Cumberland Counties in Pa., and also in New York. It was given to poor persons who had been unfortunate through accidents or fires, and also for the establishment of schools and churches. Amongst the recipients of this fund we find the names of Christoph Schubert, Abraham Schubert, Melchior Krauss, Barbara Reinwald and Rosina Wiegnerin. [S. H. L.]

The will also provided that in the first year after the decease of the testator, ten pounds of this fund was to be expended for Bibles, New Testaments and Psalm books, German and English; Schwenkfelder, Lutheran and Reformed Hymn Books; and that these should be distributed to poor children and adults. Moreover, twenty pounds of the same fund was devised to the Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia towards carrying on the charitable design of the said institution.

An instance of especial need in 1768 led to the establishment of the Schwenkfelder Charity Fund as we know it today. The first entry in the accounts of this fund was made on March 21, 1774, when £4. 11s. 8d. was received as the balance of money previously accumulated, either by Sabbath contributions or otherwise, for charitable purposes; and from 1774 to 1778 inclusive, the Wagener bequest annually yielded specific amounts to the fund.

The Wagener bequest is a unique example of broadminded, Christian charity in the Colonial History of Pennsylvania, and in a peculiar way emphasizes the spirit of fraternity which Schwenckfeld contended must pervade the community of Christian believers.

The original will is in German in the handwriting of Dr. Wagener. It was translated into English by Melchior Wagener. The appraisers were Jacob Umstat and Abraham Heiderich. The appraisement amounted to 1376 pounds, 14 shillings, and the increase at the sale of the estate was 138 pounds, 11 shillings, and 6 pence; the balance for distribution was 1345 pounds, 16 shillings, and 11 pence.

Mr. George Sheppard of Penn Yan, N. Y., has in his possession the Account Book of Dr. Abraham Wagener, which he used while practicing medicine in Worcester, Pa. That Dr. Wagener's practice extended beyond the confines of his native township is shown by the following receipt which appears in "Heckler's History of Lower Salford Township":

"Receipt:—

To Doctors Wagner and Mayers for mede £0–2–3, 1763, the 21st day of March.
Paid by the Overseer of the Poor of L. Salford."

For much of the data pertaining to the families of Melchior Wagener and his descendants who settled in New York State, the Editor is indebted to Mr. George S. Sheppard of Penn Yan, N. Y.[192–77], who kindly put at the Editor's disposal all data that he had collected on this branch of the Wagener family. Mr. Sheppard spent many years in gathering the material and without the aid of these "Sheppard Manuscripts" it would have been impossible to complete these early family records.

For the services of Melchior Wagener in the Revolution, and also for other facts concerning his life, credit is due Mrs. Ethel (Hickman) Righter [192–304], who has spent much time in searching the records of that period.

WILL OF MELCHIOR WAGENER

[The original will and papers of Melchior Wagener are in file No. 7289, Norristown, Pa. The date of death did not appear on the index nor immediately with the papers. The will was proved November 29, 1784, and is transcribed in Will Book No. 1, page 9. An inventory was filed November 29, 1784; and an account of the disposition of the estate was filed February 2, 1787. The name of the daughter's, Susanna's, husband is Philip Clumberg. About one-fourth of a page of the original will is missing, and a few words were also missing by portions of the paper being torn off in other places. [192–6] 2. Peter, Jr., b Feb. 8, 1778; d Apr. 15, 1859; m Hannah Eastburn.

Peter Supplee who married Susanna Wagener was the sixth child of Hance and Magdaline Supplee. He was born in Upper Merion Twp., Montg. Co., Pa. When the Revolutionary War broke out Peter Supplee was living with his wife on the old Supplee homestead in Worcester Twp., Pa. He volunteered as a soldier in the Revolutionary army and joined Capt. Charles Wilson Peale's Company of Philadelphia Militia. This company belonged to the 4th Battalion of the Phila. Reg. of Foot. Jacob and John Supplee, his younger brothers, were also soldiers in the Revolutionary War and served in the same company with Peter. Jacob was the twelfth and John the thirteenth child of the family.

Peter Supplee died at Valley Forge on January 24, 1778; his remains were taken to Worcester and buried in the Bethel Cemetery. On November 28, 1903, a monument was erected over his grave by his descendants and bears the following inscription:

"In memory of Peter Supplee,
A Revolutionary Soldier,
Born Sept. 2nd, 1745, Enlisted Sept. 12, 1777,
Died whilst encamped at Valley Forge,
January 24, 1778,
A Martyr to Liberty."

Peter Supplee was a descendant of Andris Souplis, a soldier and officer in the French army, who arrived in Philadelphia in 1684. For further data concerning the Supplee family and for Peter Supplee's service in the Revolution, vid. Biographical Annals of Montg. Co. (Pa.), Vol. II, p 351 sqq.

[192–3b] SUSANNA (WAGENER) SUPPLEE, widow of Peter Supplee, Sr., m 2nd time, PHILIP CLUMBERG. Susanna Wagener Supplee and her daughter, Rachel, moved to Genesee Co., N. Susanna is buried in the Sheppard lot in Penn Yan, N. Y.; the name on the tombstone is given as Susanna Clanford; the names of her children buried here are also given as Clanford; furthermore, she and her children conveyed property under the name of Clanford that had been conveyed to her under the name of Clumberg. In the record of a deed of property given her by her brother, David, in 1799, her name is given as Susanna Clumberge. [George Sheppard, Penn Yan, N. Y.]

From the above data it would seem that Susanna Wagener was married three times, but no other data concerning this marriage have been found.

The name of Srt. Philip Clumberg, Jr., is found in the list of Philadelphia Militia. This probably refers to the above named husband of Susanna (Wagener) Supplee.

"David Wagner in addition to inheriting his father's farm in Worcester became the owner of another farm across the road from where he lived. In 1901 this farm was owned by James Cassel, and was tenanted by Irwin Evans. This was one of the oldest dwellings in Worcester, and was a stone farm house, the datestone having the inscription 'Erected in 1733 by H. S. [Hance Supplee].'

"In 1781 the farm was conveyed by Andrew and Abraham Supplee to David Waggoner. In 1788 David Waggoner conveyed the same to Anna Waggoner and removed to the Genesee country in western New York. In 1792 Anna Waggoner, then of Jerusalem, Ontario Co., N. Y., through her attorney, Barnabus Bunn, sold the same in two parts. The larger part comprising 149¾ acres was sold to Benjamin Weber, and the smaller part or northern corner to Mordecai Jones; this latter part was included in what was recently known as the 'Berks and Frick' farms.

"According to Hance Supplee who was born in 1768, a council of war was held on the Cassel farm the day before the Battle of Germantown, of which he as a boy ten years of age was an eye witness. According to his story Gen. Nathaniel Greene had his headquarters near the house of Magdalena Supple, the boy's grandmother, with whom he lived, near the Skippack road, Washington's army being encamped in the neighborhood. Mr. Supplee stated that on October second he saw General Washington call on General Greene and that they had a long talk by themselves. The next day Washington called again with other officers on foot and mounted, and they went into the meadow. Forming a semi-circle they faced General Washington holding their swords in front of their faces. They stayed in this position for quite a long time, after which each officer went to his command, General Greene coming into the house and going to his room. The soldiers were encamped on the surrounding hills.

"The next morning not a soldier nor officer could be seen, but sounds of guns could be heard, as the Battle of Germantown was being fought. In the afternoon the soldiers were seen coming up the Skippack road in full retreat and were in a demoralized condition. At times they would travel very slowly, seeming ready to give out; then a report would come that they were being pursued by the British, and they would again go on a full run. A trooper was riding along up the road with a foot soldier riding behind, both on one horse. When opposite to where the boy stood, the hindmost soldier dropped off, but the cavalryman rode on as if he did not notice the loss of his companion. The foot soldier was found to be dead, having been shot through the body, and he was buried in the field by the roadside on the Supplee farm. The grandmother's horses were taken to help on the retreat. The boy was sent to bring the horses back, but they were retained until the next day when they were returned safely.

"The boy described General Washington as a large heavy man, over six feet tall, with a dignified look, his face slightly marked with small pox. He said he heard that General Lee misbehaved himself at Monmouth and previous to that was not liked by his soldiers.

"The above narrative was told in 1844 by Hance Supplee to his grandson, Thomas R. Supplee." [Edward Matthews.]

"On October 19, 1782, Jemima Wilkinson came to the home of David Wagener where she found a credulous and ready welcome among the Germans of that neighborhood, and Wagener became infatuated with her, she making her home at both of his farms. She and her followers lived at his expense till it is said they nearly ate him out of house and home.

"In 1797 David Wagener sold his abandoned farm in Worcester to David Styer of Whitpain.

"Abraham Wagener, the younger brother, also removed to western New York, buying land upon the present site of the village of Penn Yan, and becoming very wealthy.

"Joseph Supplee, son of Samuel Supplee, who was a grandson of Hance Supplee, paid a visit to the home of Abraham Wagener, his uncle, in Penn Yan in the fall of 1831, traveling the entire distance of more than two hundred and fifty miles on foot in seven days. With a companion he started from Montgomery Square, Montg. Co., Pa., on November 11, arriving at their destination on November 17. He returned in the spring on horseback. Mr. Supplee also made a trip to Niagara Falls and Buffalo and wrote an interesting account, the manuscript of which was still extant a few years ago." [Edward Matthews.]

DAVID WAGENER

[From an article published in "The Yates County Chronicle" in the year 1870]

"David Wagener, the common ancestor of the Wagener family of Yates County, was the son of 'Melchoir and Gertraut' Wagener, and was born in the township of Worcester, County of Philadelphia, in the State of Pennsylvania, on the 13th day of January, 1752. (O. S.) From a partial autobiography in his own handwriting, a copy of which has been kindly furnished to the Yates County Historical Society, it appears that his family was a good and reputable one in those parts; that he resided with his father until about seventeen years of age, and as he says, 'was brought up as a farmer's son, and had no more learning than to scarcely read and write the German and English languages.' 'About this time,' he says, 'also came the people called Methodists by whom I was greatly alarmed, as also many more in the neighborhood,' and he speaks of opposition of parents and friends to his attendance upon the preaching of those early and earnest disciples of John Wesley. The opposition seems to have resulted in his going to Baltimore. This was about the year 1772. 'When I came to Philadelphia,' he continues, 'the way seemed not open to go to New York, but a way was opened Southward. In a few days I set out for Baltimore, and I arrived with some danger on the waters, but was preserved; found no one in my travels that was any comfort to me until I had found in the city of Baltimore some of the people called Methodists, with whom I had great satisfaction. I was in this place about three months, in which time I was made to believe it was right for me to partake of the ancient ordinance in Gospel terms, and was baptized with water by one of the aforesaid ministers. But it was no essential part with me at that time nor is it yet, after which I had also a right to the Lord's Supper, so called, which I also carefully and as I thought faithfully observed, and partook of often; but it also was not the bread & waters of life to my soul, as many believed it to be; there was still something greater than that I looked for; and could not find by all my seeking and doing, although I rose often comforted and strengthened to go yet forwards and not rest short of the true and living way which I thought was attainable. In this place I met with many tryals, also some of my friends would have me tarry. My father enquired much where I might be, and at length heard where I was. He soon sent a message after me, with letters of invitation to me to come home and live with him, promising Liberty to me if I came. Being overprevailed by his proffers, and also the advise of my friends here, I consented to return. My particular friends here were the ministers of the aforesaid people, which were Joseph Gilmor, John Ken—, Robert Williams, John Bordman, and Robert Strawbridge, by whom I was baptised.'

In the year 1774, he married at Philadelphia, Rebecca Supplee, daughter of Hans Supplee. Referring to this event he says: 'When the Lord saw that the reign was given to the lust of flesh and the pride of life he provided a companion for me of an honest, reputable family, who were also taken with the doctrine of the people called Methodists, of the name of Supplee, one of whose daughters was for me it appears, and after the acquaintance and so-called courtship of near four years, we were married together according to the custom of the Episcopal church order by one Mr. Stringer of the city; then was the common saying made manifest after having taken a wife, therefore I cannot come. The Love and Duty that should have been given to the Lord was given to a loving wife. . . . . .'

For some years the worthy and excellent pioneer settler of the town of Milo had been attracted by the quiet and unobstrusive piety of the Friends, then numerous and powerful in Pennsylvania, of whom he remarks: 'I had to seek yet further again, and found the principles of the once renowned people by the living God, called Quakers, to be nearest to the Scripture truths as I had been favored to understand them.'

And now, in year 1782, there came from Rhode Island to Philadelphia, with a retinue of Friends, an illustrious lady, Jemima Wilkinson, 'The Public Universal Friend,' who soon afterwards became the pioneer leader, whose mission it was to open the wilderness which then covered the soil of Yates County, and lead in the conversion of its forest-clad hills and valleys, threaded only by the Indian trail, into abodes of comfort and plenty. Concerning this visit David Wagener writes as follows:

'In the year 1782, ye 19th of ye 8th mo., came to my house in Worcester, The Public Universal Friend, accompanied by Thomas Hathaway, William Potter and his son Arnold and daughter, also William Turpin and Sarah Brown, from New England, Rhode Island State, all as entire strangers in this part of the world. They appeared as a people that feared God and worked Righteousness, and had the living Gospel of Jesus Christ among them, to deliver to the inhabitants of the world.' This appears to have been the first visit of the Friend to Philadelphia. 'The said Universal Friend tarried three days at my house, and had two public meetings at the Bethel meeting house. A great concourse of people attended; the power of the Gospel was effectual to the conversion of all that heard. . . . . .' He says but a few followed, that his love towards the Friend was great, and 'after the end of those days continuing with us, the Friend returned towards New England again and I accompanied them to Bethelehem and East-town, near on to fifty miles north from my house.'

The effect of the Friend's discourses on his mind was decided and powerful. Referring to them he says: 'When I heard the Gospel's Trump sound, I knew it was the true sound, and that it was with great power from on high, even to the convincing and converting of souls that heard and obeyed the counsel delivered.'

In 1784 the Friend again visited Philadelphia, the record being as follows: 'In the 8th mo., 1784 had knowledge of the Universal Friend and Ab'm Dayton, Eliz's Holmes, Arnold Potter and Sarah Brown being in the city. Went down to see and hear them with renewed satisfaction. After a few days the Friend and all came to my house and had public meetings at my house and several other places and multitudes of hearers attended, truly such as never was known amongst us, but also many hearers, but very few doers. At this time I had opportunity of conversing and improving my much respected Friend, of whom I had heard the truth and the whole counsel of the Lord declared.'

Here the autobiographical sketch of the early life of David Wagener, written by himself at Worcester in or about the year 1787, closes, and this part of his history cannot be more feelingly supplemented than in the following authentic letter from the Friend. The almost apostolic solemnity and fervent piety of this letter with the sinking of self and the exaltation of the love, power and majesty of the Deity, are of themselves sufficient to dissipate a host of calumnies and falsehoods with which ignorance or prejudiced bigotry have sought to cover the life and memory of the Friend."

"South Kingston, ye 17th of ye 9th mo. 1787

"The Universal Friend to David Wagener sendeth greeting:

"This comes with my love to thee and thy family. O do, dear soul, haste, Escape for thy Life; up! get thee out of this place for the Lord will destroy it; tarry not in all the plains of Sodom for there is no place there for soul to sit down to rest in. Never take up satisfied with anything short of that inward living and eternal substance, Christ within, the hope of glory. Pictures of Bread won't satisfy the hungering soul; nothing but that Living Bread that has come down from Heaven can ever satisfy a soul that doth truly hunger and thirst after Righteousness. I don't feel to be changed nor altered, but feel that same Love to Souls that are desiring to do well that I ever did; and so I intreat of thee for thy Soul's sake to lay aside every weight and the sin that serves so easily to beset thee and run with patience the race set before thee, looking to Jesus, who is the author of faith, and if thou art faithful, will be the finisher of they Salvation I expect ———————— will be the bearer of this. I send her in my name and stead; do receive her as thou would me, for whatsoever is done unto her, I shall look upon it done unto me. I have just received thy money fro the Boulting Cloth, and have sent it to thee. My love to thy wife and family and Anna, and all friends, and do well for one soul that thee may not lose thy reward, and watch and pray that thee enter not into temptation, saith the Universal Friend to David Wagener."

Degree, in so much that yea are Deemed Honourable in their Sight and amongst them your Religious Performances are of little Value or Weight amongst the wicked People that the Enemy of all Good is not the least offended with you but is at perfect peace with you, and you do not precieve these things and dont Consider that they which live in the favour of the Lord and walk in his ways faithfully in this Day and Generation do suffer like persecution as well as your fathers in their Day and Generation, Therefore lift up your head, and look about you and See If there be a people in this Day time that Suffer like reproatchfull persecution, and know what the Lord is about for to do on the Earth, Be assured that the Lord is About to gather a people to himself in our Day and Generation a peculiar people that will Serve him in the beauty of Holiness, yea the Promised People amongst whom He will Manifest himself and be their God and Dwell with them even on this Earth and they Shall be his people and he will be their God and reign with them a 1000d years, Be asurd Dear Souls the fullnis of the time is Come, the Prophisies of the Lord are Surely fulfilling [we do know it] of the Great and terible Judgments of God, whose wrath is full and he will avenge himself of his adversaries and Make an Utter end of Sin and Unrighteousness on the whole face of the Earth, and bring in and Establish an Undesturbed Righteousnes on the face of the Whole Earth the Great Work is begun and going on the Universal World and few their be that have eves to See or Ears to hear or a heart to Understand and know the Great and Strange Work of the Lord that he will do in our Day Altho a man declare it unto them as the Lord Spake by his Servants to the Prophets, Now Dear Souls the Lord is willing to reclaim you again and Manifest himself amongst you as in old time amongst your fathers, but on no other terms at all no new way no New Gosple nor on no other Condition but by Repentance and faith in Jesus Christ who is Still the Saviour of his people as aforetime, and as the Lord hath Set his Hand the second time to recover his people Israel, I do desire that you Should know it, and not let the day of Vissitation pass away unknown to you and you be left on the barren Mountain to perish and Die the Eternal Death wilst you may live the eternal life and rejoice in God with the lamb and the Saints who will get the victory, know also that you must Sease from your own works and lay aside the order and work of Man in the transgressing Nature and become renewed in heart and Mind or else there can be no room in the Heart for the work of the Lord know of of a truth that the Lord will teatch his People himself in this Day and that by his Spirit within the Heart and how my My Friends Can the Lord teatch us if we will not put away the teatching of one another according to Human Learning know yet not the letter killeth but the Spirit maketh alive. I fear Greatly it hath been the Case too much with your present Generation, they have the letteral Gosple, and Nothing of the Power of God and the Opperation of his Spirit upon your Souls and have need to enquire for the word of the Lord which Came to the Fathers of Old which caused them to fear and tremble greatly in the Presents of the Lord and under the Operative power of the Spirit of God who know that the Gosple of Jesus Christ was the power of God unto Salvation to them that obed it and it is the Same to me this Day and O that it were to you also and to all people Sure I am they would Sease from their own works or Performances and wait on and for the Lord to Speak pray or Sing and would only Move in his the Lord' time and then their worship would be excepted being according to his Holy Order in Spirit and in the truth, Once more I Say lift up your head, look about and See, If yea may See and know the times and the Great Destruction that Determined on the whole race of man that resteth in Sin and wickednes And that there's a High Way Cast up for the tranformed once to walk in and make their escape out of the overthro of the wicked and that there's a place provided on Earth for the Righteous to hide themselves a little Season untill these Calamities be overpast, I have much to Say but little time to convey to your Idea the Mercies of which I have been favoured with from on high, and If they Should be Idle tales to you because they come from So mean an Instrument, I shall be escused having done My Errand, farewell Saith your Friend in the truth ——— David Wagener To The Swenkfeld Society."

JEMIMA WILKINSON.

The story of the career of Jemima Wilkinson is one of the interesting phases connected with the history of the David Wagener Family. So many stories are current concerning the life and activities of this remarkable woman that it is difficult to determine the exact status of her actions or her influence upon the communities in which she dwelt. Various biographies of Jemima Wilkinson, the "Universal Friend," and the society which she formed are to be found in the libraries. So many diverse stories are told by these biographers that it is difficult at this time to conclude how much is fanciful and how much is real fact. Perhaps the most reliable account is to be found in "Memoirs of the Wilkinson Family," by Rev. Israel Wilkinson, 1869, though other accounts will be found in Cleveland's "History of Yates County, N. Y.," and "Jemima Wilkinson" by Hudson.

Jemima Wilkinson, daughter of Jeremiah and Elizabeth (Whipple) Wilkinson was born Nov. 29, 1752, in Cumberland, R. I., and died July 1, 1819, in Jerusalem, Yates County, N. Y. Jemima was the eighth of twelve children, and was always noted for her singular characteristics. When she was about eighteen years of age a religious excitement in Providence County, R. I., caused by the preaching of the distinguished George Whitfield, made a serious impression upon the mind of Jemima. She seemed to have been transformed into a serious, plain contemplative recluse. Casting aside her fine apparel and secluding herself from her gay companions, and public and private parties, she spent her time in attending religious meetings and sought the company of those who were seriously inclined. About 1775 a fever broke out in the town of Cumberland and attacked the Wilkinson family. Jemima exerted herself to help care for the sick; by constant exposure she was brought under the terrible influence of the disease and for a long time her life was despaired of. One night suddenly about twelve o'clock she rose from her bed and demanded her clothes, having been in a trance for half an hour, lying motionless and apparently breathless. This sudden recovery surprised her attendants, but as she had previously pretended to see visions and had recounted to others the wonderful revelations that had been made to her, they were not alarmed. But now she claimed she had died and had been raised from the dead, that her carnal existence was ended and that henceforth her life was to be spiritual and divine; that she was no longer "Jemima Wilkinson," but had been re-animated by the spirit and power of Jesus Christ, and had become a friend of all mankind and was hereafter to be known as the "Universal Friend." She now claimed to be endowed with power of prophecy and of performing miracles. Having secured her clothing she immediately got up, knelt by her bedside and prayed, and from that time forward went about in as good health as she usually enjoyed, only somewhat feeble and emaciated as a result of what she had undergone.

Hudson says, she feigned sickness and then told a long absurd story about foolish tricks she played on her watchers. The fact is, that her recovery was sudden, and that she had been very ill. The Sabbath following, against the remonstrances of her friends, she went to church and at the close of the services addressed the congregation under a shade tree in the churchyard. From this time forward she began holding meetings, studying the Bible, and quoting it with great ease. The fame of her eloquence spreading to other towns, she was invited to go abroad and preach. She made circuits throughout New England and various stories are current regarding her assertions that she was able to perform miracles. Wherever she went she made proselytes; very frequently they were men of influence and high standing in society. In 1780 at Kingston, R. I., it is stated that Judge Potter became an enthusiastic and devoted follower, and that he built a large addition to his already spacious mansion, containing fourteen rooms and bedrooms. Her influence controlled his entire household, including the servants and the income of his great estate. She made his home her headquarters for about six years. It is stated that Judge Potter was her principal agent in procuring land for her in the state of New York, where she later built a Friends' settlement. In the summer of 1782 she went to Philadelphia attended by a few followers. Abraham Supplee, a Methodist preacher and brother of the wife of David Wagener, lived in Worcester, Montgomery County, Pa.; having heard Jemima preach in the city of Phila. a number of times, he invited her and her companions to his house in Worcester. She accepted his invitation and it is stated that she sometimes had an audience of two thousand people to hear her preach. David Wagener attended these meetings and became interested in her discourses; a disagreement taking place between Abraham Supplee and the "Universal Friend," David Wagener invited her to his house, and he and his wife became devoted friends and followers.

Various stories are told concerning the career of Jemima Wilkinson while she remained at Wagener's house. Space forbids rehearsing more than one or two or these tales as told by Hudson. He states that Jemima Wilkinson arrived in Worcester in December, 1787; that she was followed by officers to search for stolen property, part of which was found. She fled by night with Wagener's horse and wagon, reaching Bushkill Creek, seventy miles away, where she was overtaken the next morning.

During the last residence of Jemima in Worcester, she and her household subsisted entirely upon David Wagener's means, and he became involved in debt. "His property was dissipated, his business deranged, and he himself was loaded with debts which he could not discharge without sacrificing his real estate which consisted of three very large and valuable farms in a high state of cultivation and capable of yielding a handsome revenue. After striving for three years to redeem his shattered fortune he at length sank under the pressure of his embarrassments. He disposed of all his property, and with the little pittance that remained after paying his debts, followed Jemima to the Land of Promise, 'Jerusalem,' this being the name of the place where she settled, near the head of the West Branch of Crooked Lake, about twelve miles west of Seneca Lake.

"During the last sixteen years of Jemima's life she was involved in a continuous series of litigations and died July 1, 1819. She at one time had a domestic named Anna Styer, who sometime after joining the society became partially deranged and committed suicide. Her friend, Mr. Wagener, was probably one of the most obedient and devoted disciples in her whole train." [Hudson.]

In 1798 David Wagener, disposed of his property in Worcester and settled in Yates County, N. Y., and became a member of the New Jerusalem colony founded by Jemima. One story current is that David Wagener himself drove with his family and Jemima Wilkinson from Worcester to what is now Penn Yan, N. Y., in his carriage. An old carriage is still exhibited (1920) in Penn Yan which is called the "Jemima Wilkinson carriage," owned and preserved by G. H. Remer. It is stated that this is the carriage in which Mr. Wagener drove Jemima to New York. Tradition also states that when Wagener started from Worcester he went out in his orchard, cut a branch from an apple tree to use as a whip when driving his horses; and that when he arrived in New York, he stuck this stick in the ground, which grew into an apple tree from which was developed the Wagener apple. Impossible as this story is, the fact is that the Wagener apple was propagated by his son, Abraham Wagener. For the history of the Wagener apple, see "Apples of New York," pages 354-356, a publication of the New York State Agricultural Society.

In this lake country Jemima Wilkinson and her followers founded New Jerusalem, the Land of Promise, where she proposed establishing an asylum for the oppressed where they could worship God under their own "vine and fig tree" with no one to molest them or make them afraid. Followers from New England and Pennsylvania congregated at this place and later established the town of Penn Yan.

Although it is stated that Jemima ruined Mr. Wagener, Judge Potter and other wealthy men, the fact that they followed her to New Jerusalem, where they became the first men of the county in wealth, influence, and respectability, does not bear out these statements. Here a log house was first built for her; later on a large gable-roofed house was erected which was said to be the first frame house built in western New York, and which was still standing in recent years. It is stated that fourteen thousand acres were purchased for the colony at twenty-five cents an acre. Troubles arising, law suits followed, and the latter part of her life was devoted to defending these law suits, and the colony disintegrated.

Although Jemima had her maids of honor, or her "two witnesses" as she called them, she gave the names of ancient prophets to some of her followers. In our day she probably would be called a spiritualist or a clairvoyant, and there is no doubt that she wielded a tremendous influence over the groups of people with whom she came in contact. Her will disposed of her property by giving it, both real estate and personal, to the friends who remained faithful to her, and not to the descendants of those who first gave it to her or enabled her to acquire this property, much to the dissatisfaction and disgust of these same descendants.

LETTER OF PETER SUPPLEE TO RACHEL SHEPPARD

[Copied from Sheppard Ms.]

Charlestown, Chester County, Oct. 17, 1823.

"Dear Sister:

I am favored once more with an opportunity of writing a few lines to you. I feel very happy to hear from Lena Castner that you and your family were all in good health, and all our connections in your country seem to same inestimable blessing. Your poor unworthy brother has suffered very much this two years past under the afflictive hand of providence. Last fall was a year I took the fever and again the 1st October and it continued with me till the 10th of February, then I was taken with the Typhus billious fevers which brought me nearly to the verge of the grave but blessed be the name of the Lord he has delivered me through all my troubles and diseases and I still remain one of the monuments of his Mercy. I would wish to be resigned and say Lord thy will be done. I have been some sick this fall but am now in the recovery but feel very weak, whilst writing this letter. I would wish you to write to me what the profits of our land amounts to yearly and whether our land is divided from John's with a good fence and whether the land is getting better or worse. I think if Brother Morris has a chance of selling the land at a tolerable good price, we had better agree to sell it together and not divide at all. I think you had best buy me out it will be valuable some day being so near the County town. Please to answer this as convenient. We all join in sending our respects to you, Brother Morris and family. Don't forget to give our respects to Aunt Ann, Aunt Mary, Uncle Joe, all our relations. No more at present.

Your Brother
Peter Supplee"

ABRAHAM WAGENER AND THE FIRST SETTLEMENT OF PENN YAN

[From the Dundee Record, January 14, 1852: Courtesy of Samuel Castner, Phila.]

"The Wagener family is a very ancient one, and its branches may be found in several States of the Union, and in our own State of New York, where it is distinguished by the omission of a letter, being written as Wagener or Wagner.

Abraham Wagener was born on the 29th day of November, 1774, in the town of Norriton, Montgomery County Pennsylvania, sixteen miles north of Philadelphia, and is consequently now in the 78th year of his age. His father, David Wagener, was a respectable farmer, and became in his own state one of the followers of the celebrated Jemima Wilkinson, and a member of the Society of Universal Friends, at an early period, and with that remarkable woman and her followers came to the State of New York, in the year 1791, and formed a settlement in the wilderness. The first location of the new society, was called the Friends Settlement, and was on the west bank of the Seneca Lake, in the south part of what is now called the town of Torrey, in the county of Yates. The new town was then called by the appropriate name of Jerusalem, and embraced all the territory in the present county of Yates (excepting Starkey and Barrington) and was then part of the then unorganized county of Ontario.

A grist-mill had been erected in the year 1790, on the outlet of the Crooked Lake, called the Friend's mill, by James Parker, Abraham Dayton and Richard Smith, of which David Wagener, in 1791, became the owner of one half—and which continued for many years to be the only mill in the county—and was rather primitive in its construction; yet the mill house was the centre of business and the scene of the transaction of all the town and public affairs.

The subject of this sketch came to the settlement [Jemima Wilkinson], in October, 1792, and has since resided for a period of sixty years in the now county of Yates. At the time of his arrival, the settlement embraced about sixty-two families, all of whom belonged to the Society of Friends, and the names of the heads of which we here give, as a matter of interest to all the readers of the Record:

Jedediah Holmes,
Asahel Stone,
George Sisson,

Jonathan and Reuben Luther, resided with their mother.

It will be borne in mind, that these are all the names of heads of families, in 1792; many others of our oldest and most respected families came in shortly after, such as Richard Henderson, Samuel Kress, Andrew Robelier or Raplee, &c.

At this time, the Indians were still living, in large numbers, on the lands of the settlement, claiming their rights as lords of the soil, and the forests abounded with bear, deer, wolves, and all other wild animals of a new region. The Indians retained possession of the lands, claiming that the white people had failed to pay for them, according to agreement. To remove this difficulty, Messrs. Phelps & Gorham, after much trouble, got their consent to hold a treaty, which they could only do by procuring the Quakers to unite with them, so great was the influence, and wide spread was the reputation of the integrity of the followers of Miquon (William Penn) amongst the savage owners of the wilderness. This treaty was held at Canandaigua in 1793 or 1794, there being present Red Jacket, Corn-Planter, Farmer's-Brother and John Blacksmith, Chiefs of the Senecas, on the part of the Indians, and Oliver Phelps and Nathaniel Gorham, the celebrated interpreter, Major Jones, and four of the plain and peaceful Quakers, on the part of the white, and the treaty was consummated and the Indians ever after quiet and peaceable. At this treaty Abraham Wagener was present and had the pleasure of listening to the powerful native eloquence of Red Jacket (Sa-ga-ye-watha, or Keeper awake).

On the 26th of May, 1796, he married his first wife, Mary Casner, sister of the late Samuel Casner, of Milo. When they commenced house-keeping, they brought all their worldly wealth on two Indian ponies, and first settled at Himrod's Corners, in the town of Milo, where they lived three years.

In the year 1796, his father, David Wagener, became the owner of the land where the village of Penn Yan now stands, and built the first grist-mill at Penn Yan, in the same year, on the south side of the outlet, on the side where Jillett's mill now stands. On the 26th of August, 1799, David Wagener died, and was the first person buried in the grave yard at Penn Yan. He left his lands at Penn Yan, (276 acres) to his two sons, Melchoir and Abraham; those on the south side of the outlet being left to Melchoir and his mother, and those on the north to Abraham. The first quarter of the 276 acres was purchased for four dollars an acre in 1796, of Lewis Birdsall, who bought of Robert Chissom and he purchased of George Wheeler, who derived his title directly from Phelps and Gorham. A most unpromising heritage it seemed to the subject of this sketch, being covered with scrubby pine bushes and underbrush, and large portion of it being low, swampy ground.

During the year 1796, Jemima Wilkinson removed from the gore where she first settled, in the permanent settlement of the friends in the present town of Jerusalem.

Upon the death of his father, in 1799, Mr. Wagener came on the lands left him by his father, and erected the first frame building within the bounds of the village of Penn Yan, being a part of the tavern stand formerly owned by Miles Benham, and occupied, at the time it was burnt, in 1841, by Elijah S. Ryno, into which he moved on the first of January, 1800. At this time there were three log cabins on the banks of Jacob's Brook (named for Jacob Wagener) occupied by Indians and their families. The second frame house was built by Doctor John Dorman, and was the Old Red House, a part of which is now occupied by Charles V. Bush, as a house-builder's shop, on the east side of Main Street; it was built in 1800. The third frame house was the one now situated on the south side of Elm Street, nearly opposite the residence of Abraham N. Wagener, Esq.; and the fourth was the school-house still standing on the west side of Main Street, on the premises of the late Frederick H. Rhode. In this last named building, a few years later, the first religious meetings were held, and at a still later period, Rev. Richard Williams (Presbyterian) was first preacher.

In 1801, Mr. Wagener took active measures, and assisted in cutting a new road from Canandaigua to Newtown, (now Elmira,) by the head of the Seneca Lake, which was made a mail-route, and a post office (the first in Yates county) was established at his house, and he was appointed post master, (the name of the post office being Jerusalem) and held the office for fourteen years.

The new village began now to assume her station, and, feeling her importance, began to look about for a name. By its citizens it was known as Unionville, and by the outsiders, by the more expressive but less satisfactory appellation of Pandemonium. Various conferences were held on the subject, by Mr. Wagener, the late Morris F. Sheppard, and others, as the little settlement in the neighborhood of the house of Major Thomas Lee, known familiarly as the 'Tom Lee Stand,' also put on airs and claimed to be a village. At length at one of those then important gatherings called a 'raising,' the Gordian knot was cut by the late Philemon Baldwin, (grandfather of P. H. Baldwin, of Penn Yan,) who, when the last rafter was raised, mounted the plate, and, according to ancient usage, swung the well-filled bottle round his head, and, after alluding to the selection of a name, observed that part of the inhabitants were Penn-sylvanians and part Yan-kees, and proposed the name of Penn Yan, and swung off the bottle with a hurrah! The name was greeted with universal approbation, and so the village was christened, and being expressive, so it remained and when a short time afterwards the name of the post office was changed to Penn Yan, it became a fixed fact.

In 1808, Mr. Wagener was appointed a Justice of the Peace, by the Council of Appointment, for the town of Snell (since Benton and Milo) and held that office for twenty-six years, having been appointed under the new Constitution, and subsequently for the two last years elected by the people for the town of Milo. Having alluded to elections we cannot omit noticing the account given by Esq. Wagener of the first election held for Governor in the Friends settlement in 1795.

The voters of the New Jerusalem assembled at their capitol, the Friends Mills, and after having been marshalled by Castle Daines, who was inspector or returning officer, they all gathered upon a fallen pine tree near the mill and there exercised the right of suffrage, being unanimous for one of the candidates before the people, and believed to be the late Chancellor Livingston.

In 1810, the grist-mill on the north side of Crooked Lake outlet, was built on the site where now stands the mill of Messrs. Casner & Scheets; and it stood till 1824, when Esq. Wagener built the present mill, John Spicer, Esq., being the architect. * * * *

In the year 1832, he bought his lands on Bluff Point, (1100 acres in one body) of the late Charles A. Williamson, for $4 an acre, all of which he still owns, together with 500 acres in the towns of Milo and Jerusalem, all in one body. In 1833 he erected his elegant mansion on Bluff Point, in the town of Jerusalem, where he removed and resided till 1840, when he purchased his present residence, formerly belonging to R. N. Morrison, Esq., near Penn Yan, on the Jerusalem line —and which continues to be the abode of charity and hospitality. From his own door, the venerable patriarch can see a thriving village of about 300 inhabitants, with seven large churches, a court-house, jail, two large flouring mills and two banks, with a large number of stores and shops, and the proportionate number of private dwellings. Casting the eye over the Crooked Lake, a steamboat may be seen, in the season, performing its daily trips, while from its foot proceeds the Crooked Lake Canal, with its boats, the Canandaigua and Jefferson Railroad, with its trains of passenger and freight cars, and its line of telegraph wires, all denoting the onward march of enterprise, improvement and civilization, and all existing in a spot which a little more than fifty years ago, was an unfruitful and apparently useless wilderness.

Abraham Wagener served as supervisor of the village of Penn Yan, and was also nominated to the legislature. * * * *

He is about five feet nine inches in height, still unbowed by time, with a clear eye, and exhibiting few marks of old age either in his appearance or actions. Perhaps something if not all of this exemption from the infirmities of advanced years may be traced to his habits; for he says of himself; that he never went to a dance or frolic; never was drunk in his life, and never laid abed in the morning when he was well, and his signature is as steady and clear now as it was twenty years since.

"Since the above was first published, we have had the pleasure of a short conversation with Esq. Wagener, in which he mentioned a few additional incidents, which we esteem well worthy of preservation.

In November, 1796, William Eddy and Josiah Gregory, came to Mr. Wagener's house at Milo, (he then resided near 'Himrods,' as it is now called,) in search of a lot of land belonging to an eastern gentleman named Jonathan Lawrence. * * * * Eddy was an Irishman, then about 30 or 35 years old, not very intelligent, but strong and robust. He had fallen in with Gregory accidentally, and an intimacy having sprung up, the latter had been induced to accompany him in search of the lot. Eddy stated that Lawrence had agreed to give him 50 acres of the land if he hunted it up, and sell him the balance of the lot at a very low stipulated price if he wanted it.

Mr. Wagener examined the papers produced by Eddy, and at once offered to show the land described. All south of Wagener's house, at Milo, was then a dense unbroken forest as far as the Head of the Seneca Lake, except that the old Indian Trail to Catharine's Town, (at or near to Havana) had been partly cut out and cleared for a wagon track—being the principal part of the road now running westerly from Russel A. Hunt's, and thence through or near Dundee to Jefferson. The next day Wagener, Eddy, and Gregory started south scoring a road through the woods, and about noon Wagener pointed out the corner described in the deed—being on the spring brook that now runs through the north part of Eddytown village, whereon, in later years, Benjamin Cheever constructed a grist-mill, the site of which is now owned by Seymour Hurd. On their return the party marked the road plain, and Gregory having been employed by Eddy, immediately proceeded to cut out the trees so as to render the route passable for a sled. This is the road now running from Himrod's Corners to Eddytown. A few days afterwards Mr. Wagener took down to Eddy's lot 400 feet of boards on an ox-sled. A log house was immediately put up near the spring brook, close by where Smith's Ashery was subsequently established. Gregory then went off. Eddy remained in the woods six weeks making a clearing—Mr. Wagener furnishing his supplies. He then went east to perfect his title, and returned to his lot in the spring, soon after which several settled near him—among the earliest of whom were Timothy Hurd and Matthew Royce, the latter probably the oldest resident of this town now living.

The road running north from Himrod's Corners to the late Richard Henderson's residence (now occupied by James Longwell, Esq.) in Milo, was laid out under Mr. Wagener's direction, and cut out by him, Henderson and others.

In regard to Jemima Wilkinson's first acquaintance with his father, Esq. Wagener gives the following explanation:

'In 1781, The Friend preached in Philadelphia. David Wagener's wife's brother, Abraham Supplee was a Methodist preacher, and had heard her preach several times during his visits to the city. He invited her and her companions to his house in Worcester, Pa. During her residence there she exhorted and proclaimed her mission. David Wagener became interested in her discourses and on a rupture or disagreement taking place between Supplee and the Friend, David Wagener invited her to his house, when he and his wife became her devoted friends and followers. The projected settlement in the wilderness discussed and during the subsequent visits agreed upon. David Wagener from time to time furnished for her and her traveling companions large sums of money, horses, carriages, &c.'

Some curious memoranda will be found in the following exact copy of a page of an old manuscript book in the hand writing of David Wagener, which we now have before us. The book contains nine sheets of the old fashioned water laid foolscap paper, each sheet bearing the british stamp, 'G. R.' surmounted by a crown—curious and valuable specimens of the odious Stamp Act, which so effectually assisted in precipitating the American Revolution. These sheets are fastened within an ancient, pasteboard cover, on which is written by the hand of David Wagener, in the peculiar style of 'coarse hand' characteristic of the period, the following words: 'David Wagener his cyphering Book, who began January the 6th Day, 1768.' The pages, with the exception of the two last, are filled with neatly written Arithmetical calculations, from 'Numerations' to 'Double Rule of Three Direct.' The last page seems to have been kept by David Wagener as a Family Record, and for noting what he evidently considered the most important events of his life. The following is an exact copy of the page:

"David Wagener was born of Melcher and Gertraut Wagener The 25th Day of January Ao. 1752.

Rebeccah Wagener was born of Hance and Magdalene Supplee The 25th Day of November A. Do. 1749.

TWO INTERESTING DEEDS

"George S. Sheppard, Esq., has in his possession a deed dated May 13, 1796, given by David Wagener to Ezekiel Sherman, conveying, for an expressed consideration of one hundred and fifty pounds, one hundred and fifty acres of lot 48, township 7, of the Second Range. Cleveland's History states (page 455) that one hundred acres of this land was deeded in payment for the early explorations made by Ezekiel Sherman for the Friend's Society, and fifty acres for improvements made on their first purchase in the original Friends Settlement near Seneca Lake. David Wagener built the first mill in what is now Penn Yan, and was the first person buried in Lake View Cemetery. The entire deed is in Mr. Wagener's handwriting, and indicates that he was a man of much more than ordinary ability and business experience. This deed was witnessed by Samuel Castner and Melchior Wagener.

Mr. Sheppard also has a deed dated June 8, 1797, given to Mary Sherman, the wife of Ezekiel Sherman, by Rachel Malin, 'lawful heir to the last will and testament of Sarah Richards, deceased,' and conveying, 'in consideration of eighty dollars of good silver coin,' one hundred and sixty acres in Lot 47. Cleveland's History states that this deed was given on behalf of the Friend in payment of money advanced to aid in moving the Friend's effects to the new settlement. This deed was witnessed by Lucy Brown and David Wagener.

Both deeds are the property of Mr. Warren S. H. Wright, a great-grandson of the original grantees."

ABRAHAM WAGENER, THE FOUNDER OF PENN YAN

"The founding of a village where Penn Yan now stands was the outgrowth of necessity, and not of design. It was a natural consequence and not the result of speculative schemes. David Wagener bought the lands because they were desirable and not that he contemplated the building up of a village. But Mr. Wagener did not live to enjoy the substantial fruits of his purchase. He died in 1799, and his estate in lands, on which the village stands, was inherited by his sons, Abraham and Melchior. In area the estate embraced 276 acres, lying both north and south of the outlet; that part north of the stream fell to Abraham, while his brother became owner of the lands on the south side. Eventually Abraham succeeded to the ownership of the whole tract.

"To Abraham Wagener therefore attaches all credit for taking the initial steps that resulted in a substantial village corporation. In 1801 he took active measures in having surveyed and constructed a highway leading from Canandaigua to Newton (now Elmira). This road soon became an established mail route, and a postoffice was located soon afterward at Abraham Wagener's house. He was the first postmaster, and the name of the office was Jerusalem, being as this locality then was, within the district called Jerusalem.

"On the 1st of January, 1800, Mr. Wagener moved into 'town,' and occupied a dwelling built the year before for his use. This was the first frame building erected on the village site, and stood where later was the Miles Benham tavern. The building was burned in 1841. When Mr. Wagener came here to reside there were three log cabins within his tract, all standing on the stream called Jacob's brook [named for Jacob Wagener], and occupied by Indians and their families. These primitive inhabitants were tenants by the sufferance of Mr. Wagener, they having no title nor claim to the land they occupied. They are said to have remained for a time, but the constant arrival of white settlers caused them to retire from the neighborhood.

"For fourteen years after his appointment Abraham Wagener held the office of postmaster at his little village, but he was otherwise honored in public affairs. In 1808 he was appointed justice-of-the-peace for the town of Snell, which then included all that afterward became Benton and Milo. This office Mr. Wagener held for about twenty-five years, and from his long continued incumbency thereof, he became generally known as 'Squire' Wagener, by which name he was called as long as he lived.

"Abraham Wagener, the founder in fact of the village, was in all respects the honorable, straightforward public-spirited citizen, a man of large means and much influence in the town. The land on which the Court House was built was his voluntary gift, while also the main thoroughfare of the village was donated and laid out by him. Of course, these things greatly enhanced the value of his property, but at the time they forwarded the interests of other persons who perhaps were less able and less inclined to give than he was.

"Squire Wagener continued to live in Penn Yan, as the village afterward was named, until 1833, in which year he moved to Bluff Point, where he occupied an elegant stone mansion which he had erected during that year. However, before his removal to Bluff Point, Squire Wagener built a second residence in the village, which stood on the land now in part occupied by the Knapp House, about where the dining room of that hostelry is located. This dwelling is believed to have been erected in 1816, and to it was given the name of Mansion House. This name was preserved in after years when the building was changed in character and occupancy and put to hotel use.

"In the rear of the house stood the famous old Wagener apple tree, so called from its owner, the one who planted the seed, nourished and cultivated the sprout, and distributed its seed in return throughout the vicinity, the yield of which has always been known as the 'Wagener' apple. Now the old Mansion House has become a part of the more modern Knapp House; the apple tree has been cut down, that the land may be used for other purposes and the founder of the village, its pioneer and most influential citizen lies buried in the old cemetery which his father gave to the people for the interment of their dead.

"Abraham Wagener died May 21, 1853. Descendants of his still live in this village and throughout the county, and the name is an honored one. So common has been the error in the spelling of the apple in question, that probably the great majority of those living today do not associate it with the founder of the village of Penn Yan. To the credit of the official reports of fruit growers' meetings throughout the State, the correct spelling has been maintained. Publishers of catalogues also usually use the middle 'e'."

A TRIBUTE OF RESPECT

"In Memory of Mrs. Mary Wagener, consort of Abraham Wagener, who died on the 3d of June, 1811, in Benton, Ontario County, aged 37 years; with Address to her parents and relations."

'The Widower's Lamentation.

"Come all my friends both far and near,
My lementations you may hear;
Come, lend an ear and I'll relate
The sorrows of my present state.

I was once blest from Heaven's hand
With a kind wife and bosom friend;
She was the partner of my cares;
But now her loss I mourn with tears,

The God of mercy gave a call—
She heard the same and gave up all,
And freely left all things below,
And bid adieu to pain and woe.

She now lies mouldering in the ground,
Till the last trump shall give the sound,
And call the saints of God to rise,
And meet King Jesus in the skies.

And thus bereft of consort dear,
Who in my troubles used to share;
But now for ever from me gone,
And left me here to grieve and mourn.

I'm like a dove who seeks in vain
For his lost mate, but can't obtain;
O, whether shall I go, to find
Deliverance from a burden'd mind.

How deep the wound! how keen the dart;
The stroke of death hath reached my heart;
My loss is great, which makes me mourn;
I weep in vain—she'll ne'er return.

My hopes cut off, my joys are gone,
I'm left with my dear Babes alone;
My anguish and my sore distress
No tongue nor language can express.

My dear Relations, mourn with me,
My deep distress you here may see;
In tears of sympathy now join,
And thus you'll aid a troubled mind.

Lord, give me grace to bear me up;
May I have faith—may I have hope,
And worthily pursue the way
That leads the soul to endless day."

"The Address

"Mysterious are the ways of God,
His works, his providence and world;
All, in conjunction do declare
His majesty we ought to fear.

Both life and breath are in his hand;
The powers of death he doth command,
And when his sentence we do hear,
We must obey, we can't forbear.

When he gives life or takes the same,
We ought to bless his holy name;
Submit unto his righteous rod,
Not question, but adore our God.

The dispensation he's display'd,
Of late by death, which he hath made,
Abundant cause for you to mourn,
The loss of her who'll ne'er return.

Her ling'ring sickness, pain and death,
At last destroy'd her vital breath;
While weeping friends stood round her bed,
Without a groan, her spirit fled!

Brothers and Sisters, very near—
Tender Parents, and Husband dear,
In coalition now may join,
In lamentations all combine.

To aged Parents this I'd say—
Though God hath call'd your Child away,
Submit and say, 'They will be done
In all things here below the sun.'

To Brothers and to Sisters too,
The same advice I'd give to you,
Unto the will of God comply,
And thus prepare to live and die.

To him who's left with tender Babes,
(Who seeks in vain their Mother's aid!)
The Lord now calls, O hear his voice,
And make his grace your happy choice.

O, may God's grace assist us all,
To do his will and hear his call!
That we may live in peace and love,
And then receive a crown above!"

"Richard Henderson, Sr., husband of Anna Wagener, was born in Ireland, and came, at seven years of age, with his parents to Pa. In the Revolutionary War he drove a baggage wagon for the American Army. He was a surveyor and came with David Wagener to the Genesee country, where he was much employed. On one occasion he was offered a township in payment for his services and refused it. While surveying in Cayuga County, some Indians stole his compass, and but for the good fortune of meeting other friendly Indians, he could not have found his way back to camp. He married Anna Wagener, daughter of David Wagener, in 1795, and they settled on a large tract of land midway between Milo Center and Himrods, and there remained the rest of their lives. They moved directly into the woods, bringing their belongings on an ox-sled. They were early and ardent Methodists. The itinerant preachers always had a cordial welcome in their home; in fact in their home was held the quarterly and other meetings, for years." [Cleveland—Hist. Yates Co.]

"Melachor Wagener, Sr., came from Pennsylvania in 1792 and settled about four miles below Penn Yan on the outlet. His father, David Wagener, came about 1790 with millwrights and built a mill at the above location, and subsequently built one at Penn Yan. He also kept the first public house there. A son of Mrs. Abraham Van Wagener remembered well to have seen the French Duke, Liancourt, at his father's inn. Melachor Wagener came to this town in 1811, and settled on the farm now occupied by his son, Melachor, where he built a grist mill in the gully. He was twice married. His second wife was Alpha Wilkinson, distantly related to Jemima, the prophetess." [Hist. of Steuben Co. (N. Y.), p. 479.]

Alpha Wilkinson was born in Cumberland, R. I., and at the age of twenty years went to Penn Yann, N. Y., with her widowed mother. Here she married Melchior Wagener and moved to Pulteney, N. Y. Later he settled in Penn Yan, and built the first saw mill in the town of Pulteney in 1810, and the first grist mill in 1814. [Memoirs of the Wilkinson Family; Landmarks of Steuben Co., p 14.]

Jeptha Wilkinson was born Apr. 3, 1757, and died Aug. 15, 1803. He was the son of Jeremiah Wilkinson and Elizabeth Amy Whipple of Cumberland, R. I. He was also the brother of Jemima Wilkinson, the religious enthusiast. Jeremiah Wilkinson lived in Cumberland on the farm long known as the "Old Wilkinson place." He was a distinguished inventor. Jeptha was married Mar. 25, 1780 to Lucy Smith of Groton, Conn. He was a natural mechanic and found employment in the surrounding villages and cities. He was one of the "Minute Men" of Boston in the time of the Revolution, and engaged in the strife for independence. He died in 1803 of yellow fever in Jersey City, N. J., leaving his wife and children to contend alone with an unfriendly world.

Two years after this, his widow emigrated from Cumberland with six of her children, leaving Nancy and Arnold to settle her business in Rhode Island. She started for the wilderness of New York, stopping first in the Town of Milo, three miles east of Penn Yan. Here she remained about a year and soon afterwards purchased an eighty-eight acre tract of land in Jerusalem where she built a log cabin and engaged in farming. She also purchased a share in a carding machine and was joint owner with Capt. Lawrence. She was a person of great energy of character and with her industry and a small pension allowed her by the general government she made herself and family comfortable and educated her children. She nearly attained her one hundredth year, retaining her faculties to a remarkable degree. She died in Pulteney, Steuben Co., N. Y., and is buried in the Wagener burying ground. Her grave is marked by a blue marble stone, erected by her daughter, Nancy, as a tribute of affection to a departed mother. [Memoirs of the Wilkinson Fam.]

ABRAHAM WAGENER MEMORIAL CHAPEL

Bequest by Mrs. Henrietta J. Monell

"Penn Yan, March 12, [1908]. The will of Mrs. Henrietta J. Monell, a descendant of the locally illustrious Wagener family, who died March 1, leaves an amount to be expended in Lake View cemetery. The clause, which is the fifth in the will, says:

"I give and bequeath to my executors the sum of $3,000, and more if my executors deem necessary, but the sum must not exceed $4,000, in trust, nevertheless, to expend and lay out in building and erecting in Lake View cemetery in said village of Penn Yan, at such point or location as shall be selected by my executors and the cemetery commissioners, a brick or stone chapel, in Swiss or Gothic style of sufficient size to accommodate not less than forty persons, to be known as the Abraham Wagener Memorial Chapel, such chapel to be used by any religious denomination for religious services only, and to contain one vault, and two if my executors deem necessary. This bequest is given upon condition that the cemetery commissioners will accept such chapel and enter into an agreement with my executors to maintain, keep and care for such chapel and, as well, my lot and the lot of my father, the late Abraham Wagener, deceased. I also empower my executors to provide ten years' Insurance upon said chapel and contents; and I do hereby declare that this bequest shall take precedence over all other money legacies herein bequeathed and under no circumstances shall said sum be reduced."

In her last codicil, Mrs. Monell gave an additional $1,000 to the chapel fund.

The last will is dated August 22, 1902. To this will three codicils were made. The following are some of the important paragraphs:

"After the payment of all my just debts and funeral expenses, in case I have not provided a monument prior to my death, I hereby authorize and direct my executors hereinafter named to purchase within six months after my death a white Westerly granite monument in memory of my husband and myself, the same to cost, exclusive of the cost of erection not less than $2,500 * * * * * I authorize and direct my said executors to cause my lot in Lake View cemetery to be put in perfect condition, and that there shall not be any trees or shrubbery planted, nor walks laid out thereon, and that no person or persons, under any circumstances shall be buried therein except my husband and myself.

I give and bequeath to the clergyman who officiates at my funeral $50.00.

I do authorize and direct my executors, so far as possible, to return the various articles of personal property of which I die possessed, and which have been given to me at various times, to the donors thereof."

The following clauses of the last codicil will suggest the character of all. This codicil revokes clause eight of the will, and has among others these clauses:

"I give and bequeath to Henrietta M. Weed the sofa in my back parlor, the tall clock in my back parlor, all my lamps and the entire contents of my bedroom.

"I do hereby give, devise and bequeath unto St. Mark's Episcopal Church all the rest, residue and remainder of my property, of whatsoever name or nature."

The executors of the will were Henry C. Underwood and William T. Morris.

Russel A. Hunt married a second time to Ann M. Castner [192–37].

Previous to the birth of Russel A. Hunt, his father, Silas Hunt, lived somewhere in New Jersey. A hunter and trapper from this neighborhood, who had crossed over into Canada and followed the border down to Niagara Falls, related his experiences upon his return and stated that the finest country he had seen on his long trip was that section which included the chain lakes—Seneca, Crooked and Canadaigua—especially that section along Seneca Lake. This description so inspired the Hunt family that Adam and Silas Hunt and three other men took their axes and a bushel of wheat, and blazed a trail through the forest by marking the trees for more than half the distance. They selected a location which is now Milo Township, Yates County, New York. They partly cleared a small portion of land and sowed the wheat, and then returned home.

The following spring they started out with their families, taking their cattle and other possessions, and set up their homes in the wilderness. Here Russel A. Hunt was born under a basswood tree, while the log house was being built. He had an older brother named Henry, who at this time was thirteen years of age; when he became of marriageable age and wanted to start out for himself, his father said, "All I can give you is a yoke of three-year old steers, but I have no chain, nor is there any in this section of the country. However, I loaned a chain to a neighbor in New Jersey, before we moved here, and if you care to go to New Jersey to get it you can have it." Being no tenderfoot, young Henry took his old flintlock musket, some dried beef, and started out. He forded streams, slept in the bushes, and killed game en route, following the blazed trail that was made seven or eight years previously. He arrived in New Jersey in due course of time, shouldered the chain, and returned to New York. It took him six weeks to make this trip, and upon his return he used the chain to clear up a 200-acre farm, thus establishing himself in Milo Township.

Russel A. Hunt himself became one of the most successful farmers in his section. His wheat crop was very large for the time and neighborhood, and he raised often fifteen hundred bushels in a season. It is stated that at Christmas time he would take a load of wheat to the mill; then early on George S. Sheppard is a prominent attorney-at-law in Penn Yan, N. Y. For more than 20 years Mr. Sheppard has been gathering material on the history of the Wagener family who settled in Yates Co., N. Y. Mr. Sheppard very kindly put all this material at the disposal of the Editor of this book, and without this data it would have been impossible to gather so much history on the descendants of David Wagener. The Editor hereby expresses his sincere gratitude to Mr. Sheppard for his generosity. Mr. Sheppard has in his collection rare old books and manuscripts that have been in the possession of the Wagener family for more than a century.

The Rev. Dr. A. Judson Rowland was born at Valley Forge, Pa. In 1862 he was graduated with first honors from Bucknell University, whereupon he served as a chaplain in the U. S. A. for one year. In 1863 he entered Rochester Theological Seminary and three years later completed the course.

His first pastorate was at the Mount Auburn Baptist Church of Cincinnati. Im 1870 he came to Pittsburgh and for two years served the First Baptist congregation. Then for twelve years—from 1872 to 1884—Dr. Rowland occupied the pulpit of the Tenth Baptist Church in Philadelphia. As pastor of the Franklin Square Baptist Church, he went to Baltimore in 1884 and remained there until 1895 when he was made general secretary of the American Baptist Publication Society. Dr. Rowland held this latter office until 1917, when he was appointed acting treasurer of the same Society.

In his lifetime, Dr. Rowland contributed to many denominational organs, and was the author of "A Handbook on the Pentateuch" (1895). From 1890 to 1900 he acted as editor of "Our Young People," and was likewise the editor of the "Senior Quarterly," a Baptist publication, from 1883 to 1895. He served the S. S. Council of the Evangelical denominations as its first president.

For many years, Dr. Rowland was the secretary of Bucknell University, which institution conferred on him at various times the degrees of A. M., D.D., and LL.D.

John M. Oliver enlisted at the fall of Ft. Sumter; was made 1st Lieut., Co. A, 15th Michigan Infantry. After the Battle of Bull Run, he was made captain of Co. A. His promotion to the colonelcy of same regiment soon followed, and he was assigned to the Army of the Tennessee. At the Battle of Pittsburgh Landing, he was again promoted for "conspicuous gallantry on the field of battle." The battles of Shiloh, Corinth, and Sherman's March to the Sea, and especially his bravery at Ft. McAllister which his brigade captured, brought him his promotion as major general, commanding the 2d Div., 15th Army Corps, General Sherman's own division.

After the close of the war the Division was ordered to Little Rock, Ark., where after some months it was mustered out. General Oliver was then made assessor of Internal Revenue with headquarters at Little Rock, and later was supervisor of the postal railway service of the South, headquarters at New Orleans. His death at the age of 43 years occurred suddenly in Washington, D. C., while he was there on business for his department. It was during his southern activities that his friendship with General Sam Houston began, only ending with his death. Generals Grant, Sherman and McCook were his warm personal friends. [*Mrs. Wm. Samuel Hopkins Wagener was born in Penn Yan, New York, being the son of David Wagener and Maria West of Great Barrington, Mass. At the age of twenty-nine years, Samuel Wagener went to Monroe, Michigan, where he served his apprenticeship in the drug business. In 1855 he went to California, via the Isthmus of Panama, and engaged in mining in Yuba County. At the expiration of two years he abandoned the mining business and opened a drug store in Petuma, but in 1864 he returned to Michigan and started a drug store in Muskegon, conducting it till 1877. During this time he was a very prominent factor in civic affairs, serving as mayor, city treasurer, and member of the Board of School Trustees. Although the city was Republican, he was elected mayor on the Democratic ticket by a large majority, and at the end of his term refused to serve longer although urged by both parties to do so.

Returning to California in 1877, he established a drug business in San Jose, continuing there until his retirement, a few years before his death. During the administration of Pres. Cleveland, in 1886, Mr. Wagener was postmaster of San Jose, serving four years. He was a member of the Episcopal Church, serving as vestryman for thirty-five years. He also served as treasurer of the "Society of California Pioneers of Santa Clara County" for three years, and was a member of the San Francisco Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution. After his death the Grand Chapter of the Royal Masons of the State of California published a memorial in his memory.

On Sept. 22, 1864, Mr. Wagener was married to Evelina Frances Smith, a native of Monroe, Michigan, and a graduate of Monroe Seminary.

"Caspar Wagener, of Ober-Langneundorf, was in 1719 cited several times to appear for instruction given by the Jesuits. In 1727 he was married by the priest to Anna ————, and promised to bring up his children in the Catholic faith. He passed through the trials of the Jesuit mission, probably had his children, Christopher and Anna Rosina, baptized into the Catholic faith, and fled to Goerlitz in the winter or spring of 1736, and later to Berthelsdorf. Before the migration of 1737 he was killed, the daughter, Anna Rosina, died, and David was born. The widowed mother with her two sons, Christopher and David, fled to America, arriving at Philadelphia, Pa. in the ship, 'St. Andrew Galley,' John Stedman, master, Sept. 26, 1737. The Wagener families mentioned in connection with the Jesuit mission lived in Harpersdorf and Langneundorf, and were firm, resolute, and fearless Schwenkfelders. Their given names were Caspar, Friedrich, Heinrich, David, Regina, Melchior, and George. Anna Wagener and her two sons settled in Worcester Twp., Montg. Co., Pa."

On July 14, 1774, David Wagener acquired by patent 8 acres 76 perches known as "Waggoner's Mill Seat" lying on both sides of the Bushkill Creek, Easton, Pa. By additional purchases he acquired 134 acres; all lying within the present borough limits of Easton, Pa. [Plate A I, II, III, IV, V.] In his will signed Feb. 18, 1796, David Wagener bequeathed his son, David, property that he valued at 4,000 pounds. "All those of my mills, and tract of about 50 acres of land—situate on Bushkill Creek within the limits of borough of Easton." At the wish of Mrs. William Ricker [196–30], a stone was placed over the grave of David and Susanna Wagener in the Easton Cemetery. The land on which hey are buried was purchased by David Wagener from the estate of William Penn. The tombstone was erected Oct. 13, 1881, and contains this inscription:

"Beneath this marble are deposited the remains of DAVID WAGENER ESQ., late of the borough of Easton, one of the associate Judges of Northampton County, born in Silesia, Germany, May 24, A.D. 1736, and departed this life May 9, 1796, aged 59 years, 11 months, and 15 days. Also beneath this stone lies the body of SUSANNA, wife of David Wagener Esq., one of the associate Justices of Northampton, born Feb. 2, A.D. 1734; departed this life Apr. 22, 1819, aged 85 yrs. 2 mos. and 20 days." [Eyerman Easton Cemetery Records.] [For much data concerning David Wagener and his descendants the Editor is greatly indebted to "Genealogical Studies etc.", by John Eyerman, 1902.]

"Judge David Wagener came to Easton in 1776, and nine years later made his first purchase of sixty-five acres of land for £260. 6s. This plot was added to from time to time, until at the time of his death he was one of the largest landowners of the town. In the year 1791 he was appointed Associate Justice of the Northampton Courts, which office he continued to hold until his death in 1796. His will was probated June 7, 1796, and is recorded in Will Book 3, p. 47." [Eyerman.]

David W. Deshler was born in Allentown, Pa., and went to Columbus, Ohio, in 1817. In August of that year he built a two room frame house. It is interesting to note that the present Hotel Deshler, owned by a grandson, Mr. John G. Deshler, stands on the site of this home; its exact location Mr. Deshler recently marked by placing a gold tablet on a column in the lobby of the hotel.

For the last thirty-seven years of his life, David W. Deshler was a banker in Columbus, where he became one of the leading financiers. Coming to Columbus when it was little more than a village, David Deshler may rightly be regarded as one of its early citizens, who by their struggles, privations, and enterprise helped to make it a rich and prosperous city. In addition to becoming a prominent banker, Mr. Deshler was one of the most respected citizens of the city, and upon his death the bankers of Columbus passed the following resolution:

"Resolved: That in the life and character of Mr. Deshler we recognize those qualities of head and heart which cause a man to be respected and loved by his fellow citizens. As a banker, he was prompt, accurate in judgment, frank, ready to assume all proper responsibility, and faithful to the interest confided in him. He was sympathetic and kind to those who applied to him in their necessities, and ready to deal liberally with the misfortunes, and even leniently with the faults of others; and the success of his business life shows the wisdom of his conduct. To young men he was an encouraging and true friend, and to the old a wise and beneficent counsellor.—In all his business career, he was a man of unquestioned integrity and unblemished honor. As a citizen, Mr. Deshler was enterprising and public spirited. Proud of the city, he encouraged and assisted in her public improvements; gave his countenance and support to all her institutions, and cheerfully bore his share of the public burdens, and contributed to her charities. As a neighbor, he was cheerful, hopeful, intelligent, and friendly, 'with charity for all and malice towards none.' "

David W. Deshler belonged to a family that came from Germany to America before 1723, and settled in Allentown, Pa., in which State he was born in January, 1792. In Henry's History of the Lehigh Valley, we find the following notice of his grandfather, David Deshler, and his great-grandfather, Adam Deshler:

"In looking over the names of the early residents of Allentown we find that of David Deshler, whose father, Adam Deshler, was among the first settlers at Egypt, Pa., in the upper part of North Whitehall township, where he arrived about the year 1730. In 1782, he owned four houses and lots in Allentown. Soon after he came here he purchased the mill property at the Little Lehigh Creek from Rothrock. During the Revolutionary war, he became one of the most prominent persons in Northampton county. He acted as commissary of supplies for the army, and with John Arndt, Esq., (also a commissary, and his colleague) in 1780, when the Treasury of the United States, as well as the State of Pennsylvania, had no funds, paid and advanced monies out of his own private means. This act in itself must endear his memory to every true American. In the petition of the 10th of October, 1763, his name appears as one of the defenders of the town at the time of the threatened massacre by the Indians, and we may infer that he, as the wealthiest inhabitant of the place, had the only gun fit for service. (We are informed by the report of Colonel Burd to Governor Hamilton that there were but three in the town, and two of these not fit for service.)" "Philip Mixsell, son of Philip who was born in Lancaster Co., Pa., had five sisters and four brothers; the youngest sister died at the age of seventy, the youngest brother at the age of seventy-two, the father at eighty-five, and one brother died aged ninety-two years. Philip Mixsell is said to have never been sick, and had but three months' schooling. He came to Easton at the age of thirteen years and became a partner of Judge Wagener, who manufactured flour and transported it to Philadelphia on Durham boats. In 1720 Peter Schuyler was the richest man, but Wagener became wealthier." [Condit.]

"Philip Mixsell died in his ninety-fourth year, his mind unclouded to the last. In his day he was one of the most efficient and energetic citizens. He was engaged in the mercantile business under the name of 'Burket and Mixsell'; no one filled a larger space in financial and social circles. His disposition was mild and gentle; he had good judgment and was temperate in every respect. In early life he was rich and influential; in his later years he was overtaken by reverses, financial embarrassment and insolvency." [Easton Express, 1870.]

"The record of the Mixsell family begins with Philip Mixsell, born in Conestoga Twp., Lancaster Co., Pa., November 23, 1731, died in Northampton Co., Pa., May 13, 1817. He was a nephew of Jacob Mixsell of Leacock Twp., Lancaster Co., Pa., who came from Germany in the ship Mortonhouse, which arrived at Phila., Pa., August 24, 1728." [Mixsell and Allied Families.]

"I made the acquaintance of Mr. C————, a gentleman residing at Easton, Pa. In the course of a pleasant conversation he exhibited to me a card on which was written in a neat, plain hand, the following address:

Philip Mixsell
Easton, Pa.
92 years, 10th of March, 1869.

On the reverse side of the card was written, in the same hand, the following words: 'Whatever may be said of the Bible, I am sure no sane man can deny that it is the best book to guide man towards practical virtue and true holiness that has ever appeared in the world.' This remarkable old man is quite vigorous and is well known in Easton. He never received more than three months' schooling in his lifetime; he has been extensively engaged in business in Easton and has always been a staunch democrat." Jacob Wagener, after obtaining an excellent English education, pursued the business of merchant, chiefly in partnership with his brother David, until they had each acquired a competence, and then retired from business and devoted himself to literature and science. He became exceedingly well read in English literature. He was at one time an efficient trustee of Lafayette College. He devoted much of his time to mineralogy and geology, and at the period of his death his mineral cabinet was believed to be the best in Pennsylvania outside of the city of Philadelphia, many of its specimens having been collected at large cost from foreign countries.

At a celebration on July 4, 1832, Jacob Wagener said: "May the thread of life be cut from every man who tramples upon state rights." [Hist. Notes—Weaver.]

David D. Wagener was a merchant, but in early life turned his attention to politics, and became a leader in the party to which he belonged. He served as a member from Northampton Co. in the State Legislature during the administration of Governor Wolf. He occupied a seat in Congress for four successive terms, from 1832 to 1840. On retiring from political life he was elected President of the Easton Bank, an office which he filled with acceptance to the community until the period of his death, which took place on the first day of October, 1860. [Gen. Rec. of 1879.]

"David D. Wagener was Captain of a Company of Cadets and read the Declaration of Independence in 1828. He built a mill on the Bushkill and engaged in the milling and mercantile business for many years. In 1816 he was captain of the Easton Union Guard; in 1828 he was elected to the Pa. Assembly; twice re-elected; elected to Congress in 1832; re-elected till 1839, when he retired from active life. He was a member of the 23rd, 24th, 25th and 26th Congresses. In 1852 he was elected President of the Easton Bank which office he held till his death. The present Court House stands on ground donated by him."

"He was not only a good man, but a useful man. He was a kind and faithful friend, a safe counsellor, an indulgent and affectionate father, and an upright man in all relations of life. He was ever plain and simple in his habits, familiar and social in his intercourse with his fellow-men, yet indulgent in his bearing. He was constitutionally an honest man, and his word was his bond." [Condit 195—Weaver.]

Henry Chidsey was a hardware and stove merchant of Easton, Pa. He was president of Town Council at the time of his death.

"Mrs. Matilda Butz Chidsey, widow of Henry Chidsey and one of Easton's oldest, best known, and most philanthropic women, died last night at her home here. She was eighty-two years of age last May.

Probably no other local woman was as widely known as Mrs. Chidsey, and probably no other woman has done as much for charitable purposes in this city in several generations. She was an active church worker in the Reformed Church. She received her education in Easton and later attended the Moravian College for Women, at Bethlehem, being one of the oldest alumnae of that institution. It was at her home in this city that the alumnae association of that college was reorganized after the Civil War.

Deeply interested in missionary work, about thirteen years ago she took a trip to the Reformed mission fields in China and Japan, and on her return delivered lectures on the conditions as she found them in the oriental countries, and through her efforts enlisted powerful support for these mission fields of the denomination, and was always recognized as one of the foremost women workers of that church in the country.

In her thirty-two years' work among the little children she became the author of a number of excellent 'Helps for the Beginners' Department.'

She was a member of the advisory board of the Bethany Orphans' Home, at Womelsdorf, Pa., and was also a member of the ladies' auxiliary of the Phoebe Deaconcess and Old Folks Home at Allentown, Pa., both of which are under the jurisdiction of the Reformed Church.

But her activities were not all confined to denominational work, as she was also identified with nearly every charity of a local nature. She was one of the original members of the board of managers of the Easton Home for Friendless Children, and remained a member of this board up to the time of her death. She was deeply concerned in the welfare of the Easton Home for Friendless Children and of the Easton Hospital, and a benefactor of all these charitable institutions, and her private benefactions were beyond number." "David D. Horn, one of the oldest residents of Easton, died at 9 o'clock Tuesday night, at his home, No. 1521 Butler Street, of a complication of diseases incidental to old age. He had lived retired for many years, but in his earlier days he was a prominent contractor and builder, having been at times connected with his brother, Reuben H. Horn, and Lewis H. Mattes, in various operations. The largest contract the firm engaged in was that of building the present court house. The deceased was well known to the community and always bore a most excellent reputation for business uprightness, strict honesty and high Christian character. He was esteemed by all who knew him and was a valuable man in the community until he ceased to take active interest in local affairs.

David Horn was the son of the late Charles and Elizabeth Horn and the grandson of the long deceased Adam and Deborah Deshler. He is survived by his wife, Anna M., who was the daughter of the late John and Catherine Cooper, and by the following children—Martin L., Alfred J., Lewis L., George D., Carrie H., wife of George E. Sciple and Ida M. Horne." [Newspaper clipping furnished by Mrs. Florida Heitman.]

John Green Deshler was born in a two-room frame house in Columbus, Ohio, the site of the present Hotel Deshler. A golden tablet in the lobby of the hotel marks the spot where the little house stood.

President Tyler appointed Mr. Deshler District Attorney of Iowa, soon after his marriage to Miss Faulkner of Hamilton, Butler Co., and their migration to that state. From Iowa Mr. Deshler moved to Buffalo and engaged in the commission business. He was elected to the legislature for several terms, after which he returned to Columbus, Ohio.

Although Mr. Deshler was very fond of children, he had none of his own. While he was an official of the Franklin National Bank of Columbus it served as a gathering place for the children of the neighborhood. He was well known by all the youngsters of that city, and frequently he was "Uncle John" to a large number of them.

Not many months before his death he bought a block of houses, painted and refitted them, and gave the use of them, rent free, to those of his old neighbors and friends who had been less favored in life than he. Mr. Deshler was one of the oldest, wealthiest, and most valuable citizens of Columbus, Ohio, and the entire community mourned when he died suddenly of apoplexy on the 8th of January, 1878.

A PATRIOTIC SERVICE PERFORMED BY WILLIAM G. DESHLER

Mr. Deshler was a prominent banker, and was intimately acquainted with Salmon P. Chase, then Secretary of the Treasury, from early boyhood. On April 14, 1864, Mr. Deshler received a confidential telegram from Mr. Chase asking him to meet the latter at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York. Arriving in New York the next day, Mr. Deshler met Mr. Chase in his private room and learned from the latter how the credit of the national government was impaired by the action of certain so called "pseudo patriots."

These facts are gathered from the memoirs of Mr. William G. Deshler which are now in the possession of his son, Mr. John G. Deshler, also a prominent banker of Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Deshler states in his memoirs that during the administration of Secretary Chase, he had frequent conferences with him, both through correspondence and in person; so that he was quite familiar with the conditions of his department and with the wide extension of his operations in consequence of the breaking out of the rebellion. During his conference with Mr. Chase the latter stated:

"We are confronted here in New York, on every side, by the rankest treason. Men professing loyalty—with our flag at their desk—are secretly engaged in trying to break down the credit of the government by speculation in stocks and gold. They have a chain of operations, reaching from here to Richmond, by way of Montreal and Louisville. They have given the State Department great trouble in our strained foreign relations. The thing I am interested in directly and which has worried me, is that they have thwarted my negotiations with a syndicate of German bankers for a loan of two hundred million dollars."

As he related the details of his negotiations his eyes snapped, his tone was bitter, his feelings intense to the point of vengeance. He said with emphasis, "That conspiracy must be crushed and the gang punished. I want you to take the matter in charge, make your own plans which we will talk over this evening."

Handing Mr. Deshler a slip of paper he said, "Here is a list of that gang, and you will be surprised to see some of the names on it—honorable men, forsooth!" he said bitterly, "yet that list is reliable, as I am assured by the Secret Service Department."

Upon scanning the list Mr. Deshler was surprised to see many of the names, as he knew some of the men personally and others by reputation as being among the best businessmen in New York. He thought to himself, "Why don't they shoot these men as they do our boys down South?" At this particular time the outlook of the war was not very pleasant; the Union army was massed to protect the capitol the battles of the Wilderness were fought a few days later–copperheads were rampant throughout the North; gold was soaring in price which meant greenbacks were going down; speculation in stocks was so wild that every evening in the lobbies of the New York Hotels were found crowds or mobs of howling brokers plying their trade; bonds and paper money were issued to pay war expenses; then as now many soldiers were called out and the ultra-democratic papers were objecting to the draft.

After a good deal of consideration and reflection Mr. Deshler worked out a plan which he submitted to Mr. Chase. This was the plan as he outlined it to the Secretary.

"If I can sell a few millions of gold a little under the market rate, to be paid for in greenbacks, no checks on the banks or certificates of deposit to be taken, greenbacks will become scarce, the banks will be alarmed, they will call in loans or demand increased margins as the market for gold and stocks declines. Then I will find out the 'Specialties' protected by the men in this list and look after them on the Stock Exchange; also I will offer a premium for greenbacks to be paid for with checks on the banks. In other words, my gold business will be done on a money basis only. Of course I must employ brokers and pay their commissions, but I will get the right kind of brokers—and all of their operations in stocks will be by bank checks. Thus the government will be buying its debts in the shape of greenbacks and paying them in gold, which it has in the Subtreasury; the law certainly allows that, but it doesn't allow government funds to be used in stock operations. The gold and stock operations must not be mixed, but can be cooperative in producing the result desired. The stock part I must handle myself, and it must be left to me. The gold business will be done through the Sub-treasury where secrecy must be maintained for a short time at least."

Secretary Chase approved this plan of operation and it was agreed that they would meet at the office of the Subtreasurer of the United States the next day. Upon arriving at the subtreasurer's office Mr. Deshler met not only Mr. Chase but Horace Greeley, whom he described as "a rare picture with a big loose coat, his pockets stuffed with newspapers, his necktie shifted around with the knot under his ear, and a big brimmed hat set back on his head, making him look like a belated cherub with a misfit glory on."

Upon being introduced to the Subtreasurer, Mr. Chase said, "Mr. Deshler wants to use some money during the next few days, and you will let him have what he wants, taking his receipt, which will be your sufficient voucher." The Subtreasurer was so astonished that he said, "Do I understand that your order is unlimited?" "Yes," replied the Secretary. "Will you kindly put your order in writing?" asked the Subtreasurer, which Mr. Chase accordingly did and handed it to him. After the Secretary had left, the Subtreasurer said to Mr. Deshler, "Is the Secretary a relative of yours?" "No," replied Mr. Deshler, "but how much gold have you on hand?" The treasurer gave him the number of millions and muttered to himself, "Remarkable." Upon leaving, Mr. Deshler asked him to have a considerable sum of money in bags ready for delivery when he would call upon him for them.

Mr. Deshler then went to some of the prominent bankers of New York in whom he had perfect confidence, and received from them letters of indorsement guaranteeing any contracts that he should make. Armed with this letter and with the backing of the Treasurer of the United States, and with his own individual means used in the purchase of stocks, he went into the market to sell gold at a discount and to buy greenbacks at a price above the market price. The result was that after spending several million dollars in gold in the purchase of greenbacks and selling several million dollars in gold below the price of the raiders, the projects of the gold conspirators were defeated. He kept feeding the market with gold and purchasing greenbacks at higher prices every day. Greenbacks rose and gold went back, which was the purpose desired by Mr. Chase. The financial condition of the country became such that Mr. Chase readily disposed of his war bonds. The gamblers in gold discovered on the second day that it was government gold that was being thrown on the market and of course that created a tremendous panic, for they well knew that with the government as a competitor their end was in sight.

Reference to newspapers and financial journals of that day will give an account of the panic which ensued. One paper states that the money market was so much disturbed that blocks of stock were thrown overboard at almost any price; that one per cent interest a day was paid; that banks would not pay out greenbacks; that legal tenders were worth two per cent more than certified checks; that a large number of bull operators were broken. These operators that were crushed were members of the gang that had conspired to cripple the United States government in its most critical period.

Mr. Deshler went to Washington and reported to Secretary Chase what he had done. The Secretary, of course, was greatly pleased and offered to remunerate Mr. Deshler for his services. However, Mr. Deshler declined to receive any pay and only accepted a draft of $123.93 for his expenses.

That Secretary Chase was well pleased with Mr. Deshler's accomplishment is manifested in the letter which he wrote him dated April 26, 1864. As stated above, Mr. Deshler declined to receive any compensation for his services, but he was given as a souvenir a cane, all the materials of which were made from the wreck of the "Merrimac" which had been blown up by her rebel commander the morning after the capture of the "Norfolk." It is stated that but four of these canes were made; one of them was presented to President Lincoln, one to the Smithsonian Institute, and two to Mr. Chase, one of the latter coming into the possession of Mr. Deshler, and which now reposes in the museum of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society. This cane bears the inscription:

"Salmon P. Chase
to
William G. Deshler

'Merrimac'
April, 1864
88/64."

The inscription "88 64" means that gold went to "88" in 1864. The plan of the conspirators was to send gold to 200 and greenbacks down to fifty cents. This plan was successfully defeated through the efforts of Mr. Deshler. [Vid. Ohio Archaeological and Historical Quarterly, Vol. XXIX, No. 4.]

Charles Dunham Deshler was born at Easton, Pa., March 1, 1819. He entered the drug business in New Brunswick, N. J., from which he retired in 1859 and engaged in literary work, first on the "Jersey City Standard," and later on the "Newark Advertiser." He returned to New Brunswick in 1868, and became connected with Harper's Magazine, having charge of the "Editor's Round Table." He wrote and compiled "Selections from Chaucer," "Afternoons with the Poets," and "A Glimpse of Seventy-Six."

Mr. Deshler was an Associate Judge of Middlesex County, N. J., and the first school superintendent of that county and took a prominent part in organizing the county school system. He was postmaster of New Brunswick for one term, and was instrumental in founding the Middlesex Gas Company and the Middlesex Savings Bank. Mr. Deshler had a large and valuable library, principally historical in character.

William Hackett was born in Easton on the ninth day of April, 1812. He was the son of the late James Hackett, who when but seven years of age left his home at Santa Cruz, one of the West India Islands, and came to Philadelphia, where he learned the trade of a hatter. While yet a young man he came to Easton in 1800 and made this his home. Here he engaged in the hat business and at one time was proprietor of the old Schortz Hotel, now the United States Hotel.

When yet a young man, William Hackett gave evidence of possessing those rare traits of character and ability which in later years served to win the respect and admiration of all who knew him, and gave him a place in the front rank of prominent and successful business men. Mr. Hackett began his business career by reading law in the office of the late Hon. James Madison Porter, who served as Secretary of War under President Tyler. In 1839 he was admitted to the Northampton County Bar. Mr. Hackett wrote an elegant hand, and this fact, no doubt, had much to do with his receiving the appointment in 1839 as Prothonotary of the county, which office he held for three terms of three years each. The first two terms were appointments by Gov. Porter, a brother of the late Hon. James Madison Porter. The third term Mr. Hackett was elected by the vote of the people, that being the first time the voters of the county were allowed by law to make the selection of a Prothonotary. The records of that office, kept during the nine years the deceased officiated as Prothonotary, are the admiration of all who have had an opportunity to see them. They are arranged in that systematic, thorough business way which characterized Mr. Hackett, and penned in a style that only few, if any, can excel.

Soon after the expiration of his third term as Prothonotary, Mr. Hackett, in 1851, was employed as a clerk at the old Easton Bank, now the Easton National Bank. Here, as well as elsewhere, his fine business qualifications were recognized and in 1852 he was appointed cashier to succeed James Sinton.

In 1873 Mr. Hackett was chosen President of the bank, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late John Davis. When Mr. Hackett was elected as the bank's President, his son, William Hackett, Jr., was chosen as cashier, to fill the vacancy in that office occasioned by the promotion of the father. Thus it will be seen that Mr. Hackett, who entered the old Easton Bank as a clerk, gradually, by merit alone, worked his way up until he enjoyed the proud distinction of being its honored head. Mr. Hackett was the fifth President of the bank which unquestionably owes a great deal of its success to his efficiency and skill. He was prominently connected with various business enterprises, and for years served as treasurer and one of the managers of the Delaware Bridge Company of Easton. He was also a prominent and active member of the First Presbyterian Church of this city.

Mr. Hackett in conjunction with J. Madison Porter and others secured the charter of the Lehigh Valley Railroad. Some years ago Miss Elizabeth Porter, the owner of "Porter Block," in her will made him trustee of her estate valued at between $80,000 and $100,000. The faith she had in Mr. Hackett may be inferred from the fact that she gave him entire control of this vast estate without asking a cent of security; and events have proved that her confidence in Mr. Hackett was not misplaced.

Hon. William A. Porter was born in Huntingdon Co., Pa. After he was graduated from Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., he read law and was admitted to the Philadelphia bar on April 26, 1842. During the same year he was appointed sheriff of Phila. Co. by the Governor. This appointment necessitated the taking of testimony in order to establish Mr. Porter's age, as there was doubt in many minds as to whether he was of legal age and therefore capable of holding office. On the expiration of his term as sheriff he was appointed deputy prosecuting attorney of Pa., and while acting in this capacity he proved himself an excellent criminal lawyer. In 1855, Mr. Porter was elected city solicitor, and on January 20, 1858, he was appointed a Justice of the Supreme Court of Pa. From the expiration of his term as a justice until his death in 1886, Judge Porter remained in active practice of his profession. In June, 1874, President Grant appointed him one of the judges of the Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims, in which capacity he served until the Court was dissolved in December, 1876. He also served as an inspector of the Eastern State Penitentiary.

Judge Porter was one of the most prominent and esteemed members of the bar. His sterling qualities won him the respect and confidence of his colleagues. Sound judgment was his chief characteristic; he was one of the few men who never made a business blunder.

At the close of his "Biographical Reminiscences," which Judge Porter wrote a short time before his death, he says: "I cannot bring these reminiscences to a close without recording here my sense of the Divine goodness in prolonging my life so far that nearly all the objects which I could reasonably have hoped to accomplish have been in some measure attained, and finally in giving me a good hope that when called away from the scenes of this world, I shall be able to enter the Heavenly Kingdom through faith in our Lord Jesus Christ."

Edison, when both were telegraph operators in an office in Newark, N. J., and enjoyed his friendship throughout his entire life. Mr. Edison came to Lee County, Florida, and located in Fort Myers through the solicitation of Mr. Shultz. During the Civil War Mr. Shultz enlisted in the Union Army as a drummer boy, but his brother had him discharged on account of being under age. However his four brothers enlisted and served during the war. It has always been Mr. Shultz's regret that he was unable to serve his country and flag during the time of war.

Mr. Shultz came to Punta Rassa in 1867. At the time of his death he was a retired cable manager, residing in Fort Myers, Fla.

At the time of the sinking of the Maine which led to the Spanish American War, Mr. Shultz had charge of telegraph office at Key West and he was the first operator in the U. S. to receive the news that the Maine had been sunk.

One child: Lorraine Earnhardt, b 1908.

Harvie Earnhardt Heitman was born at Lexington, N. C., where he lived until he was about sixteen years of age. He was educated in private schools of that city, and after finishing his education he went to Fort Myers, Lee Co., Fla., in 1888. There he was employed for several years by his great uncle, who conducted a general store in connection with a small bank. The knowledge and experience which Mr. Heitman secured in this business later resulted in his becoming one of the foremost business men and bankers of Lee County.

The building up of Fort Myers was a project which commanded Mr. Heitman's constant and untiring efforts. Through his influence prominent people established homes there. The first brick building in Lee County was erected by him; he later made extensive additions to this structure which comprised an entire business block. His interest in the growth of Fort Myers did not stop at building, however, for he also financed the erection of the first sidewalk in that town, and introduced a system of electricity for which he paid all charges for a year without any expense to the city. In order to promote the industries of the town, Mr. Heitman had invested in many companies whose business was to boost Fort Myers. He was president and director of the Bank of Fort Myers, president of the H. E. Heitman Company, president of the Lee County Packing Company, president of the Mutual Realty Company, president of the Bonita Land Company, president of the Fort Myers Southern Railroad Company, etc.

Mr. Heitman was one of Fort Myers' most valuable citizens, and the city mourned deeply when he died of cancer on the 17th of April, 1922, after an illness lasting two years.

Mrs. Florida Heitman supplied the Editor with valuable data regarding the Deshler and Bittenbender families, and he hereby expresses his gratitude for this assistance which enabled him to insert such complete records of these families in this book.

Austin Davis Mixsell obtained his early education in the Easton schools, and after the family moved to Philadelphia he continued his studies in the Penn Charter School. For a year after leaving school he was employed in the law office of Franklin B. McGowan of Philadelphia, but in 1892 he returned to his native county, locating in Bethlehem, where he accepted a position in the freight office of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, remaining there for six years. In 1898 he entered the service of the Bethlehem Steel Company as an attaché of the general superintendent's office, and was assigned to duty in the sales department. He advanced rapidly, and as a representative of that department in New York City he completed so fine a record that in 1909 he was promoted to the highest position in the sales department of the company, that of general sales agent. For six years he was head of the sales department, then in 1915 he was elected a member of the Board of Directors and vice-president of the company. When later the Dietrich and Harvey Machine Company at Baltimore was absorbed by the Bethlehem Steel Company Mr. Mixsell was made president of that company, an office which he filled until he died. In all the positions he was called upon to fill he displayed high ability and in his private life honor and integrity distinguished him. He was a man of genial, free, and generous nature and one whom to know was to love and esteem. He was one of the strong men of the Bethlehem Steel Company, and in warmest eulogy his associates of that company testify to his worth.

Mrs. Mixsell is a member of the Pro-Cathedral Episcopal Church of the Nativity and is prominent in civic and club circles. She resides in Bethlehem, Pa. [Mixsell Family.]

and his DESCENDANTS

[199] CHRISTOPHER HÜBNER [E 199], b Jan., 1690, in Nieder Harpersdorf; d Sept 26, 1763; s Christopher Hübner; m Nov. 8, 1711, MARIA JÄCKEL (YEAKEL) [E 200], b Apr., 1693; d July 10, 1768; dau Hansz and Maria Jäckel.

Christopher Hübner and wife came to Pa. Sept. 26, 1737, with their son, Hans Christopher, and settled in Salford Township, Montg. Co., Pa., where he was known as the "husbandman of Salford Township." [Vid. Homes and Burial Places.] He and his wife are buried in the private cemetery located in Worcester Twp., Pa., near Cedars, once the property of their son, Hans Christopher, but now (1920) occupied by Oswin Kriebel. Christopher Hübner was a brother to Rosina, the wife of Balthasar Heydrick [52a], and to David Heebner [E 21], and Regina Jäckle [E 160]. He had a brother, Abraham Hübner, who was a cobbler in Nieder Hdrf.

Two children are accounted for:

1. Rosina, b Feb. 6, 1713, in N. Hdrf.; baptized Feb. 7, 1713; sponsors: George Jäckel, Susanna Jäckel, and Anna Beyer. She m Elias Scharffenberger of N. Hdrf., and occupied the original Christopher Hübner homestead. She did not migrate to Pa., and d May 7, 1790.

[199–1] 2. Hans Christopher [E 201], b Dec. 5, 1718; baptized Dec. 6, 1718; sponsors: Christof Kriebel, George Kriebel, and Anna Jäckel; d Jan. 30, 1804; m Barbara Schultz [E 153].

Both the Harpersdorf Church Records and letters in the S. H. L. are evidence for data regarding Rosina Heebner. Letters in the S.H.L., dated Apr. 6, 1736, and May 18, 1766, respectively, were written by Rosina Scharffenbergin, geborne Hübnerin. The address on the former letter reads:

"Dises Briflein zu kommen
An meinen Liben Vater
Christoph Hübnern
zu selbst Eigener eröffnung—"

(This letter is sent to my dear father, Christopher Heebner, to be opened by himself.)

The signature of the missive of May 18, 1766, reads thus:

"Rosina Scharffenbergerin
zu kommen an Hans Christoph Hübnern
m(einen) Bruder"

(Rosina Scharffenberger, addressed to Hans Christopher Heebner, my brother.)

[199–1] HANS CHRISTOPHER HEEBNER [E 201], b Dec. 5, 1718; d Jan. 30, 1804; s Christopher and Maria (Yeakel) Heebner [199]; m Oct. 21, 1746, by Rev. Balthasar Hoffman to BARBARA SCHULTZ [E 153], b July 5, 1720; d Jan. 26, 1786; dau Balthasar and Susanna (Dietrich) Schultz [149]. He was a farmer and lived in Worcester Twp., Pa. Place of burial in the private cemetery on the farm now (1920) owned and occupied by Oswin Kriebel, formerly known as the "William G. Freed" farm.

Children (6):

[25–6a] 1. Rosanna (Rosina), b Dec. 9, 1747; d May 22, 1775; m Rev. Melchior Kriebel.
2. Susanna, b Apr. 12, 1750; d Mar. 1, 1818; single.

[199–2] 6. Abraham, b Feb. 29, 1760; d Dec. 26, 1838; m Christina Wagner.

Hans Christopher Heebner came to Pa. in 1737 with his parents. He must have settled in Frederick Twp., for we find that in June, 1756, Hans Christopher Heebner, "yeoman" of Frederick Twp., bought from John Johnson in Worcester Twp., 185 acres of land. [Vid. Homes and Burial Places.] Prior to this purchase he had been renting the farm of his uncle, Balthasar Heydrick.

Hans Christopher Heebner was for thirty years an active transcriber and compiler of hymns and other compositions. He wrote three folio volumes of hymns—1758, 1759, 1765. He also wrote three massive collections of sermons in folio, and numerous quartos of hymns and homilies. In the quantity of manuscript produced, he leads all the transcribers of hymns of his time in America, with the possible exception of Balzer Hoffman. He also copied the later rearrangement of the Weiss Hymn-book to which he added one hundred and twenty hymns. From 1760 to 1780 he was one of the prominent leaders in the movement for the organization of the Schwenkfelder Society, and at his home many meetings of worship were held on Sundays before the Church edifices were erected.

We also find him a contributor to the fund to establish the Schwenkfelder schools. He lived on the farm in Worcester Twp., Montg. Co., Pa., near Cedars, occupied (1920) by Oswin Kriebel [25–360], and is buried in the private burial plot on that farm, as previously stated.

During the troublesome times of the American Revolution, on one occasion we find Washington's Army encamped at the Pennypacker Mills near Schwenksville, Pa. A large part of the army at one time moved in an easterly direction, following the route of the present Skippack road. Upon reaching Wentz's hotel, then a short distance above the present village of Center Point, on land now belonging to William H. Seipt, they made inquiry for a good place to feed their horses. They were directed to the large farm of Christopher Wagner (now owned by John K. Heebner). Mr. Wagner happening to be in the vicinity overheard the inquiry and hurriedly started on foot for his home. But ere he reached his destination a large number of cavalrymen had already arrived. They rode their horses into the Wagner barnyard, dismounted and closed the gates. They then removed the bridles and saddles, while a number of soldiers went up into the grain mows of the barn, helping themselves to wheat and oats in the sheaves, and strewed a plentiful supply in the barnyard for their horses. [Schwenkfeldian, Vol. 6, p 29.]

*Flora Krauss Heebner was born in Worcester Twp., Montg. Co., Pa. Her early education was procured in the public schools of her native township, and she was graduated from the Stump Hall Graded School in 1891. In the summer of this year she attended the Sumneytown Academy, Montg. Co., taught by Prof. Henry E. Hartzell. In the fall she entered the West Chester State Normal School, and attended this institution for two years. She then entered Perkiomen Seminary in the fall of 1894, and for two years was a student-teacher, being graduated with the class of 1896. For three years she taught in the public schools in Montg. Co., and in the fall of 1899, she with her brother, Harvey, entered Oberlin College, Ohio, and with him was graduated in the class of 1903. During the summer vacation of 1903 she was a Home Missionary of the American Sabbath School Association among the mountain whites in Tennessee. In the fall of 1903 she was employed by the Schwenkfelder Mission Board as associate to Rev. E. E. S. Johnson, pastor of the First Schwenkfelder Church of Philadelphia, at 30th and Cumberland Sts. On Aug. 30, 1904, having received her appointment from the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, she sailed from San Francisco for China. After spending a year in language study in Tung Chou, near Pekin, she proceeded to what has ever since been her home and field of work—Tai Ku Hsien, Shansi, China, four hundred miles west of Pekin. In this busy field, which had been destroyed by the Boxers in 1900, she is teacher-evangelist to girls and women. She has been home on two furloughs, in 1910 and in 1918.

†Rev. Harvey Krauss Heebner was born in Worcester Twp., Montg. Co., Pa. Having attended the Stump Hall Public School of the township, he was graduated in 1893 and entered Perkiomen Seminary in the fall. He completed the college preparatory course in 1896. Then for three years he taught in the public schools of Montgomery Co., whereupon he with his sister, Flora, entered Oberlin College, Ohio, in the fall of 1899, and was graduated with her in the class of 1903. Having decided to enter the ministry, in the summer of 1903 he became home missionary pastor of the Somers-Mooreland circuit, near Fort Dodge, Iowa, under the auspices of the Congregational Church. After finishing one year in the Oberlin Theological Seminary, at Oberlin, Ohio, he became acting pastor of the Congregational Church in Berea, Ohio, for the summer of 1904. In the fall of this year, he entered the Union Theological Seminary in New York City and was graduated in 1906. In connection with his work there, he also studied in Columbia University and was a member of the staff of workers in the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church House. On September 23, 1906, he was ordained and installed as pastor of the First Schwenkfelder Church of Philadelphia, which congregation he has served most faithfully and acceptably ever since. In 1914 he spent four months on leave of absence, visiting Palestine and the Levant. During the World War, he spent ten months on leave as Y. M. C. A. Secretary in Camp Stuart, Newport News, Virginia. He is a Trustee of Perkiomen School, Secretary of the Mission Board, and Acting Editor of "The Schwenkfeldian."

Rev. Heebner's contagious optimism is an inspiration to his associates in both church and Sunday School work. Generous and unselfish, he ministers alike to Catholic, Gentile and Jew, and has baptized and taken into the Philadelphia Church members brought up in all these faiths. The Hebrew element having moved into the neighborhood of the Philadelphia Church, Rev. Heebner is a welcome caller in the homes of these people, and many in turn come to hear him preach. When sickness and death enter a household, irrespective of creed, Rev. Heebner is called upon by the residents of the neighborhood to comfort the sick and to administer the rites of burial.

Waage was of Danish descent. At an early age he entered the well-known classical and normal school at Quakertown, Pa., and then studied under the able leadership of Dr. A. R. Horne. In 1866 he entered the theological seminary at Gettysburg, Pa., from which institution he was graduated in 1868; he was then called to the pastorate of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, where he succeeded his father as pastor.

The father had served this congregation for forty years, and his son rounded out a successful pastorate of fifty years when he retired. Rev. Waage excelled as a preacher; he was a close student and always had a message that was worth while. # INDEX

The name of a married woman is indexed twice—that is, her maiden name and marriage name are both given; n order to condense the index, in every instance only the first two initials of a name are entered. For example, Lucy Dabney Jones married William H. C. Shultz; the former will be listed in the index as "Lucy D. Jones" and also as "Lucy D. Shultz," while her husband's name will appear as "William H. Shultz. All references and allusions to military service are listed under the wars in which this service was performed.

This index was prepared under the supervision of Miss Helen Shultz.
